HOPE TO AVERT PARALYSIS OF RAILWAYS

PRESIDENT WILSON AND BROTHERHOOD CHIEFS WILL MEET

Conference at White House Expected to Prevent Great Tie-Up That Has Been Threatened.

ARBITRATION LIKELY TO BE REMEDY

Washington, Nov. 14.—Aroused by the plans of the railway men's brotherhoods to demand wage increases, President Wilson has set the machinery of the federal government in motion to avert, if possible, the threat of a paralysis of the country's transportation systems so vital to the war.

At a conference with the heads of the "big four" brotherhoods at the White House on November 22, President Wilson appeal to the labor leaders to defer any struggle until after the country has passed through the period where its transportation systems are so vital to the conduct of the war.

With the announcement of this conference it was disclosed that President Wilson, while entertaining every hope for a complete agreement, does not intend to permit the country transportation systems to be tied up by a strike at this critical time in the nation's history, even if it becomes necessary for the government to operate the roads. It was disclosed today that Judge William L. Chambers, head of the federal board of mediation and conciliation, already has been holding conferences with heads of the big four brotherhoods. The status of the proceedings so far shows a disinclination of the brotherhood heads to commit themselves to a plan of arbitrating the differences and the hope of the government negotiators is for an agreement.

GERMAN HEAD OF ARADIO CONCERN IS UNDER ARREST

Elmira, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Mystery attaches to the arrest here of Ernest Mignon, a German reservist who is the head of the Mignon wireless corporation, which makes wireless apparatus and does a big business. Secret service men, after arresting Mignon, took several pieces of apparatus and sealed them. Mignon at one time was a member of the crew on Emperor William's yacht. He had a wireless station here until it was dismantled at the beginning of the war. He has been openly sympathizing with the Germans, according to federal agents, but just what led to his arrest is not disclosed.

AMERICANS OUT OF TRENCHES IN FIGHTING SPIRIT

With American Troops in France, Tuesday, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—The third series of American battalions is now occupying the first line and the second American detachment to enter the trenches have returned to their billets.

The relief was accomplished on a brilliant starlight night without the knowledge of the Germans. Included among the returning troops is the company which bore the brunt of the recent raid on the American trenches.

At retreat this evening this company lined up in a little muddy street in a village nestling under a hill some miles from the front.

Their clothes were caked with mud and the roofs and fences near by were hung with wet blankets and equipment. Openings here and there in the ranks showed how many men had been killed, wounded and made prisoners in the trench fighting.

After the company was dismissed an officer from the battalion watched the men splash off through the mud and said:

"There goes the scrappiest bunch of soldiers in France. They are mad all through and are just biding their time till they get a chance to repay the Germans for what happened to their comrades. They will get their revenge before this war is over. You can depend on that."

The second return battalions today were going through the same series of bathing and cleaning as the first detachment. The men are to enjoy several days' rest before taking up the training work again.

FIVE CLASSES OF THE DRAFT

MARRIED MEN AS A

But Only Men of First Class to Be Called Save in Gravest Emergency.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The five classes into which nine million men registered for military duty—and those who are registered hereafter—divided in the order in which they will be called for service were officially announced today in the provost marshal general's questionnaire which every registered man must fill out and file. The order shows some change from the tentative draft published some time ago.

Contrary to some published reports, it does not exempt married men as a class, but it does place married men with dependent wives and children far down on the list of liabilities.

In fact, the questionnaire indicates that only men of the first class will be

COAL FAMINE IS IMMINENT

Fuel Administrator Beadell Returns from Conference

WARNING ISSUED TO MEET CRISIS

Serious Shortage is Certain in Every Part of the State.

Henry Beadell, county fuel administrator, has returned from Indianapolis, where, together with fuel administrators from eighty-two Indiana counties, he was in conference with Evans Woodlen, state administrator. He is urging conservation in much stronger terms than he did before attending the meeting.

"Before the winter is over there undoubtedly will be a serious shortage of coal in every locality in the state," Mr. Beadell stated Wednesday morning. "Even with Indiana mines producing a maximum of coal, it will not be sufficient to meet the demands."

Mr. Beadell explained that northeastern counties of the state have never before drawn from Indiana coal mines, but have secured their coal from West Virginia, Pennsylvania and other states. This year, however, these counties for the first time will have to depend upon the Indiana field. Last year the Indiana mines produced 20,000,000 tons of coal and this year 5,000,000 more than last year will be mined. One-third of the Indiana output goes outside of the state, and one-third to the railroads.

Four Points Outstanding.
Mr. Beadell returned from the meeting at Indianapolis with four outstanding facts that were brought to his attention:

1. There will be a serious shortage of coal before the approaching winter is over.

2. That he will be expected to use his

BULGARIA WILL HAVE NO PEACE SLAVS PROPOSE

Amsterdam, Nov. 14.—Aroused apparently by the Maximalist peace offer the Mir of Sofia, organ of the Bulgarian national party, says that the Bulgarians cannot permit themselves to be troubled by the declarations of Russian illusionists or the Dutch-Scandinavian committee. It adds:

"Bulgarians are completely unanimous that Bulgaria's future imperiously demands the possession of Dobruja to the mouth of the Danube river."

YOUNGSTERS OF ALSACE ARE ALL TALKING FRENCH

American Training Camp in France,
Tuesday, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—Emile Hovelacque, who is a member of the French mission to the United States, today visited the training centers and the headquarters of the American army. He was returning from a visit to Alsace-Lorraine, where he had inspected the schools.

He said that the children there are all speaking French now and that those who had been studying it for the last two or three years speak French as though they had been born in Paris. M. Hovelacque said that classes had been organized for older pupils and that many grown persons were studying French.

After inspecting the instruction camps and seeing the American troops at drill, M. Hovelacque expressed himself as being highly pleased with the enthusiasm, energy and adeptness shown by the troops.

FARMERS MUST SUPPORT WAR

tion is Necessary.

CIVILIZATION IS IN

Urges Great Organization to

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 14.—Oliver Wilson, of Peoria, Ill., master of the national grange, patrons of husbandry, in an address before the annual meeting of the national grange in this city today declared that the present world war "represents the most frightful price humanity has ever paid for an ideal." But only by paying such a price, he said, "shall a real and lasting world's peace be attained and the opportunities of freedom and liberty be guaranteed to every people."

"The history of the grange," he said, "from its very inception is a continuous and unbroken record of devotion to the principles of peace, to the championship of justice, fairness and fraternity, and a repeated avowal of its faith in arbitration and a means of settling all differences between individuals and between nations."

Farmers Should Be Consecrated.

"It is our opinion that the national grange could here and now declare to the world its unqualified consecration to the great world task now facing

EACH OFFICER PASSED TO GET HIS COMMISSION

Washington, Nov. 14.—Secretary Baker's decision to grant commissions to all qualifying student officers in reserve training camps today dispelled the fears of thousands of candidates who had faced the prospect of returning to civilian life after devoting three arduous months to intensive training. It had been announced recently that a probable plethora of officer material would make it necessary to withhold commissions from a large percentage of the men at present series of camps.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Tuesday, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—A section of Italian armored motor cars, each of which mounts three quick firers in the turret, is just back from one of the most thrilling experiences of the war. The duty to which these cars were assigned was to hold the bridges from the Tagliamento to the Piave rivers until the cavalry rear guards had passed across, and then burn the bridges behind them. The commander and a number of his men were seen by the correspondent at their camp where they recounted their experiences as though they were every day occurrences.

WILL TEACH FOOD SAVING

That is the Purpose of a City Demonstrator, Miss Cowan Explains.

MANY DO NOT KNOW HOW TO CONSERVE

Entire Salary for Such an Agent, Except $50, is Paid by Uncle Sam.

Many people have signed the Hoover food conservation pledges with the very best of intentions, who, as a matter of fact, do not know how to intelligently follow them up. In other words, they do not know how to save food as hard as they may, and many do not know what foods it is most essential to save.

It was to meet just this sort of a situation that the federal government has appropriated a large sum of money for home demonstrators.

Miss Elizabeth Cowan, state urban home demonstrator, has come to this city in an effort to interest the women of Fort Wayne in such a representative in Fort Wayne, whose duties will be in many ways similar to those of Miss Mabel Erwin, county emergency home demonstration agent, except that she will confine her efforts entirely to the city.

Miss Cowan has taken the matter up with a number of prominent women of the city and has met with much encouragement. Such an agent is now operating in Indianapolis with wonderful success and has demonstrated her value in many ways during the short time she has been engaged in the work there.

The government pays the salary of the agent with the exception of $50. Each city must maintain headquarters for her in a convenient place and give her a desk and telephone. Each city also must cover the cost of a demon-

HOLLAND MAKES PLANS TO KEEP READY TO FIGHT

Amsterdam, Nov. 14.—A supplementary estimate increased the extraordinary war credit for 1917 by 160,000,000 florins has been subscribed to the second chamber of the Dutch parliament. It includes nearly 3,000,000 florin for air service, 29,000,000 for artillery and 19,000,000 for the improvement of our positions on the same principle as on the war fronts where operations long have been the form of a war of positions and attacks and counterattacks.

PREMIER KERENSKY ENTERS PETROGRAD

London, Nov. 14.—The arrival of Premier Kerensky in Petrograd, accompanied by troops, is reported by the Russian legation at Stockholm, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen. M. Kerensky is said to have defeated the Bolsheviks.

Stockholm, Nov. 14.—Premier Kerensky has entered Petrograd, according to a dispatch received from the correspondent of the Swedish News Agency at Haparanda, on the Russian border.

The majority of Maximalist troops have joined the premier, the correspondent adds.

ALLIES SHOULD TAKE A LESSON FROM THEIR FOE

London, Nov. 14.—In commending Premier Lloyd George's Paris speech the Manchester Guardian today cites the success of the central powers with inferior forces and smaller resources as largely due to "unity of control through the military dominance of Germany and the enormous advantage which comes from the power thus obtained of swift and decisive action."

The newspaper asserts that by the allies the war to this day has never been envisaged, planned for and conducted as a whole. In order to neutralize the advantage obtained by the central powers it says: "It is obvious we must produce among ourselves some approach, at least, to the unity of control which they from the first possessed and possess increasingly."

RUSS ANARCHISTS HAVE NOT PUT OUT ANY PEACE OFFERS

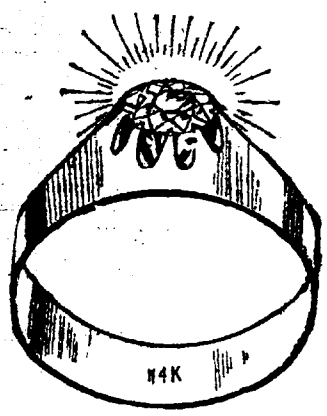

Amsterdam, Nov. 14.—Austrian newspapers print a statement from the official news agency pointing out that neither Vienna nor Berlin has received an actual peace armistice proposal from the Russian government and as long as the new rulers of Russia do not submit proposals the central powers dare do nothing in the matter, according to a dispatch from Vienna. Should the Maximalists retain the upper hand in Russia and come forward with a peace offer the Austro-Hungarian government would, that state newspaper pointed out, have to be in a position to accept it.

Rome, Nov. 14.—A withdrawal of the Italian forces in the north in the region east of Asiago is announced by the war office. On the lower Piave river the attack continues on the Germans, who yesterday effected a crossing near Zanzen. The statement says the enemy has not yet been dislodged completely. An attempt of the enemy to cross the Piave between Quaro and Fenero, was suppressed. The enemy suffered severely.

GERMANS ARE BEATEN.
London, Nov. 14.—The Germans met with a complete defeat at the hands of the British yesterday in Flanders, the war office reports. An attempt to recapture the ground recently won by the British near Passchendaele was repulsed.

ON THE FRENCH FRONT.

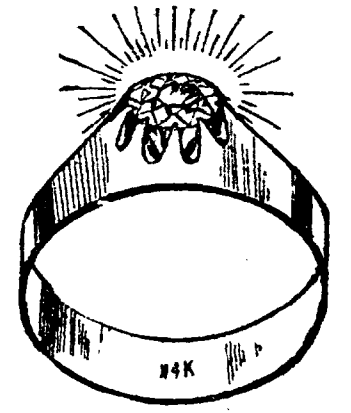

Paris, Nov. 14.—"The artillery was very active last night on the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front)," says today's official communication. "French detachments made a number of successful raids, particularly southeast of St. Quentin, east of Sapigneul and at Chateau wood, and brought back ten prisoners. Elsewhere the night was calm."

ADDITIONAL SPORTS PEACEFUL SOLUTION EXPECTED TODAY

Joe Tinker, of Columbus Team, Announces He is Opposed to New League

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—A peaceful solution of the difficulties which have threatened the disruption of the American Association appeared to be imminent before today's session of the National Association of professional baseball league convened.

The resolution prepared by President A. R. Toney of the Three I league has been amended so as not to include teams above class B. This in itself will operate to make it practically impossible for those interests which have been backing the proposal for the formation of a new league, by taking Louisville, Indianapolis and Toledo from the American Association and other clubs from the international league to get their project before the association. The resolution will provide that no change be made in the territory of any league unless the majority of club owners approve.

Joe Tinker of the Columbus American association club, who had been represented as being "on the fence" in regard to the project for a new league, has announced himself flatly as being opposed to the proposal. Tinker declared last night he would not be a party to any move which would result in wrecking the American association or in depreciating the investments of any of the club owners now in the organization. This leaves the club owners in the league divided five to three against any change.

In this connection President Hickey of the association said last night the investment in the league totaled in the neighborhood of two million dollars, adding that it was to him "incredible that any one could desire to take action which would result in wiping out or seriously depreciating property of such magnitude."

The association magnated will hold another league meeting today and in the face of the situation resulting from the changes made in Toney's resolution it appeared probable the warring factions would necessarily be compelled to find some solution of their difficulties that would leave the organization intact.

News of Our Neighbors

WATERS OF HUFFMAN'S LAKE TURNS TO BLOOD

Report Causes Much Excitement, Although Somewhat Exaggerated.

Warsaw, Ind., Nov. 14.—Huffman's lake, near Atwood, six miles west of Warsaw, has turned to blood. This report was widely circulated in this vicinity Monday evening and caused no little excitement among persons inclined to be superstitious. The story came from people of high standing who live in the neighborhood of Huffman's lake and who declared they saw the change in the color of the water as it was dipped from the lake in bottles. Fish, they said, are dying by the thousands.

While the superstitious people of the community were trying in vain to link up the phenomenon with certain bible prophecies and were pointing out that surely the end of the world was drawing near, level-headed people laughed at the reports and attributed them to some fortuitous imagination. However, the reports were so persistent that an investigation finally was made and the story was found to be true in part. At a number of places in the lake, mostly places away from shore, where the water is deep—the water has turned dark brown, almost the color of chocolate. In other places the water is as clear as crystal. Samples of the water have been brought to Warsaw and will be analyzed in an effort to solve the mystery.

KRAUSS CASE UP AGAIN.

Woman Who Killed Stepmother Will Try to Gain Freedom.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Rae Krauss, of this city, in 1903 pleaded guilty to the charge of murdering her stepmother, Crystal Krauss, by administering poison to her, and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Indiana Woman's prison, at Indianapolis, will try again to gain her freedom. The case has been set for hearing before the pardon board December 11.

About two years ago an unsuccessful effort was made to get the sentence of Mrs. Krauss suspended, petitions being circulated in this city and county for signatures. The crime to which the woman pleaded guilty was an especially atrocious one. The victim was a widely known young woman of this city. The stepmother said she was prompted to do the deed because she was jealous of the love of her husband for his daughter. Opinion in this city is divided on the question of freedom for Mrs. Krauss.

Avilla Party Has Close Call When Car Goes in Ditch.

Lisbon, Ind., Nov. 14.—An auto party of five, including A. C. Sheets and family, of Avilla, figured in an exciting automobile accident, and had a most miraculous escape from being killed yesterday afternoon, when the automobile in which they were riding went into a ditch just north of Lisbon. The car turned completely over, according to reports received here, but none of the occupants was seriously injured.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheets was at the wheel and was endeavoring to pass a rig when the accident happened. The auto driver turned out too far, with the result that the front wheel of the machine skidded and the car toppled into the ditch. The machine, it is said, was wrecked quite badly.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON GRACES POLICE COURT

Twelve-Year-Old Lad Is No Relative of Famous Man, However.

The police docket bore the imposing title Booker T. Washington Wednesday morning. A gasp came from on-lookers when the name was called and instead of some pompous man, a scrawny little colored boy answered "heh." The lad was arrested on a warrant charging and since he is but twelve years old he will be taken care of by the juvenile court.

Three drunks faced police court Wednesday morning. Dan Ellison and Harry Grusel were let go, while Fred Gross, an old-timer, drew a continuance until November 15.

Carried Razors. Claude McCoollicker, a young vagrant, was arrested Tuesday evening on a loitering charge. When arrested a package of razors was found upon him. Judge Kerr continued the case until Nov. 17 in order to gather more evidence.

Continuances Granted. The case of James McDonald, the young man who beat his boardbill in Fort Wayne and Toledo and who passed bad checks in Toledo, had his case continued until November 17. Detective Sergeant W. Immel arrested Louis Delegrange, arrested for passing a check without funds, had his case continued until November 16. Eugene Hepner, arrested for train climbing, was told to get out of town as soon as he had earned enough money to pay his way.

Wife to Blame if Husband Drinks, Says Druggist Brown, of Cleveland, Who Tells Wife What To Do

A New Treatment Given Without the Consent or Knowledge of the Drinker.

Cleveland, O.—No wife has a right to blame her husband because he drinks, says Druggist Brown, of Cleveland. It is her fault if she lets him drink and brings unhappiness and poverty to her home, and she has no right to complain. A woman can stop a drinking husband in a few weeks for half what he would spend on liquor, so why waste sympathy on a wife who refuses to do it. Druggist Brown also says the right time to stop the drink habit is at its beginning unless you want drink to deaden the fine sensibilities of the husband you love. Begin with the first whiff of liquor on his breath, but do not despair if he has come from bad to worse until he is run-soaked through and through. Druggist Brown knows the cure of strong drink because he himself has been a victim. He was rescued from the brink of a drunkard's grave by a loving sister who, after ten years' time revealed the secret to him. She saved him from drink—rescued him from his own depraved self by giving him a secret remedy, the formula of an old German chemist. To discharge his debt to her and to help other victims out of the mire and mire he has made the formula public. Any druggist can put it in the hands of any suffering wife, mother, sister or daughter. Just ask the druggist for prepared Tescum powders and drink a powder twice a day in tea, coffee, milk or any other drink. Soon liquor does not taste the same, the craving for it disappears, and in one more drinker is saved, and knows not when or why he lost his taste for drink.

NOTE—Tescum, referred to above, should be used only when it is desirable to destroy all taste for alcoholic drinks of every kind. The wife who approves of drinking in moderation and believes her husband safe should give it only when she sees, as most do in time, that the danger line is near. You take no risk with Tescum as it is sold in this city under a sealed money-refund guarantee by the Druggist Drug Co., Meyer Bros., and other first-class druggists. They guarantee it to do the work or refund the money.

TO KEEP AUSTRIA.

The political character of the German drives in Russia and Italy has been estimated in the main as Germany's design to set new foundations for peace proposals by putting those nations out of the war. That may be a true enough estimate, so far as it goes, but it seems to us that the objective relates to something more critical in the German situation than a mere desire to establish a fresh basis for proposals to her enemies.

Germany is striving to keep Austria in the war. To do this it had become necessary to deliver a smashing blow at the Italian menace. Italy's armies had driven through to within striking distance of Trieste. Another heavy smash by Cadorna doubtless would have brought the Austrian seaport under his big guns and at his mercy. It would have opened the way to an invasion of Austria and threatened Vienna. This development would have had a decisive effect, no doubt, in bringing the people of the Austro-Hungarian empire—already heartily sick of the war and long since ready to approve any kind of peace that could be obtained—to give up. The invasion of Italy has removed the immediate danger that Austria would be put out of the war and brought to terms.

The other political aspects of the German drive into Italy and of the demonstrations against Russia are of critical importance, to be sure, as furnishing new ground for peace proposals, besides having high military importance as relating to the situation on the western front, where the pounding of the British and French has been costly to Germany. If Russia can be kept out or even delayed in the rehabilitation of her armies and the resumption of an offensive next spring, the gain to Germany will be great, while the pressing back of the Italians and the carrying of the war to their own soil was a rational military no less than political maneuver. The Italian invasion appears, however, to be working out in a fashion not calculated upon. It has given Italy a fresh political solidarity of which that country was in dire need and has awakened all the allies to a sudden and powerful understanding of their need of a thoroughly co-ordinated and supremely directed scheme of operations.

Out of Italy's present travail there will come that which will vastly increase the task of Germany both in the field of politics and the theaters of war. Austria may be saved to the central alliance for a time, but the danger to her position is not removed. The coming of spring will be likely to witness a recurrence of the menace from the other direction.

NOTHING TOO PREPOSTEROUS.

Mr. Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president, has just issued a statement denying that he has been arrested as a spy and confined in Fort Leavenworth. It would seem that attention so serious to rumors so grotesque is a complete absurdity, but it is the truth that for some days such reports concerning Mr. Tumulty have been persistently spread from mouth to ear about the country. They have been heard in this city and, as Mr. Tumulty's statement shows, have had a singularly extensive currency in the land.

These preposterous stories are a part of the enemy propaganda that has given itself diligent employment since the entrance of America in the war. Just what expectation of gain has been rested upon the fabrication and spread of what is so palpably false and so easily disproved is hard to make out. Mr. Tumulty suggests that it is part of a general purpose to sow among the people a distrust of high officers of the government and that doubtless is as reasonable a supposition as any, though it is as futile an undertaking as can well be imagined. German propaganda has been responsible for a surprising variety of lies designed to breed public disquietude, to weaken public confidence in the government and to bring various war activities under suspicion, but the Tumulty story is perhaps the most absurd of them all. Nothing appears to be too preposterous for the enemy propagandists to undertake along that line.

All over the country there have been stories current in hundreds of communities purposed to bring the Red Cross work into disrepute. One that has persisted for a long time in Fort Wayne with occasional variation as to the identity of persons concerned and in some of its minor detail serves as an instance. The falsehood goes about to the effect that a lady who had made a sweater for use of men in the navy has discovered another woman attached to Red Cross headquarters to be wearing the sweater and fully identifies it by certain marks she had knitted into the garment. This tale has had half a dozen applications to as many different persons in this city alone. The same stock lie is reported from many communities in Indiana and from multiplied parts of the country.

The loyal people of America must be prepared to hear these things and many others during the progress of the war. There is no way of completely putting a stop to the circulation of such falsehoods. The government is preparing to strangle certain enemy activities of a more serious kind such as sabotage and arson in industries engaged in work directly connected with preparation for the war. But there can be no effectual legal measures taken against insidious falsehoods, of the sort that have sought an aspersions of Secretary Tumulty, that seek to foment suspicions that the Red Cross is engaged in dishonorable practices, that American warships and transports have met with disaster at sea, that the mortality of the soldiers in the trenches is vastly more than the records of any of the allied nations show to be the fact, that attempt to obstruct the food campaign, that this or the other—no matter what, if it be calculated to discourage or alarm—is the truth.

The best thing that loyal people can do when they hear these things is to demand of him who tells them to give support to his false and treasonable tale. Make him name the person from whom he had the lie. Follow it up until it can be pursued no further. That kind of propaganda can be circumvented without any appeal to authority or resort to law. Exposure will do a great deal. Persons who engage to practice secret work against the government by the energies of lying tongues are the persons who will not care to be shown in their communities to have been employed in that or any other service of Kaiser Wilhelm in this country.

CANNOT BE OVERDONE.

Reports come that the success of the campaign to collect $35,000,000 for the Y. M. C. A. war camp fund is beyond expectation. This is gratifying, but it should be no surprise. If there be anything to make powerful appeal to the generosity of the American people it should be an enterprise of this sort. The physical, moral and spiritual welfare of the boys in the armies is sought through the Y. M. C. A. and kindred organizations and efforts. Surely no one will now or hereafter care to display any niggardliness in doing what he can to promote work of that character among the soldiers.

If the Y. M. C. A. fund should greatly exceed the goal set, it will be an excellent thing. What is now collected above the needs that can be seen will answer to meet needs not yet in view, but sure to come as the conflict develops new and greater necessities along the lines the campaign now in progress is designed to meet. The people of America have only begun to give for the war. They have only begun to give for the Y. M. C. A. and other activities of like character. They have only begun to give for the Red Cross work. They have only begun to give to these and many other ennobled and ennobling philanthropies, benevolences and charities that relate to and grow out of the war.

This is true because the war has only begun. What now is necessary will continue to be the necessities of the government, the armies and the nation. That the insuperable importance of the Y. M. C. A. work in the army camps at home and abroad and on the firing line is coming to be thoroughly appreciated by the people and commanding their ready and generous support is at once a comfort and a great vouchsafement that the work will not be allowed in any degree to fail.

The American Federation of Labor has directed that all strikes affecting the government's preparations for war be called off. That is the spirit that counts. Wages can be settled with more deliberation. Getting to fight will wait on nothing.

HOW TO RELIEVE THE PENNY SHORTAGE

WHAT SHALL UNCLE SAM DO WITH HIS CAPTIVES? WHAT THE GERMANS DID

By MILTON BRONNER.

When the American army has taken enough German prisoners to make their treatment a real problem, the powers that he will have to take into consideration what Germany has done to British, French and Russian prisoners, and is likely to do to our men.

Prisoners taken by Germany, soldiers or civilians, are now sent to one of three detention places:

1—Great prison camps.
2—Workyards.
3—Reprisal camps.

There are between 150 and 200 of the large prison camps. In the early days of the war these were places of horror. The men were given little food and less covering, while the sanitary conditions were impossible. There was so much protest by neutrals that these conditions in the past year have been changed.

The prison sheds are now fairly spacious and measures for cleanliness and disinfection have been taken. The prisoners are no longer treated with brutality and the work is not excessive.

The food is still insufficient, but the men are allowed to receive parcels from their own countries and do not die of hunger any more. These camps are, therefore, the paradise camps to which neutral representatives are allowed access—the only ones in fact open to foreign inspectors.

The reprisal camps were started by the Germans to bring pressure upon the allies. The Germans, for instance, claimed German soldiers captured by the French were sent to Morocco and ill-used. Hence their invention of these reprisal camps, located chiefly in Poland and Russia.

While visitors are not allowed, the prisoners are encouraged to write home, and their letters are not censored. The Germans are anxious the French at home shall know how their compatriots are suffering from the hard work, the inferior and insufficient food and the severe discipline.

To be sure that conditions will be adequately improved, the Germans make a point of sending intellectuals to these camps, men who in civil life have been students, lawyers, office employees.

But the workyards are the worst prisons of all. There are about 100,000 scattered all over Germany. No foreigner is ever allowed to visit them. Prisoners are not allowed to tell their families where they are.

The workyards mean forced exploitation of soldier prisoners at cheap rates. They are sent to the coal mines, iron, salt and potash mines, to the factories, even including war factories, and to the marshes where they are tramping and digging for coal and making earth banks.

The hours of labor are long, the food is totally insufficient, the beds are made of shavings or a little straw, and punishment is frequent and severe. Accidents are frequent because the prisoners are unaccustomed to the work. The sick list and the death rate are high, because many of the men are not used to that kind of hard labor.

At Krupp's factory at Rheinhausen, 500 Frenchmen were at work. The minimum sick list was 30 to 45 per day. And this is made up of men really sick. Malingering is not tolerated.

Men are given a certain task, and if they do not accomplish it, they are sent to their beds at night without even the scanty meal allowed their fellows. In this factory about 200 men have been discharged on account of accidents and illness.

There were 650 prisoners at a coal mine at Ewald. The average number of sick men was 40 and at least 10 per cent were injured in accidents. Fifty Frenchmen were sent to the lignite mine at Atzenhof. They were required to make 25 trucks of lignite a day. If they did not do so they received no soup when they came from the mine. Forty per cent of the prisoners had to be discharged on account of disease and weakness. In the iron pyrites mine of Sachtleben in Silesia, out of 852 men 365 had to be discharged because of anemia, diseases of respiratory organs and accidents.

Americans who read this will contrast this treatment of prisoners with what we are doing for our interned Germans, sent to ideally healthy balmy spots in the south, allowed perfect liberty within the camp, and fed far better food than anyone in Germany is getting.

friction, and the demand for the direct reorganization of the government departments has become more insistent. The appointment of Crowell is a first step. He is neither lawyer, politician nor soldier—although he recently held a commission of major of engineers.

Crowell's usefulness to the war machine springs from his long experience as a member of the firm of Crowell, Lundberg & Little—one of the largest construction and producing organizations in the United States.

When the war began Crowell was one of the first big business men to offer his services to the government and was closely associated with the first activities of the Council of National Defense, especially in handling steel purchases.

Bascom Little, another member of his firm, also came to the aid of the nation and both were associated in the work of the munitions board. Later on, Crowell was commissioned a major of engineers to take charge of the Washington office of the Panama Canal administration.

As assistant secretary of war Crowell will act as secretary in the absence of Secretary Baker. His major duties will be to co-ordinate and direct the vast construction and industrial enterprises in which the war department is now engaged here and in France, but he will have a wide range of minor duties on the side—the inheritances of the position from the piping times of peace.

He will be directly in charge of all matters relating to rivers and harbors, bridges, lands and leases belonging to the war department, inspection of government property, recruiting, discharges from the army, courts martial, military prisoners and prisons, gardens of the national guard, rifle practice, claims, national cemeteries and military parks, purchases in the open market, medals of honor and boards of survey.

Of course he does not attend to all these things personally. Crowell has resigned his position as major, as the curious American law requires that the heads of the war department must be civilians.

PRAYER IN WARTIME

(Omaha Bee.)

Whatever the skeptical may think, those who have come closest into touch with war's red destruction have been profoundly impressed by the effect of prayer. It does relieve and reassure the mind it cleanses and encourages the soul and strengthens the individual to his task. Men go to battle calmer and braver because they feel at peace with their Maker and the same psychology should apply to the nation that sends them. Making all allowance for the cynical philosophy that would deny the efficacy of prayer or the concern of the Almighty in the petty politics of mankind, the spectacle of a nation so humbly acknowledging its debt to God must be an inspiration. None need apologize for praying and no loss can possibly attend a general supplication for favor in the sight of God.

A SAVING OF COAL

(Springfield Republican.)

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway announces that by using electrical power on its Rocky Mountain division it is saving this 200,000 tons of coal and that a greater saving will be possible when the electrification of other divisions is completed. The St. Paul road's good fortune is due to its being able to generate electricity from water-power. But in New England there is an abundance of water-power going to waste. One mill in a Worcester county town is converting a water privilege into an electrical power plant for the transmission of only 100 horse-power daily, to be applied to a portion of the mill's machinery. If the high price and scarcity of coal continue, probably many plants throughout New England will be zealous to effect economies of this kind.

FROM THE SENTINEL

PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

T. E. Ellison has returned from Portland, Maine.

The next thing of great importance in our city is the Christian Endeavor convention. It promises to be the largest convention ever held in Indiana.

A. R. Schnitzer, one of the leading democrats of New Haven, was in the city today arranging for a grand democratic jollification meeting tonight at that pleasant village. The Hendricks and Jeffersonian clubs, of this city, have been invited to participate in the exercises, and the latter club has promised to be out in full numbers.

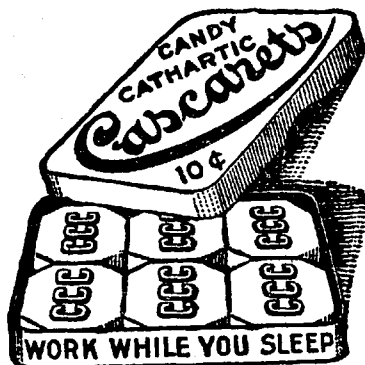

On Saturday evening about six o'clock the water was turned into the new city waterworks reservoir, on the corner of Lafayette and Taber streets. The event was significant. It has taken years of labor and thousands of dollars to complete the task of building the reservoir. Although the work of beautifying the surroundings is not completed, the main object of the undertaking, that of preparing a great storage place for a supply of water for city purposes, is completed. With this object in view work was first started as far back as 1880. The original contract was let to Messrs. Langhor & Baltes, who, after laboring at a disadvantage upon its construction by the city were allowed to throw up the contract. The reservoir was to fulfill the two-fold purpose of an extra water supply for use by the city in case of an emergency and to use a technical phrase for a head to pump against at the pumping station, the unequal pressure requirements of the city supply rendering it difficult to operate the machinery at the pumping station.

The total cost of the reservoir, including the land, will be $44,000, of which amount about $14,000 has been expended this summer. Should an accident occur at the pump house the city can always rely upon a 2,500,000 gallon supply of pure water from the same source of supply now in use and having a pressure of forty-five pounds.

for Colds, Bad Breath, Sour Stomach.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, castor oil or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be depended upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without griping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headache, biliousness, bad health, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears. Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cascaret any time—they are harmless and safe for the little folks.—Advertisement.

$3,600 ALREADY RAISED IN WHITLEY COUNTY

More Than Quota Expected to Be Subscribed Before the Week-End.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 14.—At a late hour Tuesday afternoon the officers of the Whitley County Y. M. C. A. reported that $3,600 had been reported to the office in the Commercial club room and that it appeared that every township will raise its quota, and more besides. Work in Richland township did not begin until Tuesday, following a series of booster addresses made Monday evening at the Larwill M. E. church. It is believed the county's quota will have been raised by Wednesday evening. The county was scoured with a fine-comb effect, and no person was missed. Those refusing to give were made to sign cards, stating their objections. There were very few refusals, and there were many generous donations, exceeding the expected sum. No township had been completely checked up Tuesday afternoon.

Hurt in Fall.
Mrs. William Tannehill, aged 76, residing in northwest Columbia township, was terribly injured Monday night at about 11:30 o'clock, in a fall down the stairs of her home. The result of which is a compound fracture of each forearm, a deep cut on one limb, and numerous abrasions and contusions about the face, chest and shoulders. The aged lady had gone upstairs on an errand, and upon returning downstairs missed her footing and fell the length of the stairs. She was found lying headlong on the steps, unconscious and in a critical condition. Dr. O. V. Schuman, of this city, was called.

Funeral of James B. Case.
The funeral of the late James B. Case was held Monday afternoon at the home of the sister-in-law, Mrs. H. G. Pence of the south side, Rev. D. B. Kessinger officiating. Interment occurred in the South Park cemetery. Phil Parren, a comrade of the deceased in the Spanish-American war period, blowing "taps" on a cornet. The flowerbearers and pallbearers were Spanish-American war vets also, those of the latter group being Korah V. Pressler, Will Hoos, George Lee, Leonard Wolf, Leamon Cullers and George Pratt.

Columbia City Short Items.
Over 300 persons enjoyed the lantern lecture, "Hustling the East," given Monday evening at the Presbyterian church by Chaplain A. D. Sutherland of the United States army. He told of how Americans have quickened the pace of business and commerce in the Philippines, where Chaplain Sutherland's regiment has been stationed until recently and he described many interesting matters in detail.

Edward North and wife, of this city, are parents of a ten-pound baby boy, Dr. D. S. Linvill officiating.
Charles Hawkins has accepted a position at the Panhandle freight yards, succeeding Claude Moore, now a Pennsylvania railroad brakeman.
The city council, in a short meeting Monday evening, disposed of several sidewalk contracts, and renewed the meter contract for another year with the General Electric company, of Fort Wayne.

Twenty members of the Sorosis club met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Morsches and sewed sixty pairs of bed socks for the soldiers, besides twenty-five pairs of baby booties and ten pairs of baby jackets for the babies in Belgium.

The Vance Canning factory, overladen with work, and cramped for room in its commodious factory, has rented the Pontius Sealing Wax factory, recently vacated, and several vats are now going up there. The place will be operated by J. C. Buck, of Adrian, Mich., and sauerkraut will be made.
Supe. Frank Schultz of the city power, water and heat plant, stated Tuesday that the coal situation at the plant was such that there will be no shortage during the coming winter. The situation looked bad for a few

FATIGUE NEARLY OVERCOMES WOMAN

"Bringing up several children in the right way and cares of home brought me to the verge of nervous prostration," says a well known woman. "Fearing that I might become ill and have to give up housework and the care of my little ones, created a nightmare that was ever before me. I happened to mention my affliction to one of my neighbors and she advised me to procure some Phosphated Iron. A day or two later when I was feeling unusually miserable I sent my daughter to the drug store for a box of the capsules and after ten days' treatment I felt like a different person altogether. I sleep well at night, something I hadn't done in months before; my appetite is good and in fact what formerly seemed like mountains of work in my home is now more like play. I am aunt of mine living over east has been taking Phosphated Iron with equally gratifying results."

Phosphated Iron is put up in capsules only. In this locality it can be obtained at Meyer Bros. four stores, also D. & N. Pharmacy.—Advertisement.

STOP DANDRUFF! HAIR GETS THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL

Girls! Draw a cloth through your
beauty.

Spend a few cents! Dandruff vanishes and hair stops coming out.

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is more a matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now! All drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance, freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you can not find a trace of dandruff or falling hair! but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp.

Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower, destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once. If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.—Advertisement.

An Old Man's Stomach.
As we grow older and less active, less and less food is required to meet the demands of our bodies. If too much is habitually taken, the stomach will rebel. When a man reaches the advanced age of 85 or 90, you will find that he is a light eater. Be as careful as you will, however, you will occasionally eat more than you should and will feel the need of Chamberlain's Tablets to correct the disorder. These tablets do not contain poison, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels.—Advertisement.

RARE FLOWERS AND PLANTS REIGN TONIGHT

Hundreds of Choice Varieties at Second Annual Flower Show.

The stage is set for a rare treat for those who enjoy the beautiful in the hundreds of multi-colored choice flowers and plants to be seen in the second annual two-day flower show. This wonderful exposition of the floral world, in which stately chrysanthemums and queenly roses will strive with hundreds of other varieties of the far-famed floral products of the city of Fort Wayne, will open tonight at 7:30 in the new Overland building on Washington boulevard west—just off Calhoun street. An orchestra under the direction of Gaston Bathie, and also esthetic dances by Miss Grace Romary and several of her pupils are added features to entertain the lovers of rare flowers and plants. Mr. Bathie and Miss Romary will also appear in the show tomorrow evening.

After a great deal of planning and preliminary work, the decorators have completed the finishing touches to make the show one of the features of the year. The excellent salesroom of the Overland lends itself nicely to the decoration, the background of which is southern smilax. Banks of flowers and plants placed in special displays in and about the booths of each of the seven members of the Florists' association, give a very pleasing and artistic effect. A number of varieties of flowers not ordinarily seen will be on display.

An afternoon show will be given tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 for the benefit of those who care to observe the delicate and beautiful blossoms in the light of day. The total receipts of the three shows will be given to the Red Cross to aid in that splendid work.

AT THE PALACE

NO VAUDEVILLE TONIGHT.

New Palace Opens Tomorrow Afternoon With Nifty Program.

There will be no vaudeville tonight at the New Palace, the theater having been turned over to the San Carlo Grand Opera company, which is to sing "Aida" under the auspices of the Morning Musical. Opening Thursday matinee, however, the Palace will present another bang-up bill of particulars in the case of "Laughter vs. the Blues." The two big feature acts of this bill are Edward F. Reynard, assisted by Katherine McConnell in "Before the Court," a dancing and ventriloquist novelty number, and Mile. Bianca, the dancing darling recently of the Metropolitan dancers of New York. Reynard's genius for contriving unique stunts to make folks laugh is splendidly exemplified in the skit, "Before the Court," in the presentation of which he is assisted by vaudeville's most distracting beauty, Katherine McConnell.

Mile. Bianca will appear in a series of artistic and spectacular dances in which this spritely won herself enviable distinction in New York this summer.

Syrup and Molasses Make Heat and Energy

Syrup and molasses as well as candy are quickly converted by the human body into heat and energy. When you have griddle cakes, waffles, delicious maple syrup for breakfast the syrup give a great deal more than flavor.

Cane sugar is grown in the southern states. The stalks saved from the previous crop are planted lengthwise in the shallow trenches about two and one-half feet apart, covered to a depth of four feet to eighteen inches and remain in this condition throughout the winter. In the spring the furrows are topped off, sprouting begins and the growth of the new crop started.

When the cane has ripened in the fall the stalks are cut very close to the ground, the leaves stripped off, top clipped and the stalks conveyed to mills on the plantations.

The cane stalks are passed through huge steel rollers to press out the juice. Methods of making cane sugar syrup differ. Some boil the juice in vacuum pans until the proper density is reached. Others boil in "open pans."

Syrup boiled in "open pans" is far superior to that boiled in the vacuum pans, but the latter is more profitable to the manufacturer. As a consequence the uniform open-pan sugar cane syrup is higher priced. There are many processes used in the filtration and preparation of the juice. With all these variations in processes it is readily seen that many of the syrups do not run uniform. The methods employed by small farmers are necessarily very crude and while they may use the preferred open pan method, which insures the best flavor, the color and density are not uniform. The quality brand of the pure cane syrup is made from the juice of the cane—nothing added to or taken away from the pure product. The juice is filtered to remove particles of cane, etc., boiled to a density of 37 degrees. It is put in barrels and shipped directly to the national food producer's factory, where it is canned, marked with the producer's label, his guarantee of purity.

No sugar has been extracted. Boiled in the old-fashioned way, in open pans, it has a very distinctive flavor. Look for a reliable name on the label.

Ingenious Ways of Saving Practiced

The desirability as well as the necessity for practicing economy in the home is having an effect more far-reaching than anything that has happened to the American women since the days of the civil war. It is sharpening their ingenuity, acquainting them with many of the practicalities of life from which they had separated themselves, and giving them an education that will be effective after the war is over.

The reproach of other nations that the American women were careless spendthrifts, with no regard for domestic interests and no idea of helping to save or even make the husband's income meet expenses, has been and is being disproved. Thousands and thousands of women are devoting themselves to making a fixed income meet the increased demands of higher prices that war conditions have brought. They make budgets as carefully as a man in business, or in public office, and they are not in-

Here are some little economies of one reader:

I wanted a new carpet for the kitchen, but could not afford to buy one. I found some old Brussels carpet, which I sewed together and tacked on the floor wrong side up. I then gave it two coats of paint and I had a most satisfactory floor covering, as it was very easy to keep clean and very comfortable to stand on.

I always keep a large size soap shaker in the kitchen. If I need to flavor soup with celery tops or bay leaves or the scraps of meat or chicken bones I put them into the soap shaker, fasten the top securely and leave it in whatever I wish to flavor and it can be removed in a moment.

Salt and flour bags are used as receptacles for lettuce and radishes, which, after being prepared for the table, are put in the bags and put directly on the ice to crispen.

CHENILLE APPLIED ON SCARF.

Among the new scarfs ushered in by the cold weather are some models of Italian silk, self-striped.

They are cut long and about ten inches wide, and made a double thickness of the silk.

A scarf of bright green is embroidered at the ends in a conventional design in self-colored heavy silk floss that stands out. Green silk fringe finishes the edge.

Mrs. Wilson, wife of our president, has a penchant for nice stationery. She never has bizarre and the so-called ultra-fashionable paper, but that which is rich and simple and always in keeping with the most exacting good taste. The stationery she uses for her general correspondence is the very elegant-looking Scotch gray, with a neat, small engraving across the top in green which says: "The White House, Washington, D. C." The Scotch gray is not expensive, but it seems to be popular among the society women.—Chicago Herald.

Y. W. C. A. ASKS $4,000,000 TO BE BIG SISTER IN THE WAR

When the Y. W. C. A. laid its plans to back up the boys in the trenches and send them "Clean Over the Top" along came its sister, the Y. W. C. A., with plans of equal scope to aid and cheer the girls our fighters leave behind them—to lend a hand to all women vitally affected by war.

The Y. W. C. A. at first decided to ask for only $1,000,000. But the work grew tremendously and as it caught its stride in the hostess houses at cantonments and in the rest and recreation centers for women in war industries, a demand came in from camp commandants, employers, the government itself for more of the same. And in October at a New York meeting of the Y. W. C. A. War Work Council, 250 women pledged themselves and the great organized army of Y. W. C. A. members all over the United States to raise a war fund of $4,000,000 by December 15.

The plan for expending this fund is world-wide in scope. For "hostess houses" at army cantonments $900,000 is appropriated. Seven houses are now in use and 25 more under construction. Hostess houses provide the meeting place for the soldier and his visitors and care for women callers at the camp. They furnish reception and writing rooms, nurseries for visiting babies, rest rooms and a cafeteria.

Women in war industries will use $500,000. The problem there is to provide suitable food and lodging for the thousands of girls suddenly summoned to uniform and munitions making. This work is also extended to France and Russia.

Service to the foreign-born wives and families of drafted men absorbs another $100,000. Thousands of women isolated from American life by their ignorance of language and customs are now deprived of the husbands on whom they depended as interpreters and protectors in a strange land.

Under the Patriotic League Junior War Council recreation and protection is afforded young girls employed near and in cantonment cities.

For foreign work the budget provides $1,000,000. Four workers are already in Russia and four more on the way. The problem is adequate and cheap food for great masses of working women. Cafeterias, rest and recreation centers will be established.

In France the same work will be done for women in war industries and a central club for American nurses will be established in Paris.

With all the power of organization the Y. W. C. A. is preparing its ministry as "Big Sister."

plained, and regarding which you have asked us to take some action to remedy this condition, beg leave to advise you that in accordance with your wishes I have again taken up the question of seeing what can be done further to eliminate the falling of cinders on the sidewalk on Barr street adjoining the gas plant.

Have referred same to some competent gas engineers associated with the National Gas Association, who will find, if possible something better than the shields we placed on these stacks some two or three years ago, and which until the past few months have answered very well.

When it is again possible for us to secure and use hard foundry coke it is our opinion that the shields will then be found to be sufficient. The trouble right now is that we are using gas house coke in our gas machines, and as it is much softer than the foundry coke that we heretofore used, the result is that much of it breaks up into cinders and is thrown out of the stack. In the past I have purchased this hard coke, which has heretofore been for sale our own gas house coke, but today it is practically impossible to purchase this hard coke at any price. We therefore have no choice but to use the gas house coke in the gas machine, and as long as this continues there will necessarily be a considerable amount of cinders come from the stack.

Before stated, I am hoping that the gas engineers will have some device to suggest that we can put on to eliminate the trouble. If not we will have to find some other means of relieving the situation, as we want to do everything in our power to make the location of the gas works objectionable to the very smallest degree possible.

Leg to remain.

Yours very truly, S. E. MULLHOLLAND, Vice President.

THEATRE OF WAR MOVED

Allies Switch Winter Offensive to Run Germans from Italy.

GIVES A CHANCE TO FIGHT IN THE OPEN

British and French Think They Excel Teutons at That Game.

Special Dispatch from Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The plans of the allies, it was learned here today, contemplate not only protecting Italy from invasion, but transferring the scene of offensive operations from the French front to the plains of Friuli for the next six months at least.

This decision, it seems, was reached with great reluctance by the allied staff officers because it violates one of the cardinal principles of classical strategy—"Never permit yourself to be swerved from your principal line of attack by the actions of the enemy." But now that the decision has been made, it is welcomed by French and British officers, and the Italians are overjoyed.

Since the Germans dug themselves in after the battle of the Marne, just three years ago, there has been no open field fighting in the west. Now there will be in Italy just the style of open fighting in which the French and British are certain that they excel and can inflict the heaviest losses. That is why they are glad to see the offensive shift to Italy. The troops also welcome the release from the cold, monotonous and endless hammering of the trenches. The change is expected to put new life in the veterans.

No American troops will be sent to Italy, according to present plans, but the United States is looked to as a source of supplies and munitions. General Pershing, it is felt, will have his hands full getting his rapidly increasing forces into the trenches and preparing them for the spring drive on the French front.

The decision to do more than simply protect Italy from further invasion was influenced by several considerations. First was the danger in France if Germany should sweep across the plains of north Italy. This danger is remote, as France is protected by the Alps which east of Nice extend to the seacoast. Nevertheless, Napoleon once demonstrated that these mountains are not impassable and France has no desire even to have a threat of invasion from the south.

The greatest factor, however, is the desire of all the allies to end the war quickly. On the French front the process of wearing down Germany's manpower is necessarily slowed down at least 50 per cent. during the winter, while in the Italian plains, 300 miles south, a vigorous offensive can be maintained throughout the year.

A third consideration of great weight is that by an offensive in Italy Germany's advantage of being on the inside of the circle and having the shorter line of communications is nullified. In fact, owing to the bad condition of the Austrian railways, the French and British will have superior lines of communications.

This shift of the offensive to the Italian front for the winter must not be taken as even a serious modification of the plans for the spring drive on the French front, in which Uncle Sam's soldiers will have their first real test. So far as it is concerned, the important effect is that the United States will be called on to play a much greater part as regards both munitions and men.

Read the following extract from the Co-operative Trade Review, one of the leading journals for Carpet Dealers, November 1st issue:

Ample justification for material increases in the prices of all descriptions of floor coverings can be found in the serious shortage of labor and the steadily advancing cost of every raw material required by the manufacturers. Another factor to be considered in the price situation is the marked reduction in the production of carpets and rugs due to so much of the mill machinery being now devoted to the weaving of cotton duck and blankets for the government. It is now said that the need of duck for army and navy use is so great that it may be necessary to conscript mill hands in order to run the looms both night and day.

The situation on the Rug market is very unsettled. Many mills have discontinued making rugs and are filling government orders.

Others are working about one-half the time due to the difficulty of procuring labor.

Do You Neglect Your Machinery?
The machinery of the body needs to be well oiled, kept in good condition just as the automobile, steam engine or bicycle. Why should the human neglect his own machinery more than that of his home or his engine? Yet most people do neglect themselves. To clean the system at least once a week is to practice preventive measures. You will escape many ills and clear up the coated tongue, the sallow complexion, the dull, heavy eyes, the lazy liver, if you will take a pleasant laxative made up of the May-apple, juice of the leaves of aloë, root of jalap, and called Pleasant Pellets. You can obtain at almost any drug store in this country these vegetable pellets in vials for 25c—simply ask for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They have the Dr. R. V. Pierce stamp upon them.

MOTHERS, ATTENTION!
Peru, Ind.—"Always during the expectant period and afterward I would have poor circulation and numb spells, bothering me more at night. Five years ago I tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—took about three bottles of it and those spells left me and never returned. I got along nicely."—Mrs. Emma Chandonia, 725 E. Washington Blvd.

Kickley, of Fort Wayne, spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. George Foulke. Mr. and Mrs. Creighton Butler and children, Edith and Herman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Todd were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Butler.

Mrs. Moon is spending the week in Woodburn, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Yaggy.

Mrs. P. O. Stuebel Tells How She Cured Her Son of a Cold.

"When my son, Ellis, was sick with a cold last winter I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It helped him at once and quickly broke up his cold," writes Mrs. P. O. Stuebel, of Ellettsburg, Ia. This remedy has been in use for many years. Its good qualities have been fully proven by many thousands of people. It is pleasant and safe to take.—Advertisement.

With sweeping enthusiasm teams in Allen county's drive to raise her quota of $45,000 for the war work fund of the Y. M. C. A. made the reports of the first day's canvass at a noon meeting at the Elks' club and the total of $9,057.10 reported, supplemented by a list of advance subscriptions secured by the executive committee, put the total well over one-third the county's quota.

Figures today did not include any report from the outside districts of the county, where canvassing will be pressed in earnest on Thursday. The total number of subscriptions reported Wednesday was 291, with Captain Art Smith's men's club team leading both in number of subscriptions and amount secured. Two thousand dollars of subscriptions secured by the executive committee were added to the men's club's total, making the victory in securing first place on the opening day, bringing the club's total for the day to $11,057.10.

Reports by Teams.

With the luncheon disposed of team captains made reports of the number of subscriptions and total sum pledged as follows:

Commercial club (C. J. School)	40	$1,784.00
Elks (A. W. Stults)	29	208.50
Friars' club (H. E. Norrepp)	2	1.00
Huntingd Per Cent (Dave Vesey)	34	443.00
Kiwanis (R. W. Fowler)	16	153.00
Real Estate (L. L. Bart)	19	253.00
University (E. M. Hulse)	36	254.00
Rotary (S. W. Greenland)	35	788.00
Quest (G. H. VanArman)	20	2,070.00
Men's (A. E. Smith)	41	3,100.00

On tomorrow's total the $2,000 subscription of the S. F. Bowser company will be assigned as a prize to the club reporting the largest number of pledges secured.

Chairman Yarnelle and Campaign Director Little each expressed satisfaction with the progress of the campaign, but urged upon the teams the necessity of driving hard and of insisting that the giving be in as large amounts as possible in order that Allen county be certain of reaching its quota. An instance of the hearty manner in which the public response comes from the Pennsylvania shops, where the men have already made a voluntary subscription of $450, with J. A. Foster in charge of the work.

Telegrams to local committee heads are to the effect that up to last night Indiana had raised $172,000 of the $1,000,000 allotted to this state. Adams county has raised $3,500 of its $5,000; Huntington county reports $1,370 of its $12,000, while in Whitley county $5,270 out of $6,000 has been raised.

The High School Workers.

The organization of the boys at the Fort Wayne high school to line up the lads on the ten-dollar-subscription plan includes sub-committees in the various branches. The freshmen and sophomores, however, have joined forces. The line-up for the drive in the school is as follows:

Seniors—John Stockberger, James King, Joe Underhill, DeWitt May, Louis Hermann.

Juniors—Edward White, Elmer Wilkins, John Watt, Herbert Stevens, Robert Warren.

Sophomores and Freshmen—Howard Bash, William White, William Canahan, Fred Getty, Arthur Berghoff, Ed Thomas, Louis Sterling, James Bitter, Edward Deister.

The boys are enthusiastic over the plan as presented to them from the national headquarters, and many are already entering upon the scheme with zest. The plan makes it necessary that the boys actually earn the money for this special purpose. Business men and others are urged to open a way whereby the lads may carry out their plan by affording means of service of sufficient worth to entitle the boy to his just recompense.

Y. W. C. A. ACTIVE AT GENERAL ELECTRIC

G. E. Company Co-Operates With Local Workers in Forming Elex Club.

With Local Workers in Forming Elex Club.

The Y. W. C. A., which has organized clubs for women among the various industrial plants of the city, has formed the Elex club at the General Electric works. The company is co-operating in the work and they will furnish clubrooms at the factory. This club has a membership of 150 members and meets twice a month on Tuesday night. At each of these meetings educational classes are held in sewing, basketry and classes in making Christmas presents. This educational work is part of the club work and nearly all of the girls in the club are enrolled in the educational classes. The equipment used is furnished by the Vocational school, which is co-operating with the Y. W. C. A.

At the last meeting, Tuesday night, sixty girls were present and classes were taught in cooking and sewing. These meetings are held right after work as a light luncheon is furnished to the club members by the association for 10 cents. A social hour follows the class period and the amusement is generally furnished with a bingo party. A class in accounting is held in connection with the Y. W. C. A. work. A number of the girls in the Elex club are also enrolled in the gym classes held at the works by the Y. W. C. A.

FEDERATION MEN IN PATRIOTIC SPIRIT

Delegates at Buffalo Acclaim Message from the President.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 14.—The telegrams to and from President Wilson in regard to the calling off of the strikes at plants being constructed for government use in connection with the war were read by President Samuel Gompers to the delegates at today's session of the American Federation of Labor. The president's message expressing appreciation for the patriotic action of the federation was greeted with cheers. The situation at Newark was reported to be satisfactory.

Hugh Crane, a member of the war industries board, and President John Donlin, of the building trades department, have gone to Washington to confer with government officials on a final settlement of the grievances of the men who have been on strike.

The morning session lasted less than an hour, none of the committees being ready to report. The "smokes for soldiers" claimed the attention of the delegates during the greater part of the time. A. C. McAndrew, president of the Tobacco Workers' International union of Louisville, urged formal recognition of union labor in the matter of smoking tobacco, cigars and cigarettes, such as use of union men now in federal service. "Thousands of men," he said, "have been taken out of civil life within the last few months, many of whom now find it difficult, if not impossible, to secure tobacco, such as they have been accustomed to using. On behalf of the tobacco workers I appeal to the delegates here to interest themselves in behalf of union made goods."

WEATHER IDEAL FOR PLOWING CONTEST

The Twenty-Seventh Annual Event is Held at State Farm Wednesday.

Hundreds of people from all parts of the county were in attendance Wednesday at the twenty-seventh annual plowing contest being held at the state farm, four miles northeast of the city on the St. Joe road, under the auspices of the Allen County Plowing association.

In the plowing contest the following teams were entered: Prof. W. C. Latimer, partner of agriculture, Purdue university, who is acting as judge:

Start, 15; furrow, 50; ends, 10; finish, 20. One operator to each plow; all lands started must be finished; depth of furrow must be six inches or more. There were four classes as follows:

Class A, sod plow; B, general purpose plow; class C, riding plow, and class D, boys' class. Six ribbons were awarded in each class, also ribbons for best team in harness, oldest plowman and youngest plowman. There was also a corn and potato contest.

The officers of the association are: C. Vonderau, president; A. J. Hutchins, secretary and treasurer; committee on arrangements, George Myers, J. H. Thrash, George Gillie, Ernest Gallmeier; committee on field, Joseph Tonkel, Chas. Meyers, John A. Gilie and A. Blume. Thirteen tractors took part in the contest.

PLAN TO TAKE TWO BILLIONS

Treasury After Vast Sum of Small Savings in the Country.

THRIFT STAMPS TO HAVE THEIR PLACE

Will Be Sold in Every Bank, Postoffice and Store in Land.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Treasury officials went to work today on plans for the newly announced campaign to gather for war purposes two billion dollars of small savings within a year beginning December 1, through a system of selling thrift stamps, war-saving stamps and war-saving certificates.

In virtually every bank, postoffice, railroad station, school and retail store in the country, these stamps will be placed on sale for the double purpose of encouraging the saving habit and obtaining money in small sums not available through sale of liberty bonds.

Frank A. Vanderlip, New York banker, who is directing the war savings movement, announced today that directors of the campaign and advisory committee have been appointed for every state and their work will be supervised by six federal directors, each of whom is to have charge of two federal reserve districts.

By this means, the work of harvesting the savings will be given persistent direction throughout the year. Indiana is placed in district number 3. J. D. Oliver, of South Bend, has been named state director of the campaign. Other state directors are: Michigan, Frank W. Hubbard, of Detroit; Ohio, H. P. Wolf, Columbus; Kentucky, Robert B. Brown, of Louisville; and Illinois, Martin A. Ryerson, of Chicago. The general director for district No. 3 is H. B. Riley, a Chicago banker.

FIRST CLASS HAS 2,000,000

That Number of Men Subject to Military Duty in Front Line.

DRAFT WILL BE PUT ON MEN LATELY 21

That Would Add 600,000 New Registrants by Next March.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Best available estimates indicate the first of the five classes into which all draft registrants are to be divided will contain more than two million men, subject to duty with the colors before any man in any other class will be called up.

It is regarded as practically certain that congress will take up the question of extending the draft law to cover men who have attained the age of 21 since it was enacted. Should that be done and provision made for the registration thereafter of every man as he reached the age, it is probable that perhaps 600,000 would be added to class 1 automatically by next March. In that event no present plans for the army would reach the men in class 2.

New regulations to be published shortly probably will set out a way in which this can be done. New regulations governing passport for registered men become effective Nov. 20. After that date the nearest local board may issue passport permits without reference to district boards as is now required. Passports are not necessary to enter Canada.

PLAN FOR THIRD BIG LEAGUE HAS BEEN PUT AWAY

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—There will be no formation of a new league to include the Louisville, Indianapolis and Toledo clubs of the American association and certain clubs of the International league. This was definitely decided today when the National Association of Baseball Leagues voted down an amended resolution offered by Edward Barrow, president of the International league. The vote was 11 to 2.

MARAUDER AT EDISON HOME.

West Orange, N. J., Nov. 14.—The home of Thomas A. Edison was entered by an intruder last night through a third story window, which he reached by climbing to the roof of an extension to the house. The man was frightened away by the screams of a maid. The police who are investigating say they do not think the man had any motive other than robbery.

SMALLPOX IS FOUND IN RUDISILL SCHOOL

Will Be Closed for Short Time Until All Are Vaccinated.

The number of cases of smallpox found among the pupils of the Rudisill school has necessitated the closing of that institution for a short time. All of the teachers and the pupils who have been unable to show their certificates. News cases reported Wednesday are John Penquist, 609 Lawton place; Kathryn Monn, 509 State street; Clem C. Hiser, 315 Fourth street; James Howard, 1036 Swinney street; Albert Jones, 319 Elizabeth; Olive Brown, 302 Wildwood; Burnell Vachon, 1644 Third; Frank Reed, 2014 Hanna; Charles Cordes, 15 Edna street.

The vaccination in factories is rapidly being carried on. The Wabash has practically completed its work and the General Electric works is busily engaged in inoculating the majority of its employees. The Perfektion Biscuit company is the only large concern that has vaccinated its entire force. Dr. Drayer is kept busy every morning to 11 o'clock at the health office vaccinating both children and grown people.

PARK EFFICIENCY.

Former City Forester Getz Says Something to Successor.

Editor of The Sentinel:

Permit me to call attention to a portion of your city hall item headed, "Improving Parks," in your Monday evening edition:

"The leaves in all of the parks are being raked. A new system of raking will make this annual job shorter and enable the men to leave the ground in a cleaner condition."

It seems to me that City Forester Jaenicke is securing publicity and grandstanding at the expense of the public press and myself. This is not the first instance. I attributed the former interviews to over-enthusiasm and overlooked them, but these slams must stop.

While at Purdue university and by over five years' practical experience with park boards, and was always alert for labor-saving devices, new equipment and efficient economy. Last year, while I was park superintendent, the leaves had been raked while in a dry condition by this time, and I will venture the total cost was considerably less than the present cost, judging from what I saw this morning. On Edgewater park strip, in front of my home, the grass was permitted to grow without attention for the last two months, which is an average height of about ten inches, then the leaves fell, literally covering this area, and were permitted to remain there through the rain and snow, making a soggy mess. Then, yesterday morning four men started in early with ordinary hand rakes, under the supervision of a $75.00 month foreman. The raking was extremely difficult, and their combined effort for one day's work resulted in clearing a trip about a block long and averaging 75 to 100 feet wide.

I will agree with Jaenicke that this is a new system, but one which is not efficient. The public is entitled to honest statements and efficient service. Talk and bluff are cheap. Results and accomplishments that were approved by visiting reputable landscape men, experienced park superintendents and the public, are my record, of which I am justly proud.

A copy of this statement is being sent to the board of park commissioners, and Mr. Jaenicke, himself.

C. J. Getz.

BEATEN BY DIRECT VOTE.

Paris, Nov. 13.—(Tuesday) The Painleve ministry was defeated by a direct vote in the chamber of deputies and later resigned. This is the first time such action has been taken by the chamber since the beginning of the war, as up to the present it has been a point of honor with our deputies not to vote against the government but to express criticism by abstaining from recording their votes.

Strong dissatisfaction with the government's handling of the Bolo fash affair is believed to be the motive which changed the passive dissent to active opposition. Two other things thought to have had a part in the downfall of the Painleve cabinet were the premier's statement exonerating M. Malvy, the former minister of the interior, and the fiasco attending the prosecution of L'Action Francaise, edited by Leon, the accuser of M. Malvy. The ministerial crisis comes on the eve of the interlarded conference here, and every effort will be made to settle it quickly. President Poincare will begin consultations with political leaders tomorrow morning.

DONATIONS HELP RED CROSS WORK

The Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent association gave the general fund of the local Red Cross a material boost by donating $25 to the work. The M. V. club gave $120. These are two more cases where the ladies of the city are showing their desire to help the world war in every way they can. The money given by the M. V. club was money they saved on their meetings by donating themselves some of the luxuries which they formerly enjoyed.

Mrs. Allen Hamilton and Mrs. Brooke Sale, who spoke Tuesday at a meeting of ladies at Grabbill report that twenty members were present to hear the talks and that nine new applications for the Red Cross were received. A friends donated three filled comfort kits which were already to be sent to the soldiers. At the warehouse a large shipment of goods was received from Lagrange.

CHICKEN SUPPER FOR RED CROSS BENEFIT

The ladies of Sand Point will give a chicken supper on Friday evening, November 16, at the Fox school, located in Wayne township on the Sand Point road. The entire proceeds will go to the Red Cross fund. The supper will be served starting at six o'clock at the cost of twenty-five cents per plate. The general public is invited, and special attention will be given automobile parties. A program will be rendered and many other features of entertainment have been arranged for.

MAY LOOK TO CLEMENCEAU

Veteran Statesman Likely to Be Recalled to the Premiership.

SUCCESSOR SOUGHT FOR M. PAINLEVE

The Ministerial Crisis in France is of Much Gravity.

Paris, Nov. 14.—The Painleve ministry goes without many regrets, after having dodged out its existence for two months. Its fall had been discounted for the past two weeks but the abrupt manner of its passing came as a surprise. The telling of the public and the press is voiced fairly but bluntly by Gustave Herve in La Victoire. He says:

"The consistent enemy of ministerial crises in war time, this is the first occasion upon which this journal has rejoiced at the fall of a cabinet. I admit that I experienced the same anxiety that passengers on a liner feel when they see the captain has lost his head during a storm."

In view of the present situation at home and abroad the ministerial crisis is regarded as of exceptional gravity. All the morning newspapers agree that what is needed imperatively is a real leader but they say also President Poincare will find it a most difficult task to hit upon such a man. According to traditions the president in choosing the new administration should be guided by the composition of the vote which overthrew the present cabinet. Premier Painleve was defeated by a coalition of the extreme right and the extreme left so it is manifestly impossible to follow precedent in this instance and attempt to draw a ministry from such elements.

The name most frequently mentioned is that of former Premier Clemenceau. It will be the logical step on the part of President Poincare to offer him the premiership inasmuch as he originated the campaign against Bolshevism in parliament and it was on that issue that M. Painleve fell.

"The Tiger" as the former premier is nicknamed, will undoubtedly be welcomed by the general public and the army for he is known as the exponent of the "big stick" and it is believed he would stamp out Bolshevism rapidly. That is what the people desire. At the same time M. Clemenceau has innumerable enemies and many who are not inimical to him believe he is destructive rather than constructive. He is faced also with the implacable and openly proclaimed hostility of the unified socialists, who have fought his drastic methods in dealing with labor troubles when he was premier.

In the figure, which represents moderate views, Alfred Capus says:

"Opinion as a whole certainly would accept M. Clemenceau. It would be an experiment not unattended by risk but such a risk would be worth taking in view of the present situation. The worst thing would be stagnation."

Former Premiers Viviani and Barthou and Jules Pams, former minister of agriculture, also are spoken of in connection with the premiership. As for former Premier Briand his friends feel it would be better to try a new man before appealing to him.

BEATEN BY DIRECT VOTE.

Paris, Nov. 13.—(Tuesday) The Painleve ministry was defeated by a direct vote in the chamber of deputies and later resigned. This is the first time such action has been taken by the chamber since the beginning of the war, as up to the present it has been a point of honor with our deputies not to vote against the government but to express criticism by abstaining from recording their votes.

Strong dissatisfaction with the government's handling of the Bolo fash affair is believed to be the motive which changed the passive dissent to active opposition. Two other things thought to have had a part in the downfall of the Painleve cabinet were the premier's statement exonerating M. Malvy, the former minister of the interior, and the fiasco attending the prosecution of L'Action Francaise, edited by Leon, the accuser of M. Malvy. The ministerial crisis comes on the eve of the interlarded conference here, and every effort will be made to settle it quickly. President Poincare will begin consultations with political leaders tomorrow morning.

DONATIONS HELP RED CROSS WORK

The Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent association gave the general fund of the local Red Cross a material boost by donating $25 to the work. The M. V. club gave $120. These are two more cases where the ladies of the city are showing their desire to help the world war in every way they can. The money given by the M. V. club was money they saved on their meetings by donating themselves some of the luxuries which they formerly enjoyed.

Mrs. Allen Hamilton and Mrs. Brooke Sale, who spoke Tuesday at a meeting of ladies at Grabbill report that twenty members were present to hear the talks and that nine new applications for the Red Cross were received. A friends donated three filled comfort kits which were already to be sent to the soldiers. At the warehouse a large shipment of goods was received from Lagrange.

SEPARATED IN 1908; NOW SUES FOR DIVORCE

Bessie Furnam Says Husband Knocked Her Down, Seriously Hurting Her.

Mr. and Mrs. John Furnam separated in March, 1908, and have not lived together since that time. Mrs. Furnam is just now filing suit for divorce. They were married in 1902.

Mrs. Furnam alleges in her complaint that her husband frequently struck her and on one occasion knocked her down, injuring her so severely that she had to be taken to the hospital for treatment. They have two children and because of her husband's failure to provide for them she has been compelled to take them to the orphan's home. In addition to a divorce she is asking for $10 a week for the children's support.

The deceased leaves his entire estate to his wife, Elizabeth Heekin Moylman, who is directed to use it for the benefit of herself and daughter, Margaret Cornelia Moylman. The will was written on November 15, 1915, and was witnessed by John S. Morris and William P. Breen.

Heaton & Heaton represent the plaintiffs.

Files 1917 Tax Lists.

E. W. Miller, township assessor, has been busy for the last few days stamping dates on the books containing the 1917 assessment blanks, which will be on the shelves within a day or two. The books, which are kept for a period of ten years' back, are on file in the assessor's office and those for 1907 were gotten out of the way Tuesday.

James E. Bogart has brought suit against the German-American Trust company and others asking for the foreclosure of a mechanic's lien to satisfy a demand for $280.

Mrs. Arter Gets Divorce.

A decree for divorce was granted to Mrs. Mary Arter from Ephraim Arter and not to the husband as stated in these columns. The divorce was granted to her on her cross complaint.

Permission was given in the superior court Wednesday to Dan N. Beers to appeal from a judgment rendered in the court of Justice of the Peace Henry W. Bullerman in a case brought by Charles Glessner.

E. B. Dreishlag has withdrawn his appearance as attorney for the plaintiff in the case of Charles J. Gaunt against Emma R. Gaunt.

Henry C. Tegtmeyer has been ordered to show cause in the superior court on Nov. 17 why he should not be punished for failure to obey the court's order.

The judgments have been allowed against Mendal and Anna Hurowitz, one for $30 to August Wolf and another for $22.50 to Henry Oetting.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY DOES NOT WANT HIM

Instructor in the School Registers Before He Can Be Put Out.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 14.—"Indiana university has no place for such a man," declared President William L. Bryan, of Indiana university, today in commenting on the resignation yesterday of W. E. Zuehl, formerly instructor in the department of economics, whose resignation was utterances in a signed article in a Hopkinson (Iowa) newspaper were being investigated by the university authorities and the county council of defense.

"We do not know much about Mr. Zuehl," continued Dr. Bryan. "He came to us at the last moment before the opening of the university last September to fill a temporary vacancy. In his published letter he professes loyalty to the United States and the cause for which we are fighting, but without going into all details, make statements and implications about our soldiers of the civil war and our soldiers of the present war which are untrue and intolerable. This university has no place for such a man."

Zuehl said before coming to Bloomington he had applied for admission to the United States army but had been refused because of defective vision.

NO JURY FOR DAN SHAY.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—Ten men had been tentatively selected for the jury in the trial of Dan Shay, formerly manager of the Milwaukee American association baseball club, charged with second degree murder when the hearing was recessed at noon today. It was believed the jury would be completed this afternoon in time to begin the opening statement in the case before adjournment today. Shay is alleged to have shot a negro waiter in a hotel cafe here last May.

ANTI-UNIONISM HURTS CAUSE

Complaint Made by Labor Leaders to Indiana Defense Council.

DISCRIMINATION BY THREE BIG FIRMS

Indianapolis Concerns Are Holding Up Their War Contracts.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—Charges that three large Indianapolis manufacturers having contracts with the federal government are discriminating against members of trades unions while their contracts are delayed of fulfillment were made to the Indiana state council of defense today by Louis C. Schwartz, of the International Association of Machinists, and F. J. Dillon, of the Patternmakers' association. The men asked the state council to investigate and take action that will serve to relieve the situation.

Schwartz and Dillon insisted they were not asking that the council assist an effort to "unionize" the plants in question, but that the business of preventing discrimination which they declared inimical to the cause of the government in prosecuting the war with Germany. They presented a form of contract which they said all applicants at one industry were required to sign which they said "required a man to waive all his rights as a citizen before he could get work."

Committee to Inquire.

A committee consisting of A. W. Brady, W. G. Irwin and Evans Woolen was appointed by the council to consider the matter of the supervising of all solicitations of funds for war purposes. Many abuses have been reported and the committee will consider the propriety of some sort of censorship for this activity. George E. Lindsey, of Marion, asked the council to demand a retraction of a news article which he said "casts aspersions on the loyalty of the people of Marion. The article was represented as an explanation of the result of the recent election in Marion."

Movies That Hurt.

The council received a letter from Congressman W. E. Cox, of the Third Indiana district, asking that it co-operate in the suppression of moving pictures that tend to discourage enlistments and other forms of patriotic activity. Congressman Cox informed the council that he would ask the co-operation of the council of national defense in the matter and it was referred to the policy committee. A statement of the purpose of the speakers' bureau to conduct educational work of a patriotic nature over the state on a large scale was presented to the council by Prof. J. J. Pettijohn, of Indiana university, and referred to the finance and policy committees. The plan involves a large expenditure of funds, includes the services of about 300 speakers and the joint activity of the state university, state normal school national league to enforce peace and national security league.

The jury in the trial of Dan Shay, formerly manager of the Milwaukee American association baseball club, charged with second degree murder when the hearing was recessed at noon today. It was believed the jury would be completed this afternoon in time to begin the opening statement in the case before adjournment today. Shay is alleged to have shot a negro waiter in a hotel cafe here last May.

BORROWS 50 TONS OF CANDYMAKERS' SUGAR

Marion County Food Boss Authorized to Tide Over Shortage.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—Stanley Wyckoff, county food administrator, received authority from federal food administration at Washington to carry out his plan to "borrow" 100,000 pounds of sugar from confectioners and other large consumers here and distribute among the retailers to tide over the local sugar shortage. This amount is to be returned to the large consumers as soon as the new crop arrives. The plan to repay the sugar out of the new crop had to be approved by the national administrator before it could be carried out. Mr. Wyckoff plans to begin the distribution to the retailers in 100 and 200 pound lots tomorrow. The office of the county food administrator was swamped today with calls from grocers for allotments of the sugar.

Reports were received here today that Munich dealers are entirely without sugar and that the city is settling down to a molasses sweet diet until the new crop arrives.

DO NOT LIKE NEWLANDS LAW.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 14.—W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, when asked what position the trainmen would take in reference to agreeing to arbitration of all questions of controversy during the war, declined to discuss the subject until after the meeting with President Wilson, but did intimate strongly that his organization was unqualifiedly opposed to the plan of arbitration provided for in the Newlands law.

FRENCH ARE AMAZED AT FOOTBALL GAME

After Spending Three Years
in Trenches He Says
Sport is Too Rough.

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 14.—There was a "practice" football game at Camp Grant the other day, a husky bunch of national army artillerymen lining up against the picked divisional team which is to represent this cantonment in the contest with Camp Custer in Chicago three weeks hence. The divisional team was made up entirely of officers and composed of players whose names are written large in college football annals. The opposing eleven was a hard driving aggregation of enlisted men from the 33rd, artillery, but all official bars were down and it was a fierce scrimmage.

English and French officers, fresh from the western front, were in the crowd which watched the "practice." Many of them never before had seen an American gridiron battle and expressed their amazement over the fierce attacks and defense in no uncertain terms.

"Some game!" remarked an American major to Sergeant Major W. Barratt of the British army whose special is the bayonet.

"Jove!" returned the visitor earnestly, "you know, I don't like it. It's all too rough! Fancy a game where they take 'em off in stretchers and no one seems to notice it!"

"Let's see," remarked the American officer, eying the visitor curiously, "you wear the badge of 'Meritois Service on the Field,' do you not? You have served three years in front line trenches and dodged bombs and cleaned dug-outs of Hun occupants, a good many times and seen the war as it is played over there. Ever wounded?"

"Several scratches," replied the Englishman still watching the scrimmage wonderingly. "I say, look there! Stepping all over that man's face! Extraordinary! You know, I have read about thousands of people going to see the Field, do you not? Each other's legs and the like. It's altogether too bally rough, you know!"

The American officer watched the distinguished "non-com" depart for his quarters. "Three years on the trenches," he murmured again, breaking bombs, "wearing the Hun on bayonets. Getting 'scratches,' and it's too 'rough' for him!"

Men of the hospital corps had some real work to perform. One artilleryman was carried away because of a sprained ankle and another was given "first aid" for a deep scalp wound.

After the first line-up when the artillerymen plowed through the officers for a clean ten-yard gain, both teams settled down. Guided by Lieutenant Jack Brady, former Princeton quarterback, the division represents, exhibiting individual flashes of football genius that bewildered their opponents and brought the ball in a steady march to the artillery goal. Three touchdowns were scored by the officers before "To the Colors" played at retreat, brought the two teams suddenly from a tangle of arms and legs to salute the division flag as it was lowered from headquarters flag pole.

Lieutenants Schabinger, former University of Illinois star; Chaffield, Taylor, Yale; Berger, Wisconsin and Chicago; and Shiverick, Cornell, showed up well in the hard practice fight while Captain Whiting, Chicago, played a masterly line game.

HIGHEST SCORE BY HIGH SCHOOL TEAM.

Anderson, Ind., Nov. 14.—The Anderson high school basketball team defeated the Alexandria team by 102 to 12 here last night. The score is said to be the highest ever made by a high school team in an Indiana game.

THE FIGHT FAN'S LAMENT.

The autumn sun was sinking fast
The day was cold and drear
A New York fight fan lingered by the way.
He was thinking that the fighting days
Would soon be in the past.
And blubbered as the waiter brought his beer.

CHORUS.

"It ain't as if they didn't know when they was doin' fine"
He whimpered as he wept into his beer.
"He couldn't tell 'em nothin', and they wouldn't stay in line."
"And now I'm glad they're shoved into the clear."

He always spent his hard earned dough
To see the framed up fights.
He pondered over many skates he'd seen.
He was thinking how they gyped him
On nearly every go
But bewailed the thought of many fightless nights.

CHORUS.

"It ain't as if they didn't know, etc."

THEY SAW HIM EAT.

AFTER I GET THRU HERE
I'M GOING TO GO OUT AND GET SOMETHIN' TO EAT!

We have a hunch that when army surgeons turned down Wladek Zbyzsko on account of a bad ear, they had in mind the expense the government would be put to when it came to feeding him.

The action of the Chicago faculty proves that Heine Zim hasn't cornered all the ivory in the world.

Full many a man has lost his bloom!
Luck
By fighting when he ought to drive a truck.

FEAR OF BLACK EYE ON WEDDING DAY CAUSED PETE HERMAN TO WED BEFORE FIGHTING FRANKIE BURNS

PETE HERMAN AND HIS BRIDE.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 14.—An American flag and a pretty girl were the combination that helped Pete Herman in his victorious fight with Frankie Burns for the bantamweight championship of the world.

The pretty girl was his bride of a day waiting at his home for his return, and the American flag was given to him by soldiers of Jackson barracks at New Orleans just before he began the twenty-round fight that resulted in his retaining the championship.

The bride was Miss Anna Le Blanc, twenty-one years old, daughter of Mrs. Albert Le Blanc of this city. She and Herman, whose real name is Gulotta, also twenty-one, were childhood playmates long before Pete every thought of prize fights and championships that earned him $300 a round, of $6,000 for a twenty-round bout.

That $6,000 check was a wedding present for Mrs. Gulotta.

The gloves Herman wore in the fight with Burns and the American flag he was given by admiring fighters of Union Sam are hanging side by side in the Gulotta home. Herman and his sweetheart were married at St. Augustine's church the day before the big fight because, Herman explained, "he was liable to have a black-eye or something that wouldn't look good at a wedding the day after the fight."

Friends of Herman in the historic French market section here won more than $20,000 on the fight, covering all the money Burns' backers offered at two to one and eight to five.

Herman, despite his romance, has an exemption claim pending before the army draft board. Several months ago he was given until November 15 to report to Camp Pike, Ark., in order that he could have the fight with Burns. Friends are endeavoring to win him a lieutenantcy as boxing instructor and believe they will succeed.

NEBRASKA IS PICKED AS VALLEY CHAMPIONS

With Kansas Second, Al though Tie With Ames is Possible.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 14.—With the gridiron race in the Missouri Valley conference entering the last lap, two eleven—Kansas and Nebraska—stand out prominently as the possible holders of the conference title at the season's close on Thanksgiving day. Nebraska, with only two games within the circuit, has slightly the advantage over the Lawrence eleven. Kansas, however, has passed the danger line with a victory over the Kansas Aggies, the strongest early season contender, and the Ames Aggies just at the time the Iowa was showing a real flash of form.

In all probability the meeting between the Cornhuskers and the Jayhawkers at Lawrence next Saturday (Nov. 17) will be the conference championship contest. The Nebraska team will have the advantage of experience gained from struggles with Michigan and Notre Dame, two widely differing elevens and among the strongest in the country. Because Kansas has played only teams within the conference there is no basis for a comparison of the strength of the two elevens upon the scores against the same opponents.

Followers of the Valley conference, after viewing as "cluck" the Kansas 7 to 0 victory over Ames by means of a long forward pass, were forced to give the strength of the Lawrence eleven more consideration after their victory over the Kansas Aggies by a similar tally. Kansas again showed its ability to fight its way into the lead in its 13 to 6 win from Oklahoma on Nov. 3. All scoring in this game was confined to the second period, the Lawrence aggregation seemingly being content to win without wasting energy on superfluous scores.

The real hard luck tale of the Valley is that of the Missouri eleven. Starting the season with a veteran backfield, which was last year one of the fastest in the conference, the Columbia representatives have met with defeat after defeat just when victory seemed most imminent. Beginning with a 6 to 7 loss to the Kansas Aggies, the Tigers have broken before the rushes of Ames, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

The Missouri eleven has had a hospital list unequalled by any team in the Valley. The veteran backfield was crippled in the Ames game, and after the Oklahoma game, Bass, a tackle and Schroeder, an end, were both out for the remainder of the season with injured shoulders. The Tigers are pointing toward Thanksgiving with the hope of being strong enough to defeat Kansas. Greenwood, center of the team, has been called to an aviation camp, leaving that position weak.

Drake, the smallest of the conference schools, also has a tale of woe. With each week the team has been made up of green material, has fought the season out experiencing several defeats, but always showing up for the next game. Howard Drew, of track renown, has come out for the team in an effort to help bolster up the waning strength.

In the Grinnell game, his play helped the Des Moines team despite the fact that they were forced to accept the short end of the final score. Because of his speed, Drew may be able before the end of the season to develop into a creditable back. His track experience stood him in good stead in the Grinnell game as he saved several scores by running down his opponents.

Washington, after being held to a tie by one of the St. Louis high school teams, rallied and defeated the Missouri Miners and also took Drake into camp. The St. Louis school will play its one big game of the year on the seventeenth with Missouri and if it wins this contest the season to Washington will be a success. With Missouri represented by its weakest team in several years, there is a possibility of Washington's gaining its expectations.

The probable rating of the conference teams at the end of the season, as picked by critics, will look something like this:

Nebraska, valley champions.
Kansas with a possible tie with Ames for second place.
Kansas Aggies, Missouri, Washington and Drake.

HAMMOND CLABBY'S MAKE FRIARS OFFER

Desire Game at Hammond on Thanksgiving, But Terms
Are Impossible.

At last a faint echo of the Friars' challenge has been waited back from the Hammond manager. Yet, the Clabby's would play a game for the state championship, providing, of course, the game is played in Hammond on Thanksgiving day, that the Friars come without any guarantee, that they pay their own expenses and be satisfied with 40 per cent of the gate receipts. Easy enough, Hammond, but the Friars could not accept such terms. This the Hammond manager well knew, but it at least would serve to say that they had accepted the Friar challenge.

Who are the Clabby's to make terms for the state championship? They were defeated by Racine whom the Friars overwhelmed by a 28 to 0 score. Is this the reason for their wild claims? The Friars are the present title holders. It would be a shame for the Hammond manager to see the light of reason and arrange for two championship battles, one in each city, with terms satisfactory to both. Should Hammond fail to meet the Friars they cannot call the championship for the Friars have it, and to rightly claim it Hammond must beat the Friars.

WESTERN CONFERENCE TITLE STILL IN DOUBT

Four Undelected Elevens
Will All Be in Action
Next Saturday.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Followers of Western Conference football elevens, little wiser as to the outcome of the 1917 championship struggle as a result of the Nov. 10 games will be confronted with plenty of "dope" by the time next Saturday's (Nov. 17) contests are decided. The four undefeated conference elevens—Ohio State, Illinois, Chicago and Michigan—will all be in action that day and the meeting of the first two at Columbus will have a direct bearing on the title. Chicago must defeat Minnesota on the latter's home gridiron to remain in the race and Michigan, meeting the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, is called upon to keep middle west football on its feet by securing by its victory over Cornell and Notre Dame's defeat of the army.

The schedule makers could hardly have hit upon a more fitting climax to Ohio State's season if they had deliberately planned the outcome of the 1917 games in an effort to make the Buckeyes line up against the Illinois they will be starting their final game of the conference season and facing the one team that has the clearest right to dispute the championship with them. Each team has defeated Wisconsin and each has the record of every season, although Illinois' inability to better than a scoreless tie with Chicago is regarded by some as a black mark on its record.

The contest should be one of the kind that keeps the average spectator on his feet. Both elevens have been coached in the greatest professional racing and end runs, much spectacular racing down the field under punts and promiscuous shooting of forward passes from all sorts of formations are promised. Wisconsin managed to stop the aerial attack of Illinois only to succumb to its driving line which was played and you may rest assured that we will do the same thing in your city next Sunday.

"I believe that right at the present time I have the strongest team that I have ever had and every player on the team is determined to get even for the two victories that your club have over us in the past two seasons, for we feel that we were simply outluck in both of these games and I think that your boys will agree with me on this."

Chicago's surprise team, which unsuccessfully stood its first acid test of the season in the Illinois game, probably will have all kinds of trouble keeping its record intact at Minneapolis. Although Minnesota was offered by Wisconsin its followers blame overconfidence for that result and look for better results Saturday. The teams will have had two weeks of uninterrupted practice to prepare for this game and each is expected to be in top form. Chicago will be without the services of Cochrane, a green but sturdy tackle who was hurt in the Illinois game, and just how A. Alonzo Stagg will realign his limited material to plug that vacancy probably will not be revealed until a few hours before the game.

Minnesota teams are expected to exhibit a different brand of football from that shown at Columbus. They rely largely upon smashing drives through the line for their gains and punt or throw forward passes only in emergency. At least that is their record this far. It would be a surprise should the followers of the game, however, if the two veteran mentors of the elevens—Stagg and Dr. Harry Williams—introduced unexpected tactics.

The other inter-conference contest of Saturday will bring Iowa and Northwestern together at Evanston. The teams will be struggling for the highest possible berth in the second division of the "Big Ten," with the chances favoring Northwestern.

Indiana and Purdue will be engaged with DePauw and Wabash, respectively, in an effort to clarify the football situation in the Hoosier state. DePauw defeated Wabash and lost to Purdue by only one point and seems to have

WESTERN CONFERENCE TITLE STILL IN DOUBT

Will All Be in Action
Next Saturday.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Followers of Western Conference football elevens, little wiser as to the outcome of the 1917 championship struggle as a result of the Nov. 10 games will be confronted with plenty of "dope" by the time next Saturday's (Nov. 17) contests are decided. The four undefeated conference elevens—Ohio State, Illinois, Chicago and Michigan—will all be in action that day and the meeting of the first two at Columbus will have a direct bearing on the title. Chicago must defeat Minnesota on the latter's home gridiron to remain in the race and Michigan, meeting the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, is called upon to keep middle west football on its feet by securing by its victory over Cornell and Notre Dame's defeat of the army.

The schedule makers could hardly have hit upon a more fitting climax to Ohio State's season if they had deliberately planned the outcome of the 1917 games in an effort to make the Buckeyes line up against the Illinois they will be starting their final game of the conference season and facing the one team that has the clearest right to dispute the championship with them. Each team has defeated Wisconsin and each has the record of every season, although Illinois' inability to better than a scoreless tie with Chicago is regarded by some as a black mark on its record.

The contest should be one of the kind that keeps the average spectator on his feet. Both elevens have been coached in the greatest professional racing and end runs, much spectacular racing down the field under punts and promiscuous shooting of forward passes from all sorts of formations are promised. Wisconsin managed to stop the aerial attack of Illinois only to succumb to its driving line which was played and you may rest assured that we will do the same thing in your city next Sunday.

"I believe that right at the present time I have the strongest team that I have ever had and every player on the team is determined to get even for the two victories that your club have over us in the past two seasons, for we feel that we were simply outluck in both of these games and I think that your boys will agree with me on this."

Chicago's surprise team, which unsuccessfully stood its first acid test of the season in the Illinois game, probably will have all kinds of trouble keeping its record intact at Minneapolis. Although Minnesota was offered by Wisconsin its followers blame overconfidence for that result and look for better results Saturday. The teams will have had two weeks of uninterrupted practice to prepare for this game and each is expected to be in top form. Chicago will be without the services of Cochrane, a green but sturdy tackle who was hurt in the Illinois game, and just how A. Alonzo Stagg will realign his limited material to plug that vacancy probably will not be revealed until a few hours before the game.

School Auditorium.

O. E. Rinehart of the literary committee of the Electro-Technic club, was advised this morning that Dr. Stanley Coulter, dean of the Schools of Science of Purdue, would take for his subject for the lecture next Tuesday evening, "The Man and the Hour." It has been known for some time that Dr. Coulter would lecture before the club on the date mentioned, but until today the subject was not known. Dr. Coulter is one of the most able and influential lecturers of the day and considerable interest centers in the talk he will make here. Because of the crowd that will attend this lecture, the arrangements have been made to have it in the high school auditorium. Admission will be by invitation to all not enrolled as members of the Electro-Technic club. It is proposed to invite the members of similar clubs in the city, including the Bowers, the Knitting Mills, the Duddos and others. Dr. Coulter has just been honored by the management of Purdue university. A new science hall building has been erected there and it has been named "The Stanley Coulter Hall," as a recognition of his valuable work.

Fred Walters, member for the Western and Chicago divisions of the Pennsylvania Voluntary Relief Association's advisory board, has just been advised that the recommendations of the board to buy $50,000 worth of Liberty Bonds was approved and immediate action supporting the resolution was taken. Miss Mabel Taylor, stenographer for Harry Baals, Miss Maude Taylor, stenographer in the office of Clifford Matson, and Edward Taylor, connected with the stationery department of the General Electric works, will leave early tomorrow for Chicago, where they will meet their brother, Captain Henry Taylor, and spend two or three hours with him. Captain Taylor resides in California and has been in camp at Berkeley several months with a regiment, which has been summoned to New York, supposedly to embark for France. His Fort Wayne relatives have not seen him for two or three years and will gladly welcome this opportunity to spend a short time with him. The movement of troop trains is not made known in advance and the route this one will take from Chicago is not known to Captain Taylor or his relatives. If it comes through Fort Wayne, his sisters and brothers will endeavor to get permission to ride on it with their brother as far as this city. Captain Taylor was engaged in real estate business in California.

The accounting class was organized with a membership of twenty and A. E. Roberts as teacher. The enrollment of the music class, the basketry class and the Christmas present class was also set in motion, but not completed. Interest is taken in these departments, however, which presages success. After the studies last night the accounting class and the other members of the club enjoyed a social session, including some progressive games in which Miss Verda Horn took first and Miss Georgia Bowers second prizes. The next meeting will be Tuesday evening, November 20.

WILL COME OUT A MAN.

Army Life Will Do It, Says Edward Kruczynski.

"If a man never was a man he should join the army and they'll sure make a man out of him," writes Edward Kruczynski, who is stationed at Camp Shelby, Hattiesburg, Miss., to his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Bracht, of Decatur. "I think the army is all right. I learned to do what I joined. They make a person brace up. I was washing today. Took me about all afternoon to wash a couple shirts and towels, but they weren't half as clean as if mamma would have washed them."

CAMP TAYLOR MEN ARE DIGGING SELVES IN

Fort Wayne Boys at Work in the Trenches—On Elaborate Scale.

Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—They're "digging themselves in" at Camp Zachary Taylor, Tuesday, under the direction of army engineers, the 334th infantry, the Indianapolis regiment commanded by Col. F. L. Knudson, began work on a series of trenches that will be Kentucky duplicates of the fighting works in France. French soldiers, recently arrived in this country, are assisting the Americans in duplicating the most approved styles of European trench construction. It was an interesting picture—Hoosiers digging up Kentucky field under French supervision in order to become effective combatants of Germans and Austrians thousands of miles away. Truly, this is a world war.

The trenchments at Camp Zachary Taylor will be the most comprehensive yet attempted. The big maneuver field west of the cantonment has been set aside for the use of the engineers in their trench experiments, and when the work is completed the fighting men of Camp Taylor will have dug themselves a winter home. They will build underground every form of trench necessary for the hiding away of a vast army. Hospitals, quartermaster stores, kitchens, listening posts, sleeping quarters and fighting trenches will be included in the construction of this subterranean military city. Every soldier at Camp Taylor will get a turn at "digging in," thus to equip himself for rapid work when he gets "over there."

DESIRE VOLUNTEERS FOR RECRUITING CAMPAIGN
Navy Department Needs Machines to Carry on Recruiting Work in Ft. Wayne.

Interest in the naval department is awakening as was evidenced by the great number of applicants the last few days. Nine men applied for enlistment Tuesday and an almost as large number on Monday. The office has received a notice from headquarters calling for 150 third class firemen, the quota of Indiana.

Six members of the Hicksville band enlisted Tuesday as musicians and will be sent away within a few days. Four Italian-Americans enlisted four days ago as laborers in the engineering corps, were also sent away Tuesday.

The call for machines is not being readily answered. Four men have volunteered their services up to this time. It is urgent that the department have machines to push the recruiting drive in the manner that it should be pushed. Therefore anyone having a machine can convey a big favor to the recruiting department and at the same time be performing a patriotic service by calling the office in the postoffice building and arranging for the use of his machine on a certain day.

Had a Quiet Home Wedding, Wednesday.

MR. THEODORE W. MANN.

MRS. THEODORE W. MANN.

Miss Minnie Armstrong Graham, daughter of Mrs. Luella Graham and the late James A. Graham, and Mr. Theodore W. Mann, were married at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by Rev. A. G. Neal, pastor of the First M. E. church at the home of the bride, 710 East Lewis street. Only the immediate relatives of the bride were present.

Miss Luella LaMar, of Chicago, a niece of the bride, played the wedding music from "Lohengrin," as the bride and groom entered the living room where the ring marriage service was read. The fireplace was prettily banked with plants and small ferns and vases of yellow chrysanthemums that expressed the colors of the room's decorations. There were no attendants to the bridal couple. The bride made a very good looking and sweet appearance in a handsome traveling costume of burgundy shade of chiffon velvet. The coat was trimmed with brown marten that bordered the bottom of the coat and formed a stunning collar and cuffs. With this suit the bride wore a white georgette crepe blouse trimmed with genuine fillet lace and a velvet hat to correspond with the suit that was trimmed with a narrow band of fur and a dull silver ornament. The bride wore a corsage of swansons and lilies of the valley tied with pink tulle ribbon. After the bride and groom had received the congratulations of the company a dinner was served. Mrs. Graffe entered and covers were laid for sixteen. The table was trimmed with ruffled linens that formed a rectangular inclosure in the center and inside of which was a grouping of silver and crystal vases that held pink and white carnations. Pink and white were the colors of the diningroom and also of other appointments of the table. Later in the day the bride and groom left for an eastern trip to important cities and will be at home to their many friends after the first of December at 710 East Lewis street. Both bride and groom enjoy an extensive acquaintance and many friends entertain for them the greatest of esteem and admiration. The bride has always lived in Fort Wayne and has always been devoted particularly to her home and its interests. Mr. Mann is a contractor for laying hard-wood floors. His home was formerly in Indianapolis. Guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Adam LaMar and two daughters, of Chicago.

ROYAL WELSH CONCERT COMPANY AT THE MAJESTIC THURSDAY

AMERICA TO OBTAIN VAST NEW TONNAGE

European Neutral Nations and Japan to Furnish Ships for Food.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The United States is about to add several hundred thousand tons of shipping to the stream of ships carrying American troops and supplies to the aid of the allies. Negotiations with the northern European neutral nations and with Japan for tonnage have reached a final stage. The vessels obtained either will go directly into trans-Atlantic or will relieve American ships for this service.

The European neutrals, it is learned, finally have agreed to turn over to the United States and the allies ships in exchange for foodstuffs that only America can supply. The quantities of food to be furnished will be determined later, but the neutrals have the assurance of the American government that they will be given enough to meet their necessary requirements.

Japan will sell outright to the United States a large amount of tonnage now in the Pacific in exchange for the steel ship plates the Japanese are anxious to obtain to complete their merchant ship building program. Only the matter of price the Japanese are to receive for their tonnage remains to be agreed on, and that, it was said tonight, will be worked out immediately.

Negotiations with the Swedish mission were wound up several days ago and all the mission's members, except Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, the chairman, have left Washington to sail for home.

The amount of tonnage the United States is obtaining has not been made known, but there are in American ports now more than 400,000 tons of neutral ships which will be put into some American service. Many of the ships will ply between American ports and South America, each releasing an American or British vessel for service through the war zone.

Lemons Beautify!

Strain lemon juice well before mixing and massage face, neck, arms, hands.

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which can be used to bring back to any skin the sweet freshness of which it has been robbed by trying atmospheric conditions. Windchafe, roughness, tan and redness are warded off and those tell-tale lines of care or of age are softened away.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion, and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself.—Advertisement.

 - Married men, without children, whose wife, although the registrant is engaged in a useful occupation, is not mainly dependent upon his labor for support, for the reason that the wife is skilled in some special class of work which she is physically able to perform and in which she is employed or in which there is an immediate opening for under conditions that will enable her to support herself decently and without suffering or hardship.

Boards Will Aid Registrants.
Legal and medical advisory boards now being organized in every community will aid the registrant in making his answers. He will indicate in what occupations he considers himself expert and from that list it is proposed to create separate groups of men trained in any particular trade or profession and the need arise for them. The questions on the subject of dependents are framed to meet every possible circumstance and to draw out every bit of information that might be of value to the boards in fixing the class to which a man should be assigned. Detail of the status of dependents of possible or actual outside sources of income, has not been overlooked.

Seven days are allowed registrants, after receipt of the questionnaire, to fill out and return it to the local board. Officials here believe that classification by the boards will be a routine process requiring little time.

The registrant, after filling in the inside of his questionnaire indicates on the front the class to which he believes he should be assigned. If the board agrees there is no further action necessary by either party until the individual comes due for military service and is called up for physical examination. If the boards disagree, and places the registrant in another class, the machinery for appeal to the district board is set in motion automatically.

THRILLERS OF BATTLE

about at the camp, showing the scars received in the recent ordeal. They have heavily armored bodies. There is a steel door and for observation purposes two small openings are provided. The two turrets above revolve, the upper one having one quick firer and the lower two.

"Hold to the Death."
The orders were to "hold to the death" the bridges at Saele, Polcegnio, Santa Lucia and San Giovanni until the Bersaglieri and cavalry had crossed. That they succeeded is shown by the fact that all the rear guards made their way over the bridges, that all the bridges were burned and that the section returned leaving only one damaged machine with the enemy, although eighteen of the forty cars were in such crippled condition that it was necessary to abandon them after the bridges were burned.

The machines were divided, ten being stationed at each of the four bridgeheads. After seeing their own rear guards safely across they awaited the approach of the enemy advance guards, even staying in some cases until the cars were surrounded by hostile patrols, which were then mowed down by the batteries of quick-firers.

Kept the Bridge.
At the San Giovanni bridge one car took its station during the night midway across the bridge. Early in the morning it was ordered to surrender by a German car which had been equipped with a machine gun and carried a German captain and two lieutenants. Instead of surrendering, two Italian captains and four gunners suddenly opened the steel door and sprang out with carbines. The German captain and one lieutenant were killed. The other lieutenant and two gunners were captured and brought back. At the Saele bridge the cars had orders to hold for three hours, but they held for thirty-two hours. At Santa Lucia the commander ordered one of his machines to advance against an enemy patrol which was dangerously near. The car was rushed forward, sweeping the enemy and then turned back. It crossed safely and is one of the cars brought back.

The ammunition of another car was exhausted after it had fired 30,000 rounds. Each quick-firer has a capacity of 15,000 shots.

The commanders and his men are receiving congratulations for the effectiveness of their resistance in the face of the enemy and their complete success in bringing the rear guards across and burning the bridges behind them.

Heiny vs. Pike

Mr. L. E. Heiny while at Crooked lake Monday, caught an 8-pound pike. It is said that this catch is the largest one made there in years.

As matter of fact, in landing the prize eight-pounder, it almost required a life saving crew to be on hand for Mr. Heiny's own welfare.

own judgment to a very large extent in carrying out the provisions of the law with reference to administering to the needs of this locality.

3. That the ordinary channels of business should be disturbed as little as possible, and that should be accomplished by inviting the co-operation of railroads, operators, dealers and others concerned.

4. That a violation of the law on the part of administration of fuel not only is contrary to federal statute, but it is giving aid and comfort to the enemy, which will be punished in every respect to the very limit.

Will Punish Violators.
L. Ert Slack, United States attorney, informed the county administrators that the laws dealing with the administration of fuel will be strictly enforced, and that every violator will be punished. It will be the duty of Mr. Slack to report to the United States attorney all violations in Allen county.

Curious About M-L? It Stands for the Best Cold, Cough and Catarrh Medicine Ever Discovered, Which Is Mentho-Laxene

Mentho-Laxene has been on the market seven years. It is a concentrated compound of healing, soothing, curative extracts to be mixed at home with granulated sugar syrup—a full pint—or it may be taken in doses of one teaspoon in the "teaspoon" water by those who do not like sweet syrup.

The very first dose brings wonderful relief in head or chest colds of children or adults. Every bottle sold is guaranteed to please or money back by The Blackburn Products Co., Dayton, Ohio.

It is economy to make a full pint. Much cheaper than buying ready-made cough or cold remedies—besides, you cannot buy a more effective medicine anywhere. of coal to the northwest by way of the Great Lakes. The territory north and northeast of Indianapolis undoubtedly would receive a greater supply of Ohio and Pennsylvania coal. At present, however, a large percentage of the production from those states is being diverted to Toledo, O., and from there it is sent to the northwest by the lakes route.

Mr. Beadell explains that the duty of the fuel administrator is to see that coal is distributed fairly and that the price is maintained according to law, which is based upon business done in 1915.

As one means of meeting serious crises, it is agreed that a more liberal supply shall be one for limit to the supply of coal to any consumer so long as there are any unfilled orders in that community. Other methods of conservation were left to the judgment of the county administrators to work out for themselves.

Sixty-six Cars.
Mr. Beadell stated that sixty-six car loads of coal are in transit to Allen county this week, the largest number of cars assigned to any county, which shows that Mr. Beadell is the right man for the job. Last week there were 120 cars in transit to this county.

Mr. Beadell explained that it is impossible to have a uniformity of prices in Indiana, due to different freight rates and the cost of doing business in different localities.

Mr. Beadell was at Grabbill and Harlan Wednesday. There is a serious shortage at both places.

civilization—of driving forever from existence the greatest world outlaw that history has ever recorded, an empire that has prostituted itself in the worship of brute force, that has hurled to the winds all the ideals of honor, mercy and justice, that has stooped to acts of murderous lusts and that constitutes, until destroyed, a menace to every principle of civilization and even of Christianity itself.

Comparing the German nation to an insane man running amuck in a crowded room, Mr. Beadell said that it was the sense of self-preservation that demanded means to check the destructive course and to restore the safety of a threatened community.

Should Go on Record.
Continuing he said: "I, therefore, believe that this national grange in annual session assembled, as the most representative body of tillers of the soil in the country should put itself squarely and unreservedly on record in support of the American nation, of the American president, of the American people, and of the American cause, in the present emergency, and thorough finish of the job upon which the United States has entered."

"To this end, let us pledge to that nation, to our president and to those soldiers the utmost limit of our energies backed by our acres and the land we have, by our labor and our skill, by all our resources, that those soldiers may be well clothed and fed, and that the awful burden and sacrifice they have been called upon to make be lightened so far as possible."

Urges Prohibition.
National prohibition has always been favored by the grange, he said, and added: "Food dictators are asking that we observe a wheatless and meatless day each week. Why do they not include a beerless day? The grange must be active in the future in the part to drive forever from our fair land the manufacture and sale of all alcoholic beverages."

Will Teach.
The government will do the rest. One of the principal duties of the home demonstrator will be to teach the conservation of the four staples—wheat, meat, sugar and fat—through the substitution of less used foods. Those who have signed the Hoover pledge cards will be taught to intelligently follow them up by demonstrations before groups of women anywhere and in the homes of the city. The work will be taught in the city. The work will be taught in the city. The work will be taught in the city.

as a co-operative fund. South Bend has raised the same amount. It is now up to Fort Wayne women to get busy for the war quicker than food conservation.

are falling on the American side of the Rio Grande.

Firing on the Mexican side continued until daylight. Then a machine gun from the Ojinaga garrison fired on the Mexicans. Bullets continued to fall on the American side of the river nearest Ojinaga. Refugees from Ojinaga started coming across to the United States and reported the fighting was outside of town. The attack apparently was against the main camp of General Espinoza y Cordova, one and a half miles southwest of Ojinaga.

Ojinaga, Mexico, Nov. 14.—After two hours of fighting early today, Francisco Villa's troops were driven away from this town by the Mexican government forces under General Juan Espinoza Cordova. This was officially announced at the military headquarters.

KERENSKY PUTS DOWN THE REDS IN THE CAPITAL

Stockholm at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Premier Kerensky defeated the Bolsheviks at Tsarskoe-Selo. The official reports are reported to have destroyed the Red guard. The telegraph lines are now in Mr. Kerensky's hands, the telegram bureau reports.

The Finnish telegram bureau says Moscow is the headquarters of the provisional government, that five or six Kerensky has issued orders from Moscow which have appeared in the Petrograd papers.

The anti-Bolshevik papers of Petrograd, as well as the Helsingfors newspapers, have headlines announcing that the Bolshevik movement is nearing its downfall.

Gen. Kaledines, the Cossack leader, it is said, is to be dictator of southern Russia. The orders of the provisional government are signed by Mr. Kerensky, Gen. Kaledines and Gen. Korniloff.

A Russian wireless dispatch says no official report from army headquarters has been issued today.

Travelers arriving from Petrograd, the Finnish telegram bureau reports, say that when they left the capital there was fighting in the streets between the Bolsheviks and the population. The Petrograd garrison was reported to be deserting the Bolsheviks and the allied embassies were said to have got into touch with Premier Kerensky. The people of Petrograd, the travelers said, were turning down the Bolshevik proclamations and hooting their leaders on the street.

The provisional Russian government referred to in the foregoing is the government of Premier Kerensky, which the Bolsheviks attempted to overthrow. For the last three days reports have been coming in from Scandinavian sources of the defeat of the Bolsheviks, but they have been contradicted by wireless dispatches from Petrograd. This is the third time that an account has been received of a battle at Tsarskoe-Selo, a Kerensky victory having been reported twice and a Bolshevik victory on the other occasion.

The Finnish telegram bureau's advances so closely parallel the dispatches received on Sunday and Monday asserting that Premier Kerensky had overthrown the Bolsheviks as to suggest that they may be a delayed version of the same reports which were contradicted by the announcement received yesterday from Petrograd that the Kerensky forces had been defeated in a battle near Tsarskoe-Selo.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY'S WAR NEWS

ates fighting is going on amid snow covered hills, conditions which work to the advantage of the defenders. The important progress claimed for the Austro-German forces appears to have been in the Sugana valley, where the occupation of Primolona and the capture of a fortified position on Monte Lissar is announced in the German statement. Further to the east to the Italian line seems to be yielding somewhat as if a limited withdrawal were taking place in line-straightening process, with constant resistance being offered during the operation. Thus the occupation of Feltr, just to the west of the upper Piave river, at which the enemy has been battering since Sunday is reported today by the German staff.

Failure of the German war office to mention the operation on the lower Piave, in which Rome yesterday reported the Austro-German forces to indicate that no permanent foothold on the west bank of the river was won by the Austro-German forces. The Italian artillery did effective work in countering this move, the reports indicate, while the infantry completed the discomfiture of the enemy by driving the units which had succeeded in escaping the concentrated shell fire.

The fighting in the region about Asiago and between there and Monte Cimone is very bitter. The Austro-Germans attacked in force and gained some defenses only to be thrown back by the force of the Italian counter attacks. Berlin says Mont Longara has been captured but Rome reports officially that the position here has been held against Tueton efforts. At Canova, west of Asiago, an Italian counter thrust repelled the invaders and resulted in the liberation of Italian prisoners.

their lines. The Italians have occupied their new positions in this region and the Austro-Germans are in contact with them.

The crossing of the Piave near Zenon may develop a more serious menace to the Piave line than the attempts in the Asiago region. The invaders tried to advance from the bridge head they established but were driven back to the river bank by the Italians. Further Tueton attempts to debouch may be expected and unless the Italian defense continued strong the Piave position may become weakened it will have to be given up.

Contradictory assertions on the situation in and around Petrograd have not been cleared up. It is apparent, however, that the Bolsheviks still maintain their control in Petrograd. Confirmation of Bolshevik reports that Premier Kerensky and Gen. Korniloff were defeated by the revolutionary forces and forced to flee, is still lacking. The same is true of reports from Scandinavia that Kerensky and Korniloff defeated the extremists and entered Petrograd.

American army aviators have joined the British and French airmen in their activities on the front in France. Americans have participated in bombing raids on German positions and also are on observation duty. Thus far there has been no aerial fighting of importance and the Americans have suffered no casualties.

The Finnish cabinet, which took office but two months ago, has resigned and France again has to face a ministerial crisis. The resignation of the ministry was caused by its defeat in the chamber of deputies after a debate on the new allied war council when the entire cabinet had defended. The cabinet, which also has had to contend with the dissensions caused by the Bolo Fasha affair and other internal matters. Its fall probably was hastened somewhat by the withdrawal of Foreign Minister Ribot on Oct. 23 when the entire cabinet resigned but was prevented from resigning by President Poincare.

PRESIDENT WILSON AND BROTHERHOOD CHIEFS WILL MEET

ment which will postpone any disruption of its transportation systems until after the war.

The President's Letter.
The following letter from President Wilson to Judge Chambers expresses the president's attitude toward the situation:

"My Dear Judge Chambers: May I not express my very deep and serious interest in your efforts to bring the railroad executives and the brotherhoods engaged in train operation to an agreement that there shall be no interruptions in their relations on either side until every opportunity afforded the United States for the maintenance and conciliation to bring about, if possible, an amicable agreement and that in the event of a failure to bring about such an agreement any controversy that may have arisen will be submitted to arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Newlands law."

"I take it for granted that your efforts will succeed because it is inconceivable to me that patriotic men should now for a moment contemplate the interruption of the transportation which is so absolutely necessary to the safety of the nation and to its success in war as well as to its own industrial life. But I want, nevertheless, to express my deep personal interest in the matter and to wish you goodspeed."

"The last thing I should wish to contemplate would be the possibility of being obliged to take any unusual measures to operate the railroads, and I have so much confidence in the men you are dealing with will appreciate the patriotic motives underlying your efforts that I shall look forward with assurance to your success."

Cordially and sincerely yours,
(Signed) WOODROW WILSON.

Memorandum by "Judge Chambers issued this memorandum:

"As a result of the efforts of the board of mediation to bring the railroad executives and the brotherhoods engaged in train operation to an agreement that there shall be no interruption in their relations on either side until ample opportunity shall have been afforded the United States board of mediation and conciliation to bring about, if possible, an amicable agreement and that in the event of a failure to bring about such an agreement any controversy that may have arisen will be submitted to arbitration in accordance with the provisions of the Newlands law. Commissioner Chambers has held conferences with leading railroad officials and chief executives of the brotherhoods."

"At a conference at Cleveland, O., on Thursday, last, between Judge Chambers and Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; W. S. Carter, president Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers; Lee Shepard, first vice president of Railroad Conductors, and W. G. Lee, president Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, it is understood certain substantial agreements were reached. Judge Chambers declined to state what these results were, but the rumor is that the executives of the labor organizations agreed to the mediation of the wage features of the proposal and it is inferred that the conference with the railroad officials and chief executives of the brotherhoods, will have reference to the arbitration features of the proposed agreement."

"It is understood that these labor leaders are unwilling to commit their organizations unconditionally to arbitration, but that at the white house conference on the 22nd the executive will be ready to discuss with the president some plan by which it is hoped an adjustment will be reached which will at least for the duration of the war prevent any interruption of railroad transportation."

"Judge Chambers did not feel authorized to say what subjects would be discussed at the conference and declined even to intimate what results were anticipated. He regards the conference as involving a most serious situation as the transportation problem is perhaps the most important one connected with the successful prosecution of the war measures of the administration. THE MARKETS CORN AGAIN WEAKENS WITH STOCK MARKET

Prices on Chicago Board Go Down on News of Wall Street.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Decided setbacks took place in the price of corn today owing chiefly to weakness in the New York stock market. Opening prices, which ranged from 3/4c to 1 1/4c lower, with December $1.20 and May $1.15 1/2c, were followed by material further breaks.

Government orders for the prompt movement of more than 30,000 cars into the west to protect federal requirements for fuel had a bearish influence on oats. Provisions, although firm at the outset, gave way later with grain.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS
DEPRESS TRADING
Wall Street Market Shows Heaviness on News from Europe.

New York, Nov. 14.—Foreign affairs again accounted for the heaviness of the stock market at the opening of today's trading, the resignation of the French ministry inducing moderate selling. United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Canadian Pacific, Marine preferred, Anaconda Copper, Baldwin Locomotive, Central Leather and Mexican Petroleum were included among the active shares that forfeited one to almost two points and the general list yielded material fractions.

Liberty 4s sold at 99 1/2 and the 3 1/2s at 99 1/2, made fresh minimums.

Prices continued to recede during the morning as heavy list offerings, U. S. Steel extended its decline to 90 and other leaders added to early losses. Canadian Pacific at 130 1/2, was at its lowest in more than ten years. Sentiment was further depressed by the steady fall in Liberty bonds. The fours recorded a new minimum of their decline from 98.80 to 98.35, the 3 1/2s breaking to lower ground at 98.25 to 99.10.

It is understood has agreed to the mediation and arbitration proposals as a whole and it is believed that that is the attitude of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers. The proposals to be submitted the conference committee of the managers of railroads and it is anticipated the railway executives will agree to both mediation and arbitration."

How to Reduce Cost of Living

When butter sells at over 60 cents a pound, flour at $12 a barrel, and other foodstuffs in proportion, any hint to reduce the cost of living should be welcome. The great trouble is that rats and mice destroy many dollars worth of food a month. Exterminate these pests with Stearns Paste, which has been used with great success by the local authorities to kill rats. A small box, costing only a few cents, will keep you free of rats and mice. It is a family of rats and mice in a single day.

PASTORAL CONFERENCE HELD IN NEW HAVEN

Ministers of Missouri Lutheran Synod of Northern Indiana Meet.

New Haven, Ind., Nov. 14.—The Northern Indiana Pastoral Conference, comprising the pastors of the Lutheran Missouri synod of northern Indiana and northwestern Ohio, convened here Tuesday morning for a three days' session. It was called to order by the president, Rev. H. Jungkuntz, of Columbia City, Ind. After a brief devotional service the secretary, Rev. H. B. Kohlmeier, of this place called the roll. Of the ninety members of the conference, seventy were found to be present.

After organization the chairman informed the conference what papers would be presented and made mention of such other business as would claim the attention of the meeting. The first half of the morning session was devoted to an exhortation by Rev. W. George, of Woodburn, Ind. The essayist's paper showed deep study and received favorable comment from various members of the conference. In the second part of the forenoon session Rev. C. W. Baer, of Valparaiso, spoke very interestingly on "Church Publicity." Rev. Baer's talk was well received, and the first part of the afternoon session was given over to its further discussion. All the remarks evoked in the course of the discussion emphasized the great importance of advertising the gospel and of using every proper means of bringing the greatest possible number of people under the influence of the church and its message.

Rev. Ph. Wambganss, of Fort Wayne, forcibly presented the claims of the Fort Wayne Lutheran hospital, and Rev. Aug. Lange informed the conference of the fact that by request of the national government the hospital had enlarged the capacity of its school for nurses and that compliance with this request had necessitated a considerable expense. He asked the brethren to solicit the aid of their congregations in helping the hospital association to defray the expense caused by this necessary improvement.

President M. Luecke, of Concordia college, gave the conference the surprising but most encouraging information that the institution could boast of an increased enrollment despite the war. He bespoke for the college the further good will of the congregations in whose midst it is located. Rev. P. G. Schmidt, of Lafayette, presented a plan which has the purpose of increasing the funds of the synodical treasury. This plan, whose essential feature is that of making a special annual drive for this fund on Easter Sunday and the week following, was enthusiastically supported by Rev. J. W. Miller and others, and the conference unanimously concluded to submit this plan to the president of the synod after a committee, to be appointed by the chair, had worked out the necessary details. It is expected that the adoption of this plan will give the synodical treasury an annual increase of several hundred thousand dollars.

The conference service was held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. F. W. Hosmann, of Huntington, delivered the confessional address and Rev. A. W. Hinz presided. All the pastors present partook of holy communion. Teacher H. L. Bode, of the local parish school, presided at the organ.

Today's session promises to be one of interest, and a number of pastors who were absent Tuesday were expected to be present.

MAY FORM CASUALTY COMPANY.
A movement to form a casualty company in the Fort Wayne Builders' association will be discussed at a special meeting Wednesday evening in the hall at 1010 Calhoun street. Such a company was proposed at a get-together meeting Tuesday evening in the same hall, following addresses by O. C. Holt, of the Chicago exchange, Lee J. Ninde, E. H. Puckett and others of this city. At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and a luncheon was served to the 150 members present.

Pennsy Man Buys in Country Club Gardens

Country Club Gardens present an irresistible appeal to all of those who have seen the many advantages presented by this new suburban development of the City & Suburban Building Co., located just west of the Country club. The splendid features incorporated give, to the person employed in the city, all of the advantages and comforts of modern country life, with a quick connection with the city and their work. Max and Golda M. Hornig, 242 E. Williams street, the former employed by the Pennsylvania company as an engineer, have just bought a lot in the Gardens and expect to build there. The sale was made for the City & Suburban Building Co. by L. L. Bart.

FINAL PLANS MADE FOR Y. M. C. A. DRIVE

Vigilance Committee Named at Garrett to Prevent Disloyalty.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Garrett, Ind., Nov. 14.—At the meeting held in the city hall Monday evening for the purpose of making the final plans for the Y. M. C. A. drive thirty-five men were present. It was one of the most enthusiastic meetings held here for some time and each man was not only ready but anxious to get busy with his share of the work. The list of names were given out quickly and every man was interested in getting things arranged systematically so that it will take but a short time to make the canvass. Many important things were discussed and among them was "what shall be done with the men who are talking against the Y. M. C. A. and the government?" This was thoroughly discussed and finally settled. Heretofore "standing on the corner didn't mean any harm" but watch your step now, for, whenever a crowd is seen talking to man that is known as a "knocker" there will be someone near to hear what is said and he will be waited upon by the Garrett vigilance committee. Several of these so-called men have been going about the streets and whenever possible would get several men together and air their views of the important questions of the day. Quite a number of names have already been given of men who have been playing traitor to the flag under whose protection they seem to enjoy living. From now on they will be watched closely and if it continues they will learn what patriotic citizens can do. The vigilance committee consists of Attorney Howard W. Mountz, Carl Heinzelring, Dr. John Thomson, Dr. H. W. Stephenson and Charles Addington.

Patriotic Meeting.
The patriotic meeting held in the city hall Tuesday evening at which a special representative of Daniel M. Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio system presided, was attended by one of the biggest crowds that has been present at any of the meetings in the last month. The assembly room was packed and people were crowded into the hall and stairway. The program consisted of a patriotic talk illustrated with moving pictures, which gave one an idea of what the horrors of war really are. Mr. Wood tried to impress the people of how we can help to win the war here in our own homes and many good points were brought out. The pictures were shown at the noon hour at the boiler shops of the Baltimore and Ohio, in this city, and many of the employees were present to enjoy them.

Joint Meeting.
The I-Yo-Ki-Hi and Hiawatha Camp Fire girls held a joint meeting at the city library Tuesday evening. The former camp are spending their spare time knitting for the soldiers and are buying their yarns from their own treasury. The Hiawatha girls will begin this week to make "baby kits." These will contain a complete outfit for the newborn babe and will be sent to France, where such articles are so badly needed. These two camps donated $5 to the Y. M. C. A. fund. They have secured rooms in the city hall and will furnish them this week and will then do their sewing at their own headquarters. The Pochontas Camp Fire shipped their Christmas gifts to the Garrett boys in France Monday. These girls are knitting for the soldier boys also and have already shipped a number of completed articles to the boys they have adopted. The Wololo camp, who are younger girls, are busy knitting and making pillows for the soldiers. A part of the camp fire law is to "Give Service" and every camp fire girl in Garrett is endeavoring to live up to this.

Liberty Gardens Are Best Ever

Liberty Garden, the latest suburban addition of the Rastetter Real Estate agency, has numerous distinctive features that make it stand out among others as unquestionably the best of its kind. It lays just south of the city limits and only two miles from the city car line on the Bluffton paved road and at the intersection of the Leary Huntington road. The location cannot be surpassed.

Every person who has seen the soil instantly says that he never saw better quality of sand loam. Farmers who live in the vicinity all say the soil is exceptionally fine.

The nearness of the city, paved road, new school, church, interurban (2 stops) close by, graveled streets, the city growing in this direction very rapidly means that values in the near future will be very greatly increased. These advantages alone assure anyone that Liberty Gardens are absolutely safe for an investment, as well as a beautiful community as live in.

PIAVE RIVER LINE OF DEFENSE READY TO RECEIVE ATTACK

Defensive Tactics Mark the Work of Italians and Invaders Have Brought Up Big Guns.

AT MUCH PAINS TO PROTECT VENICE

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Monday, Nov. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—A heavy and continuous bombardment is proceeding along the lower Piave river, marking the opening stages of extensive operations on this new line.

Whether a general engagement is imminent depends largely upon the enemy, as the Italians are now entrenched behind the river and fighting defensive tactics with the stream and their established forces checking the further extension of the Austro-German offensive.

The engagements thus far have consisted of episodes at detached points, although the shelling extends almost uninterruptedly for forty miles along the lower Piave. The crash of some enemy heavy guns is now heard showing that the Austrians and Germans have been able to bring up a few of these monster pieces. No longer is a secret made of the fact that the Piave is the line of defense to which the supreme command has been bending its energies for the past ten days. The upper end of this line joins the Trentino front, making virtually one unified front sweeping in

AMERICANS ARE SHOWING CLASS IN PATROL WORK

With the American Army in France, Monday, Nov. 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—American soldiers are rapidly becoming expert at patrol work and their officers say they carry on in Man's Land as if they had been at it for years. This is explained partly by the fact that activity in No Man's Land along the sector held by the Americans virtually is open warfare, Washington, Nov. 12.—General rules and regulations governing all licensed manufacturing food products under the president's proclamation requiring every baker except those using less than ten barrels of flour and meal monthly to take out a government license by Dec. 10 were announced by the food administration today.

Both proclamation and regulations seek to standardize bread-making, eliminate waste and confusing sizes, force prices down, and otherwise help consumers generally.

Even hotels, clubs and other public eating places that serve bakery products of their own making must take out licenses if they exceed the ten-barrel limit, and a penalty for doing business without a license—$5,000 fine, two years imprisonment, or both—is provided.

Bakers' licenses must keep products moving to the consumer in as direct line as practical and without unreasonable delay.

BEADELL TO INDIANAPOLIS

County Fuel Director Attends Conference With State Administrator.

CAN BUY BUT ONE TON AT A TIME
Order is Sent in for Fifty Six Tons of Coal at Once.

Henry Beadell, fuel administrator for Allen county, is in Indianapolis, Tuesday, attending a conference of county administrators from all over the state, with Evans Woolen, state administrator.

E. I. Lewis, chairman of the state public service commission, and L. Ert Slack, district attorney, were scheduled to address the administrators, followed by Mr. Woolen and others of his office answering questions.

The conference is intended to be an information-gathering meeting for the county men.

Allen county has asked for fifty-six tons of coal at once. The calls for relief for coal for the week by other counties in north-eastern Indiana follows: Adams, 8; Elkhart, 5; Jay, 13; Kosciusko, 1; Lagrange, 6; Noble, 17; Wabash, 11; Wells, 11; Whitley, 3.

Orders have been received by Mr. Beadell authorizing him to fix retail prices subject to the approval of the state administrator, with the dealers' right of appeal to the national administrator. Whenever a controversy regarding retail prices arises, Mr. Woolen will send a federal agent into the community to investigate the price and conditions before approving any prices recommended by the county fuel administrator.

Pending his approval, however, such retail prices agreed on by the county director and his advisers will be permitted to stand.

Mr. Beadell reports that he is having some difficulty with a few dealers who refuse to deliver orders of last spring and for which the money has been paid. The price is much higher than last spring. The dealers will be compelled to refund the money.

That no person will be allowed to buy more than one ton at a time during the shortage is one of the plans that Mr. Beadell is now working out to relieve the situation here.

SHELL SHOCK THREE TIMES

American in Trenches at Time of Raid Tells of His Experience.

EXPLOSION AFTER EXPLOSION COMES Americans Are Standing Up
Well Under Actual War Conditions.

With the American Army in France, Monday, Nov. 12.—The lieutenant who was knocked down three times by shell fire during the recent German raid in the American sector, today described his experiences to the Associated Press. His face is covered with scratches from flying gravel.

"When the firing began, I started back to the trench," he said. "The first thing I knew there was a crash. I seemed to see sparks shooting from all over my body. I started to crawl and it seemed ages before my face hit the mud at the bottom of the trench. The same thing happened again a minute later. Then I picked myself up and started in another direction. A corporal and two men joined me."

"A shell burst a few feet from us on the parapet. I lost consciousness. When I came to I was black and green. I had lost my 'shrapnel' helmet, but, feeling around with my hands, I found one by the head of a man who was lying near me. I put it on and started away, stumbling over the body of the man, who was a corporal."

"I went on and gathered some men. We spread ourselves out expecting a heavy attack. As a matter of fact, I found out later that the raid was over and that the grenades we saw were being thrown by retreating Germans."

Are Standing It Well.
It is the opinion of all the officers that the troops are bearing up excellently under their first experiences in the trenches. All are learning how to conduct themselves under fire and also that shell fire, even when intense, is not as dangerous as it sounds.

So much shrapnel has fallen since the battalions of the second contingent in the trenches have taken their post, that the men have ceased to worry about it, hardly paying any more attention to it than to rain. The commander of one battalion said that since the men had entered the trenches mumps has caused more of them to go to the hospital than has the enemy's fire. The firing in this battalion's sector has been rather more intense than is usual for several nights.

A heavy shell fell in a machine gun ammunition dump and exploded thirty boxes, bullets flying in all directions. The men nearby threw themselves on the ground and no one was hurt.

ANARCHISTS IN PETROGRAD SAY PREMIER LOSES

Report Is That Kerensky and Korniloff Forces Were Whipped in Battle Near Capital.

OTHER REPORT OF CONTRARY TENOR

London, Nov. 13.—The complete defeat of Premier Kerensky and General Korniloff is announced in a Russian communication received here by wireless. The announcement follows:

"Yesterday after bitter fighting, near Tsarsko-Selo the revolutionary army completely defeated the counter-revolutionary forces of Kerensky and Korniloff. In the name of the revolutionary government, I order opposition to all enemies of the revolutionary democracy, and the taking of all measures necessary to effect the capture of Kerensky."

"I also forbid similar adventures which are endangering the success of the revolution and the triumph of the revolutionary army."

(Signed) "MURATIEFF"
"Commander in chief of the forces acting against Kerensky."

RATHER WILD REPORT.

London, Nov. 13.—A dispatch from the Copenhagen correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company says that travelers arriving in Haparanda, Sweden, from Russia, confirm the report that Premier Kerensky has gained a complete victory over the Bolsheviki. It is said the premier, Gen. Kaledines and Gen. Korniloff, have formed a triumvirate in Petrograd where all the troops now side with M. Kerensky. It is reported Nikolai Lenine had been captured.

The authenticity of these advices is open to question in view of the fact that no such developments are reported in dispatches filed in Petrograd as late as 7 o'clock yesterday morning.

KORNILOFF ENTERS.

Stockholm, Nov. 13.—General Korniloff has entered Petrograd where the entire garrison, except the sailors, went over to his side, according to a Petrograd dispatch to the Social Demokraten under Monday's date.

SAYS KERENSKY CONTROLS.

Copenhagen, Nov. 13.—Premier Kerensky's troops are in control of part of Petrograd, especially the Nevsky prospect, according to a telegram received by the Stockholm News Agency and forwarded to Copenhagen. The Bolsheviki are said to have taken refuge in the Smolny institute.

DESPERATE STREET BATTLE.

Petrograd, Monday, Nov. 12.—(2:30 p. m.)—Petrograd was still in the hands of the Bolsheviki today after desperate street battles on Sunday in which a handful of brave military cadets were killed or captured by Bolsheviki forces, upon whom the cadets inflicted considerable losses.

Meanwhile the city awaits anxiously the coming of Premier Kerensky who is reported to be nearing Petrograd, but seems to have his headquarters at Gatchina.

Hard Time for Rebel Rulers.

The new Bolsheviki government, headed by Nikolai Lenine and Leon Trotsky, is having anything but an easy time in controlling the city, which includes all the elements opposing them is seeking to establish a new socialist government. They continue to placard the streets with demands that the Bolsheviki "realize their folly and consent to lay down their arms and await the coming of Kerensky."

Most of the ministers of the Kerensky cabinet who were captured after the eight-hour battle near the winter palace last Wednesday night have been released from the fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul. M. Terestchenko and A. I. Konvaloff are still behind the prison walls as are the military cadets captured in the battle at the telephone exchange on Sunday.

LOUIS PFLEGER TAKEN TO CHICAGO FOR TRIAL

Would Be Wife Slayer Is Confident of His Release.

"I'm not worrying," said Louis Pfeleger a few moments before starting on his return trip to Chicago in the custody of Sergeant Cudmore, of the Chicago detective force. "My wife will recover and I will go free," he added as an explanation. When asked if his company was going to back him in the trial he stated that he did not think so, but that wasn't necessary as he had many influential friends in Chicago.

Pfeleger is evidently a lover of publicity for during his stay at the county jail his principal request was for papers bearing details of his exploit. Pfeleger was taken to the railroad station in the police patrol and left Fort Wayne at 12:40 p. m. He was given an unusual degree of freedom.

THANKSGIVING FOR SAMMY IS NOW ON GROUND

With the American Army in France, Monday, Nov. 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—A large shipment of turkeys, mince meat, cranberries, nuts, raisins, oranges and sweet potatoes for the Thanksgiving dinner for the American soldiers has arrived in France. It will be distributed among the various instruction centers and villages where the troops are billeted. Other shipments will follow.

Summary of the Day's War News

Powerful efforts are being exerted by the Austro-German invaders of northern Italy to pierce the Italian front in the eastern Trentino and by breaking forward to the plains from the Sugana valley outlook the Italian line on the lower Piave, protecting Venice.

Italy's official report today claims some successes for the Teutonic armies in this attempt. They took Mont Longara, northeast of Asiago, and further to the northeast made headway between the Sugana and Cison valleys storming defensive works in this area. The fighting her obviously is of a desperate nature and the Italian forces have shown themselves in a mood of determined resistance. In the Asiago area last Saturday for instance, two peaks in the same defensive zone as Mont Longara were captured by the invaders, but afterwards were retaken by the Italians in resolute counter attacks.

Between the Cison and the upper Piave valleys the Italian line is straightening out to virtually an even line for the connecting link between the Piave and Trentino forts. It is apparently in this process that the town of Fossato, about five miles west of Feltrino, which was reported Sunday occupied by the Teutons, and equal distance

GOOD RECORD MADE HERE

Much Credit Due to Business Management of City Controllers.

FINANCES ARE IN SPLENDID SHAPE

State Accountant's Report Shows Balance of $480,712.17 in Treasury.

"Through the good business management of the city controllers of re-investing the pre-payments on the Barrett law improvements in bonds, Fort Wayne had at the close of the year 1916 a surplus of $12,844.46 in this part of the city government, something very few, if any, city in Indiana can boast of," declared James P. Haefling, of Decatur, a state accountant, who has just completed a thorough and exhaustive auditing of the city's financial record for 1916.

Mr. Haefling and C. A. Ramsey, of Muncie, began the auditing of the city books two months and a half ago, but soon after beginning work Mr. Ramsey was called to Washington, Ind., to assist on some work there, leaving Mr. Haefling to complete the job alone.

The report is one of the most complete, most accurate and at the same time the latest that has ever been made here, and will be of inestimable value to city officials as well as to any citizen desirous of knowing how the city affairs are conducted.

"The average citizen has no idea of the tremendous volume of business that is transacted by their city officials," Mr. Haefling declared. "Fort Wayne is certainly the second city in the state when it comes to doing business."

Balance of $480,712.17

At the beginning of 1916 there was a total of $420,332.25 in the city treasury. Receipts for the year amounted to $1,396,526.37; disbursements, $1,336,146.45, leaving a balance of $480,712.17.

NEGRO AND A GUN CAUSE A STAMPEDE

Art Morgan Flourishes Knife and Revolver at Melita Street House.

Art Morgan is a bad negro. He was arrested late Friday evening on Melita street after he had threatened to blow the head off of his landlady. The testimony of the landlady, her daughters and two boarders showed that Morgan tried his best to accomplish his threat, but Morgan gave a rather fanciful story about another one of his race for whom the lead bullet was intended. Judge Kerr ordered the gun and a wicked looking banana knife destroyed and sentenced Morgan to fifteen days on the county roads and fined him $35 and costs. His sentence was extremely light because none of the witnesses could testify that he was pointing the gun, all declaring that they were too scared to look.

Steals Coat.

Reymas Lucusom, a pretty little 16-year-old girl, was arrested by Detective Sergeant Pappert on a charge of larceny. A coat and pocketbook that had been stolen were found in her room. The girl had been working at the Holman street lamp works and had taken various articles from her fellow employees. Among these was the coat belonging to Marcella Klorén. She was bound over to the juvenile court.

Alvin in Again.

Alvin Genard was in court on a drunk charge Saturday morning. The offense is not the first by any means, but she was let go upon her promise to be good. Joe Hart and Matt Torrent, both drunks, were given $1 and costs and $5 and costs, respectively.

Didn't Like Caller.

Eugene Barrand didn't like his daughter's young man and told her so. The daughter objected to having the young man made aware of the fact and grew peevish when her father held open the door for him. As a result Barrand started a general housewrecking just to show who was boss. Officer Fred Fry settled the argument by taking the man to the station. He had cut his head so badly in the melee that it was necessary to give him medical attention. Judge Kerr decided that the fellow had had punishment enough and continued the case indefinitely.

Violates Ordinance.

H. J. Bowerford violated a city ordinance when he stopped his car within the danger zone of the fire plug at the corner of Berry and Barr streets. His machine was pushed to the police station and Bowerford was ordered to appear. It developed that he was inside of the limits by a very small margin and was therefore let go with a warning.

Hively's overman, Daniel Bennett, Philip Oberkiser and G. F. Osborne were in charge of the sections working along the track. FOUR GENERATIONS ARE REPRESENTED IN THIS PICTURE

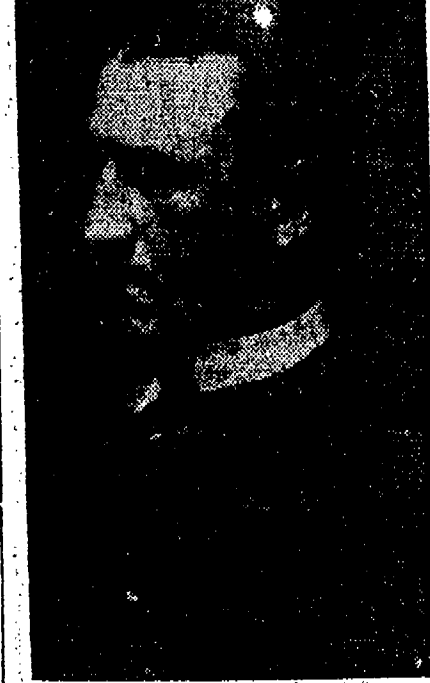

The accompanying picture represents four generations of the P. L. Hall family. The personnel of the group is as follows: P. L. Hall, eighty-three years old; J. E. Hall, fifty-four years old; A. R. Hall, sr., twenty-three years old, and A. R. Hall, jr., five months old. The photograph was taken here a short time ago, when P. L. Hall, the head of the family, who resides in Pittsburg, was visiting his son, J. E. Hall, of 2827 South Harrison street. After a two months' visit here, the aged gentleman went to Denver, Colo., making the trip alone, and spent a few weeks with another son, Alvin R. Hall, who is prominently connected with an industrial concern. This week Mr. Hall, sr., is up in Westmoreland county, Pa., shooting rabbits, a somewhat strenuous sport supposed to be confined to a much younger class. In fact, he is one of the most vigorous men of his age in the country. J. E. Hall, the grandfather, and A. R. Hall, the father of Alvin R. Hall, jr., are employed at the General Electric works, the former in the production department, and the latter in a clerical position in the main office. J. E. Hall is one of the veteran employees of the big concern, his services dating from December 17, 1889, when he took a clerical position in the Pittsburg office. The company was then the Fort Wayne Electric company, of which R. T. McDonald was the head and practically the sole proprietor. Later Mr. Hall entered the sales department, and in 1898 was appointed manager of the Pittsburg office, remaining in charge there until May, 1906, when he was transferred to the Indiana territory, where he had charge of the entire sales in the state. In 1914 he became connected with the production department, of which H. E. Stocker is the head. He has obtained a six months' leave of absence and will leave next week for Denver, Colo., where he will assume the office of assistant manager of the Capital Electric company, one of the important industries of that city. Mr. Hall has always been prominent in the social and educational organizations at the General Electric works. He is a member of the Quarter Century club and of the Electro-Technic club, and always took a prominent part in the activities of those organizations. He has also been active in Masonic bodies, and takes great interest in all movements for the advancement of the order.

LOCAL OFFICER ON ILL-FATED ALGEDO

Thought That Com. Frederick M. Freeman Was Saved if He Was Aboard Ship.

The Algedo, which torpedoed by a German U-boat and was sunk, while on duty in European water, on Nov. 6, was used as the flag boat of a small squadron of submarine chasers, commanded by Commander Frederick M. Freeman, U. S. N., brother of Henry E. Freeman and Mrs. William Hahn, of Fort Wayne. In the casualty list, which consisted of twenty-one names, one officer and twenty sailors losing their lives, the name of the local officer did not appear. The duties of the commanding officer were such he might have been on shore duty. Friends are anxiously awaiting news of his safety.

Frederick M. Freeman, the Fort Wayne officer of the ill-fated ship was born in this city in 1875 and was educated in the Fort Wayne schools. He entered the United States navy academy at Annapolis in 1891 and graduated four years later. During the Spanish-American war he saw active duty aboard the U. S. S. Connecticut. Promotion came quickly to the young officer and last summer he was made a commander and was assigned to service in foreign waters during the great world war. He is rated as a first-class officer and on his visit to Fort Wayne last July hinted at his dangerous duties aboard his fleet of "sub chasers."

PFLIEGER IS WORRIED OVER WIFE'S CONDITION

Louis J. Pflieger, the man held without bail for shooting his wife with attempt to kill at Chicago, is growing very restless in his cell at the county jail. His principal fear seems to be that his wife die. Although he has not asked for an attorney he is planning his defense when put on trial in Chicago. His first request in the morning and his last in the evening is for city papers. Although he still insists that he is glad that he shot his wife, he earnestly hopes that she will recover. No word as to the woman's condition has been received today, but the last report stated that she was in a critical condition. Officials from Chicago to take Pflieger back are expected Monday.

CLARENCE ROSSELOT ARRIVES IN ENGLAND

Writes a Letter to His Parents Telling of His Ocean Trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis F. Rosset, residing on rural route No. 1 out of Fort Wayne, are in receipt of a letter from their son, Clarence L. Rosset, telling of his safe arrival in England. Clarence is a member of the medical corps and enlisted on July 25. His letter is as follows:

"I arrived here this morning and have been having a fine trip. We left New York Wednesday evening, October 3 and anchored in the harbor of Halifax on Friday afternoon. Left there Saturday afternoon with a fleet of nine other boats, one a cruiser and the rest freighters and passenger boats. "We had very rough weather from Thursday until Saturday. A good many of the boys were seasick, but I felt fine all the time and really enjoyed the trip. Eight destroyers met us Tuesday evening and then our ships with two destroyers left the other boats and we landed at — at noon, Wednesday. We took a train there at 5 p. m. and got off at South Hampton at 2 a. m. Thursday. From there we walked out to the camp about two miles and got there about 4 o'clock. There were 1,200 soldiers, officers and Red Cross nurses on the boat. "I am feeling fine and hope the same of all of you."

MANY DEALERS REFUSE TO ADVANCE THE PRICE

Situation Serious for Those Who Have Nothing to Sell But Tobacco.

Fort Wayne tobacco dealers are finding it difficult to put into effect the advanced prices in order that they may be able to meet the added cost, as well as the government war tax.

The trouble lies with many of the drug stores and saloons, where the old prices prevail. Many of them positively refuse to raise, not that the advance prices are not justified, but they are willing to sell tobacco and cigars without much profit with the hope of selling such customers their other wares.

However, the dealer who has nothing else to sell but tobacco and cigars is hard hit. He is unable to cope with such competition. Wholesale dealers are also helpless to remedy the situation. Even if they refuse to sell their tobaccos and cigars to dealers who refuse to increase the price, it is very easy for them to buy their goods through an out of town dealer, which in a number of cases is being done.

Everybody is invited to attend the institute and the free exhibit.

RETURNS TO S. F. BOWSER & COMPANY

E. J. Little Will Have Charge of the New York Office.

E. J. Little is again to be prominently connected with the business interests of S. F. Bowser & Co., having accepted the position of eastern representative with headquarters in New York. He was with the company ten years prior to January last, when he resigned to take a position with the Wildwood Builders. He was assigned to the position he now takes with S. F. Bowser & Co. over a year ago, but on account of failing health he resigned and went with the Wildwood Builders because he did not care to move from Fort Wayne at that time. Mr. Little was one of the best known and most active of the Bowser salesmen and officers for a number of years, and the men who were associated with him in that business so long will be glad to learn that he is returning to the company. At present Mr. Little has charge of the Y. M. C. A. campaign and is a busy man. He is prominent in that work, as well as in other lines, being president of the Quest club, member of the Shriners and of the Commercial club. He will go to New York as soon as he completes his work with the Y. M. C. A.

MITCHENER'S RISE WAS RAPID.

Began Work as Dispatcher on Nickel Plate in 1894.

Hundreds of Fort Wayne railway people will recognize in the accompanying portrait the likeness of a man well known in this part of the country as a hustler in railway work. R. W. Mitchener began work on the Nickel Plate in the capacity of dispatcher in 1894 and worked himself up by attention to business to his present responsible position, general superintendent of the road. He has been in Fort Wayne often and is known to all the Nickel Plate trainmen and nearly all of the other employees of the company.

FROM BILLY BURKE.

Van Wert, Ohio, Nov. 9.—Mrs. S. W. Fleming, of West Crawford street, has a new keepsake, which many other women of the city might treasure. It is a large photograph of Billie Burke and little daughter, Patricia, and also a personal letter from the favorite actress. Mrs. Fleming recently wrote her appreciation of Miss Burke's latest screen play and in return received the happy little note and picture. Miss Burke in private life is Mrs. Florence Ziegfeld.

Meyers Transferred to the Engineers

Herman H. Meyers, one of Fort Wayne's drafted soldier boys, is also making good in the army, as he was recently transferred to the engineering corps. Hammy, as he was best known by his many friends, was formerly employed as foreman of the Fort Wayne House Wrecking company. He is the son of Mrs. Emil Subkowski, of 813 Buchanan street. In a letter to her he states that he likes the duties of a soldier and that he is anxious to get to France.

FIREMAN CARRIER INSTANTLY KILLED

Walked in Front of Pennsylvania Passenger Train at Dola, Ohio.

Confused by the fog and miscalculating the distance from the second section of the Pennsylvania Broadway limited at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, L. R. Carrier walked upon the tracks at Dola, O., and was instantly killed. Mr. Carrier was a fireman on westbound extra freight train No. 7777, with Engineer R. R. Farries, which had taken a siding at Dola to give the right of way to the passenger train. He was on the south side of the tracks and when he saw the passenger train coming attempted to get to the north side again, when he was struck. He was hurled a considerable distance and was dead when picked up by the other members of the crew. The body was turned over to the coroner and later placed on passenger train No. 1007, which arrived here at 1:10 o'clock. Mungovan & Ryan received the remains and took them to their undertaking parlors to be prepared for burial.

Fireman L. R. Carrier took employment on the road August 6, 1917, and had worked only three months. He was born in Danville, Ill., in April, 1896, and came with his parents to Dixon, O., when he was a small boy and resided there up to the time he came to Fort Wayne to work on the road. He was married two weeks ago to Miss Cordrey, a daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. T. Cordrey, the former the pastor of the Methodist church at Dixon. Mr. and Mrs. Carrier had just completed arrangements for house-keeping at 1819 Hanna street.

The train which struck Fireman Carrier was the second section of the Broadway limited, No. 23, made up of eleven Pullman cars and carrying a party of St. Clair Oil company people, who had been east and were returning to their homes. This train was in charge of Conductor S. H. Myers, Engineer Thomas Sinclair and Fireman W. H. Jackson.

BOARD OF SAFETY APPOINTS POLICEMAN

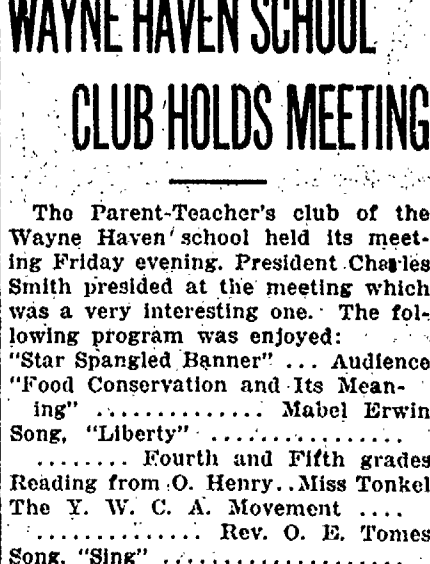

The board of safety appointed Jacob Hovel to the office of policeman on the Fort Wayne police force Friday evening. Hovel has had considerable experience along this line, having been on the Pennsylvania force under Captain Stoll for many years. He has recently been in the employ of the Nickel Plate company. The new officer will begin his duties immediately.

The dearth of applicants for places open on the police force has long been a source of annoyance to the entire system. The unusual high cost of all essential living material combined with the insufficient wages paid to the new members of the force has always proved effectual in keeping married men from applying. Fort Wayne is steadily growing, while the growth of the police force is almost at a standstill, making the effectual patrolling of all parts of the town almost impossible.

FORMER LOCAL MAN INHERITS ESTATE

A. W. Curtis Inherits $100,000 from the Estate of His Mother in England.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 10.—A. W. Curtis, of Detroit, formerly superintendent of the Red Cross Manufacturing company, in this city, and a former resident of Fort Wayne, has learned that he is one of the three heirs to a $300,000 estate, in Wisbech, England. The money comes at the death of his mother last August, and the estate is to be divided equally between Mr. Curtis and his two brothers, who are in England. The estate consists of a number of warehouses, a department store and two country homes.

DIVORCE GRANTED TO MRS. MARY POHLMAYER

Fred Pohlmeyer, Young Architect, Fails to Appear When Case is Called.

A decree for divorce has been granted to Mrs. Mary Pohlmeyer from Fred Pohlmeyer, a young architect now managing the cigar store at the Metropolitan bowling alleys, by Judge Carl Yaple in the superior court.

The case was filed some weeks ago following a series of quarrels that created no little excitement in the 1500 block, Spy Run avenue, where they had resided. No alimony was allowed by the court, a settlement having been reached prior to the filing of the suit.

It also was agreed that Mrs. Pohlmeyer was to secure the divorce without contest. Soon after the separation Mrs. Pohlmeyer returned to the home of her parents, near Defiance, O. Mrs. Pohlmeyer was represented by Attorneys Ryan, Ryan and Aldrich.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT ADDRESSES TEACHERS

Professor R. W. Himelick, the new public school superintendent, will assume active duties Monday morning. A reception at the high school building was held for him Friday after school hours. Superintendent Himelick comes to Fort Wayne with many new ideas and principles on school work. In his address to the teachers he stated that he was greatly interested in their various duties and intended to come to them with all matters of complaint or doubt.

In speaking of Fort Wayne's school system Superintendent Himelick said that the children of Fort Wayne spent entirely too much time in the grades. According to his views the grade schools should extend to about the sixth instead of the eighth grade. The great number of pupils dropping out of high school before even their freshman year was completed was another topic for discussion.

FIRE DESTROYS LIGHT PLANT AT CROMWELL

Cromwell, Ind., Nov. 10.—The M. Moore & Co. light plant and sawmill were destroyed by fire here early this morning, causing a loss estimated at $7,000.

The fire was discovered shortly after 1 o'clock by a watchman. Although the flames spread rapidly the fire department was able to save a number of large piles of lumber. The origin is unknown. Officials of the company say that the plant will be rebuilt at once.

As a result of the fire Cromwell will be in darkness tonight except those residents fortunate enough to have kerosene lamps.

NEWS FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS

GERMAN SAILOR IS TAKEN AT LIGONIER

J. Rauchbauer Narrates Wild Tales of Coming to U. S. in a Submarine.

Ligonier, Ind., Nov. 9.—A German sailor who claims to have escaped from a military prison camp at London, Ontario, is now locked in the county jail at Goshen, awaiting action of federal authorities. He was arrested at Ligonier and gave his name as Joseph Rauchbauer.

Rauchbauer arrived in Ligonier several days ago giving the name of Joe Bowers and sought work here. Because of wild tales of war adventure which he told, he was arrested. A New York Central switch key and signal code were found on his person, when he confessed his real name and told a long and interesting story of his career, although it is said it sounded like a fairy tale.

He was returning to Germany, he said, as a sailor on a German ship, when war was declared. After arrival he was put into naval service and later came across the Atlantic in a submarine at the same time the Deutschland arrived. The submarine, however, was caught in a net off the coast of Newfoundland, says the prisoner, and the crew taken prisoners. He was then placed in a Canadian prison camp from which he escaped last January. Since then he has been in America working at various trades.

NO NEW TRIAL ASKED.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 9.—Samuel Minsky, Montpelier junk dealer who was convicted in the last special term of the circuit court by a jury upon two counts—conspiracy to commit burglary and conspiracy to commit larceny—will be arraigned Monday morning before Special Judge Nichols, of Winchester, who presided at the time of the trial, and his petition, which has been filed by his wife, and which contains 95 signatures, will be given consideration. In all probability sentence will be passed upon the defendant, the sentence for such a conviction being from two to twenty-one years in the state prison. Some time ago it was stated that the defendant, through his attorneys, would ask for a new trial, but later on it was stated that Minsky had concluded to accept the sentence of the court, if his petition was ignored.

Mr. Flynn already had deposited the full purchase price of $100,000 with Judge Elchorn giving approval and confirmation of the sale, ordered a deed executed and delivered to Mr. Flynn, and the deed has been prepared and approved and is ready for Mr. Flynn. Judge C. E. Sturgis said yesterday afternoon that further confirmation of the sale, by entry at the regular term of court probably was not necessary, but it would be secured in order to be absolutely sure of the complete legality of the procedure.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 9.—Construction of the electric light and power line leading to the town of Bryant, seven miles north of this city, was completed on Thursday and barring unforeseen complications the line will be tested out on Friday and Saturday and by the latter date at latest, it is expected that the current will be supplied from the city plant here, that will afford the little town ample electricity for light and power. Not only will Bryant be supplied, but the farming community intervening will likewise be furnished with "juice" for lighting and power purposes. The city council of Portland recently contracted with the Bryant concern to supply current at a three-cent per k. w. rate for a period of twelve and one-half years.

Mrs. Linton was put on the train by the crew and taken to Ohio City and was brought to Van Wert in an ambulance.

It is not known just how the train happened to strike the buggy. Mr. Linton was driving south. The passenger train, which is due in Ohio City at 6:55, was a few minutes late.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 8.—Dynamite found beneath the Hood Cold Storage plant placed there with the supposed intention of blowing it up, was found on investigation by the owner of the place to have been hidden by an intoxicated man. Beer and whiskey flowed freely here yesterday, election day, and the man, who is a stump blaster, admitted that while intoxicated he had hidden the explosive under the building, intending to take it away later. His story was believed and he was not arrested, as he has lived in the community all his life, is well known and not the kind of person to do harm. John Dawson is Unable to Live Without Wife and Ends Life.

South Milford, Ind., Nov. 7.—John Dawson, aged 32 years, a prominent pioneer of this community, hung himself yesterday in the barn at his home, three miles north of here. The act followed numerous threats because of extreme melancholy over the death of his wife, which occurred last week. Mr. Dawson visited South Milford in the morning and upon his return went to the barn. When found the body was hanging from a rope fastened onto a rafter. A step-ladder a short distance away indicated that he had taken a drop. The deceased was a life-long resident of this community and a farmer of note. The weighing had been done and the horses started off the scales, little Acker running along at the side. No one witnessed the accident but it is believed that the boy stumbled and fell under the wheels. His head was crushed and he died a few minutes later.

FLAG DEDICATED.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 12.—The Methodist church dedicated a large service flag at the regular service Sunday evening. About forty stars were put on it. The letter of Mark Hamer to his mother, which was given wide publicity with editorial comment, under the caption "Mark Hamer—the Torch Bearer"—was read at the service. Hamer's parents received word Friday that Mark Hamer had been promoted to be first sergeant of Company C, 334th Infantry, at Camp Taylor, Corporal F. K. Wishart, who will speak at the "Central Christian" church next Sunday afternoon, is a veteran of the battles of the Ypres and the Somme, and helped plant the mines that blew up Messina ridge, several months ago. WOULD BE MURDERER IN BEST OF SPIRITS

Will Be Held in Allen County Jail Until Chicago Men Arrive.

Louis Pfleger, held at the police station on a charge of shooting his wife, is in the same good spirits that he has been since his arrest. He appeared in police court Friday morning and was ordered held. Officers from Chicago are expected to arrive the first of next week to take the man back to city where the shooting occurred, for a hearing.

Pfleger still insists that he is glad that he shot his wife, but that he hopes she will recover. In the meanwhile the victim of the affair is in a critical condition in a Chicago hospital. Pfleger states that his wife refused to go back to their home in Houston, Texas, with him, but insisted in living in a respectable house with her daughter in Chicago. This and the refusal to talk to him led to the shooting. Mrs. Pfleger's former husband, John Heffelfinger, talked with Pfleger a short time before he shot the woman. Pfleger told him his troubles and threatened to kill his wife. Up to this time the accused man has made no plans for defense and it is probable that he will not see an attorney before returning to Chicago.

DR. DUEMLING RESIGNS FROM HEALTH BOARD

Circumstances Make His Resignation Welcome, Says Mayor.

A letter of resignation from Dr. H. A. Duemling, from his office of vice-president of the board of health has been received by Mayor William J. Hosey. The letter is brief and concise, giving no reason for the doctor's action. Mayor Hosey has answered the missive with the following letter: "Your very welcome letter of resignation as member of the city health board duly received by me. While your resignation is highly acceptable to me at the present time, it would have been more so had it been sent to me at an earlier date. Say at about the time that you began to voice some of your reasonable sentiments against the interests of the United States in view with the government of Kaiser Wilhelm. For if but a small part of the sentiments attributed to you are true, you certainly have no right to hold any position in trust either state, national or municipal."

Fort Wayne Lads Take Casing Tube and Tools from Machine at Nine Mile.

Five Fort Wayne youngsters ranging in age from 17 to 20 years were given the fright of their young lives when arrested Wednesday at Huntington, charged with stealing a casing, inner tube and tools from the automobile of John Bufluk at Nine Mile. They were released on their own recognizance and Friday morning were taken before Justice of the Peace Henry J. Grabner.

The fact that the boys have never been in trouble before and their promise never to do anything of the kind again caused the court to be lenient with the result that after paying for the damage done, amounting to $75, they were released. The youngsters were Bernard Horn, Second street; Howard Brooks, 1413 Wall street; Herman Smith, 621 Hoffmann street; Joe Schmidt, 1623 Short street, and Frank Maley.

On the following evening they made another trip to Huntington and as they passed through Nine Mile they were recognized. The Huntington police were notified and upon their arrival in that city were placed under arrest. They were later turned over to Sheriff Gillie, who permitted them to go home on their own recognizance. An affidavit was later filed by Bufluk. The boys were warned that a repetition of such conduct would result in more serious punishment.

GET THE SPIRIT—YOU'LL NEED IT.

Get the spirit of giving for the war. You will need it.

It will be the wise course for all good Americans who mean to do their part and accept their share of the burden of this crisis. Borne in mind must be the fact that we are not yet fairly into the conflict. What this country has done and is yet doing is the work of preparation. Comparatively a small part of our forces have reached the other side. There are millions of men to be sent "over there." The greatest part taken by any nation of the entente allies has become by inexorable necessity the duty of the United States. The war activities of this nation will be prodigious—without precedent altogether if the fight for democracy is to be won.

There have been many calls upon the people for money and effort to accomplish such things as the government cannot do, or for good reasons that are imbedded in our form of government ought not to do. In each case these calls have been responded to willingly and generously. But these demands of patriotic duty have only begun. They will continue and in multiplied ways throughout the progress of the war. The people must prepare themselves to meet them. Except this be done there will be no such thing as putting the full power of this nation into the war. America must steel herself to give all, if need be, to win this fight against military autocracy and mad ambition if the future of the republic is to be made secure.

There are certain things that must be done for the soldiers and the sailors that the people themselves must directly out of hand provide the means to do. This is the case with many phases of Red Cross work, with the war camp activities of the Y. M. C. A., the Knights of Columbus, the Jewish people and other elements of our general society, all of which elements see opportunity and recognize the duty to take special concern for a helpful part in the war, yet all of which add much to the whole power and efficiency of the nation and the well-being of all the men who are fighting under the flag. Everybody who wishes his country well in this war must have a hand in the doing of these things. Money must be raised and vast work must be performed to obtain money and to make sure that it will be expended wisely and effectually.

So it is that the spirit of service must get into every patriotic heart. Giving money and performing tasks that must be done constitute service that is patriotic. It is all that millions are able to do and it is little enough when we consider that it is service at home—service with money or service of labor—and in no way to be compared with the service rendered by the youth of the land who have offered themselves for the supreme sacrifice. Calls for money will come again and again. Calls for labor of many sorts will be unending. Every patriotic man and woman and child in the land who can do no more than that should thank God for the privilege of doing that. With millions of our youth in the hell of the trenches, as we shall have them by another year, let there be none among us who can perform a service here at home who will quarrel with his little burden, stand unconsecrated or withhold the sacrifice.

Get the spirit of giving. Cultivate it. Hold fast to it. Put good cheer, readiness, willingness, heart and soul into whatever it is that you can do for your country and for your country's fighting men. We shall have no escape from these duties while the war goes on. More and more the armies at the front will stand in need of the support that only the people of the nation can insure them. What ever can give better spirit to our soldiers, whatever will add to their comfort and contentment, whatever will promote their health and enjoyment, whatever will do even the least of things to prevent waste of life or to ease suffering, whatever will accomplish in the smallest measure an advancement of our cause in the war and make victory more certain and bring it nearer, whatever will work to the end that no sacrifice of blood shall have been in vain, that let us do—each of us and all of us.

Give and be ready to give now and on and on until the war be won and the great goal that lies across and beyond the sodden fields of death be ours and all humanity's henceforth.

MUST WIN SECURE PEACE.

Addressing the delegates to the American Federation of Labor convention in Buffalo, Monday, President Wilson reiterated what he has said many times in declaring that this war must go on until the menace of Prussian militarism has been crushed.

Any other outcome of the great conflict would make our part in it a stupendous folly, a vast and tragic futility. We entered the war when the door to every honorable alternative had been closed. Now that we are set out upon the task of making the future secure for our nation nothing else and nothing less than complete security can be held to have answered our purpose in the war. Nothing else and nothing less can be a requital of the sacrifices we are making and shall make.

As matters stand today, the primary objectives of the German government in launching this criminal conflict upon the head of all mankind have been attained. It has consolidated a broad zone from the Baltic to the Dardanelles. Mittel Europa, the dream of Pan-Germanism, is achieved. If Germany could today force or cajole or trick her enemies into a peace without indemnities and annexations, but a peace that would not disturb what she has accomplished, she would be compensated. It would clinch and secure what she wants. Austria's independence is gone. Turkey and Bulgaria are as completely German as though won by the sword. Germany has established the foundations of her world empire if what she now has be allowed her. A generation hence she will be able to launch a new war and complete the realization of her dream of conquest of the world.

President Wilson made that clear to the delegates of the labor convention. There can be peace now only at the expense of the future. Prussian autocracy and Pan-Germanism have abated nothing of their ponderous ambition. They must be smashed and America must stay in the war until they have been smashed. There can be no security for us nor for the free world except that they be smashed.

Americans should realize this. The fight is for the whole future, for the entire destiny of the United States of America. This war might easily be brought to a close with the appearance of a reasonable peace, but it will be a devil's truce. Until lust of war and conquest that consumes the military autocracy of Prussia, the insane ambition of the paranoiac kaiser and the brute selfishness of the junkers have been mortally bruised under the heel of Liberty there can be no peace nor thought of peace.

It will be a fatuous trust to place confidence in any pact with the ruling powers in Germany. It will give the world but an armistice, not a real peace nor any guarantee of peace. The test between two great diametric principles for mastery in the world, as President Wilson has so well said, is now on and it ought to go on until the issue be determined now and for all time.

The reports that reach the state council of defense from almost all sections of the state bear information of the activity of enemy propaganda. Look out for it, listen for it and take note of those who are spreading it. It is well to know who is for and who isn't for the country in this war. I. W. W. anarchists and pacifist pests are merely one or two kinds of anti-American elements. There is another and more insidious and dangerous kind. The anarchists preach enmity to order. The pacifists preach foolishly and impossible peace. The other kind spreads poison.

Russia continues to struggle with herself and may win out yet against the weakness of soft dreams of an Utopian brotherhood, the intrigues and the gold of the kaiser and the natural born devilishness of the violent school of anarchists that altogether are besetting her pathway to established order and constitutional liberty.

There is not great length of surcease between 'em. Congress will assemble in about three weeks and then—but why worry? The constitution provides for it and there's no help,

THE THREE-CENT STAMP.

So here you are once more, old stamp, All ready for your task; You sprang, as by Aladdin's lamp, Almost ere we could ask. For thirty years and odd your place Has not been in the sun; But now, we'll lick YOU, purple-face, And let you lick the Hun!

Another did your routine work, And carried well your load; He never failed nor tried to shirk Along your busy road— A million times, a million ways— That endless task was done— But now, we'll lick YOU, purple-face, And let you lick the Hun!

Somehow it seems as if you come When calls our nation's life; You stick while rolls the battle-drum, You hold while shrieks the foe. In happier hours and brighter days Another has the fun— But now, we'll lick YOU, purple-face, And let you lick the Hun!

You bear strange messages these times, Brave laughter and quick tears— The soldier's hope, the sailor's rhymes, The mother's endless fears. The two-cent stamp was full of grace, Light errands it could run— But now, we'll lick YOU, purple-face, And let you lick the Hun!

A little heavier your hand— Our purse you seem to clutch— But, since you serve our blessed land, We shall not mind your touch. The kaiser must not win the race, You ward of Washington— Come, let us lick YOU, purple-face, Then you go lick the Hun!

"You would do this in heart and health. You would do this in your homes—now you have a chance to help the Y. M. C. A. do it for you in the camps and right on the firing line."

This is the way Charles S. Ward, campaign director, presents the canvass for the $5,000,000 Y. M. C. A. fund for war work. The big drive to raise this fund begins Nov. 11 and closes Nov. 19. It will reach every American hamlet.

"This is not a Y. M. C. A. fund," said Ward. "The Y. M. C. A. is acting as your agent in taking your help to our soldier boys. And as America's forces go more and more onto the firing line it becomes truer and truer of every American home that some worn and weary soldier boy is knocking at its door as truly as if his arm reached across the sea and his fist actually pounded there."

NOTED ANTHROPOLOGIST SAYS WAR MAY IMPROVE NOT HURT HUMAN RACE

By I. HARPER LEECH.

"Just let us win. The race is safe." This is the answer of one of the world's greatest authorities on man breeding to the fear that the loss of many brave youths on the battlefields of Europe will result in a physical and mental deterioration of the American race.

Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, curator of the division of physical anthropology of the United States National Museum, believes the war will have so many compensations in the way of race betterment that the losses, the shattered constitutions, exposure, wounds, strains and diseases contracted by the soldiers will not leave any disastrous mark on the next generation.

Four great vital laws working to protect the race from the consequences of war are elimination, adaptation, restitution and compensation.

"These laws have taken care of war-ridden mankind in the past and can safely be expected, with intelligent assistance, to accomplish even more in the future," says Dr. Hrdlicka.

The elimination of the unfit and their progeny will, of course, be intensified by the war, to the benefit of the race. This law is always working, and remorselessly, despite the hindrances of civilization.

The large majority of the injured men do not transmit their defects to their progeny. This class of men will not diminish the standards of the next generation.

Those actually killed with not be a total loss in many cases. Soldiers slain on the battlefields will leave many representatives in the next generation. The attraction of women to the soldier, and "war weddings," show nature's providence in this direction. "The fighting races don't die out" is a poetical statement of a scientific law.

So much for the adaptations and the restitutions; the compensations are so many that the war may prove a blessing in disguise if full advantage is taken of them.

"The war has given the greatest impetus to the struggle against alcoholism, man's greatest enemy. Could we determine the full biological value of this accomplishment alone, it would possibly be found to equal the total war loss in human material," says Dr. Hrdlicka.

The war has given us our first survey of the physical condition of our young men in the examination of recruits and selected men. It has led to the correction of hundreds of thousands of physical defects.

It has brought about the immunization from typhoid of hundreds of thousands of young men who would otherwise have been carried off by the disease.

"It has led to the physical training and building up of hundreds of thousands of young men who, as a result, when peace comes, will make better husbands and fathers. It will lead to the training of untold thousands in the future, for this nation will never again permit itself to be unprepared for self-defense."

"There are other compensations than the physical. There is the intellectual stimulus, the social and national regeneration, the raising of the nation from an isolated and somewhat selfish condition to a world power in the best sense of the term and for the best interests of humanity."

"There are little people who will see, will want to see, nothing but losses and sufferings; there are well meaning patriotic men who fear the effects of the losses on the American people; but it is possible to view conditions from a higher horizon."

It may not even be true that our best will be killed off. Bullets make no selection, but still the brave man, as the most brainy, has a better chance to survive than the dullard or coward.

"Neither is it full truth that the poorest men 'physically' are left at home; and there is no proof that under the present regulations for admission into the army any nationality or class of men in this country is favored at the expense of the older stocks of Americans."

THE SECOND DRAFT CALL

(Indianapolis Star.)

It is a heavy task that the president lays upon the selection boards under the second draft call. As he says very truly, their labors will be increased ten-fold over that involved in the first call. What they must do is to classify the men registered as of draft age so that it may be determined where they can best serve their country—in the ranks as soldiers, on the farms or in skilled work needed by the nation in other lines.

The operations of the draft under the first selection caused dissatisfaction on this ground, that many men were taken who were greatly needed for the interest of the public in the work that they had been engaged. Farmers, for example, were hampered by the drafting of their sons because of the shortage of farm labor, while at the same time they were urged as a patriotic duty to increase their acreage of cultivation. In many other directions men of special qualifications were taken whose services would have been more valuable elsewhere than in the army.

The selection boards were not authorized to grant exemptions in such cases as would have been proper. The error in this matter has been realized, however, and it is seen that the exemption list must be larger as a matter of national welfare. Men must be placed where they are most needed. But it will be no easy matter to make these decisions and a great responsibility will be placed on the boards. Certain instructions and specifications will of course be issued from Washington as a guide, but von so, much must depend upon the individual boards.

The president rightfully calls upon all citizens to promote the smooth workings of the second draft, but he especially looks to the legal profession to assist the boards as impartial advisers and in many cases the legal aspects will be more important than medical examinations. With all the defects of the machinery, the first draft went through with remarkable smoothness, and with improved methods the second will no doubt be operated as well. The people know now what is before them and are ready to do their part.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

The price of turkeys is reported a trifle higher this year.

The snow was so deep at Richmond that it stopped the electric street cars. The electric car track on Lewis street was completed yesterday morning as far as Walton avenue. Many of the jubilant rode home on the cars last night.

George Dillon, the Nickel Plate conductor, was hurt at Valparaiso last evening. He was unloading baggage when a trunk fell and knocked him out of the car door to the platform.

Messrs. Rink Mergel, Joe Netterfield and Bob Woodward returned last evening from Greentown, Ind., about eighteen miles south of Marion, where they have been hunting for several days. The party killed 148 quail and their game bags fairly bulged with the little fowls.

The Presbyterians at Kendallville will rededicate their remodeled and beautiful house of worship on Sunday, November 20. The organ will be opened by an organ recital under the direction of Prof. Meyer, of this city, some time next week. It will be one of the most beautiful churches in the interior, and a large organ will add wonderfully to its attractiveness to church-goers. The total cost of the improvements will be nearly $5,500.

A pretty incident was noticed late yesterday afternoon on Main street near the corner of Calhoun. Henry Closs who drives an express wagon for J. Hasty, had dared his little daughter, Effie, to get into the wagon and sing a song. The girl, who is a pretty little miss, climbed into the wagon and sang a stirring campaign song much to the amusement of a large crowd which gathered about the wagon in a few moments. When the little girl had finished and was helped from the wagon a shower of silver pieces dropped into her pocket. Although modest in demeanor, Effie said "she wouldn't take a date from anybody."

HOW BRITAIN DEALT WITH THE RAILROAD PROBLEM WAR MAKES

By BASIL M. MANLY.

Everybody in Washington and many throughout the country are taking it for granted that the Interstate Commerce commission will speedily grant substantial rate increases to the railroads as a result of the hearing now taking place.

There are, however, far-seeing individuals, even among railroad executives, who view the granting of flat rate increases to all railroads of a district, because of the needs of the weakest and least efficient, as part of a vicious circle resulting inevitably in national disaster.

This is the vicious circle: The railroads show that the weakest and least efficient roads are so hard hit by increased labor and supply costs that they must have higher rates to keep them in operation. The commission, convinced that every road must be kept going during the war, grants an increase. The freight rate increase is added to the cost of everything that goes over the rails; there is another jump in the cost of living; railroad labor demands and gets wage increases to maintain the standard of living; railroad supplies increase in price—and the railroads are back again asking for higher rates. The merry-go-round starts all over again, with the people furnishing the steam that makes it go.

In the meantime the strong, efficient roads, which receive exactly the same rate increases as the weak and badly managed roads, grow rich. Erie net earnings are off nearly six million dollars for nine months, it is true, but everybody knows what is the matter with Erie. On the other hand, Illinois Central is running nearly three millions ahead of its banner year's net earnings. St. Paul is nearly four millions ahead. Southern Pacific is seven millions ahead, and Southern Railway is more than a million ahead.

This vicious circle must be smashed. But how? Government ownership seems to be out of the question as an immediate measure, for a dozen reasons, financial and political.

Great Britain furnishes the solution, and has given a three-year practical demonstration of its efficiency. Here is what that country did in the first month of the war:

Assumed absolute control of all British railways; consolidated them into a single system; placed the management in the hands of the ablest railway executives; guaranteed the stock and bond holders the same dividends and interest as paid in 1913; undertook all capital improvements necessary to make the roads efficient, which the roads will repay if and when they return to private control; abolished all charges for military traffic so as to avoid unnecessary bookkeeping; put all employees in government service, and made provision for automatic increases in wages so as to maintain the standard of living unimpaired.

As a result, we are officially informed:

"The volume of traffic handled by the British railways has been at least 50 per cent. in excess of that carried during the busiest years previous to the war, in spite of the fact that about 150,000 railwaymen—25 per cent. of the total staff—have joined the colors."

More than that, it broke the vicious circle that is so large a factor in high cost of living in America; abolished strike agitation; insured the maximum efficiency in handling all military traffic; and at one stroke solved the railroad problem for the duration of the war.

RELIGION, TEMPERANCE AND HEALTH

THE LOST CARD THAT SAVED A LOST SOUL AND MADE MAN AND CHRISTIAN OF OUTCAST

(Rev. Gerrit Verkuyl in the Christian Endeavor World.)

About eight years ago a worker of the Pacific Garden Mission of Chicago, handed a printed invitation to a young man who was at the point of entering an evil resort. The card contained the golden text of the Bible, with the address of the mission on the reverse side. For a moment the young man looked at it there was hesitation in his step. Then he thrust the card into his vest pocket, and followed his course. Six years later, moneyless and friendless, his body matted with the grime of the streets, he was lying on a cold sidewalk, when even his decent clothes had been gambled away, he put on that old vest, and, thrusting his fingers nervously into his pockets, recovered the card. It helped him to find the Christ.

He was a graduate of the University of Minnesota, and had practised law in a little town of that state. The big city attracted him; there seemed to be more chance for an ambitious lawyer. He secured a desk in a law office, and upon his inquiring where he might most easily get started his new acquaintances advised the handling of cases for toughs and gamblers. Thus it came about that within a month from his coming to Chicago he had joined the ranks of slyster lawyers.

In order to make a success of the work he was forced to become intimately acquainted with the crooked ways of the underworld. He learned to "walk in the counsel of the ungodly." From this it was no long step to "the seat of the scornful." Six short years sufficed to drag down a young man of good family and respectable position to the lowest rung on the professional ladder.

Throughout these years of decline he remained in private life "within the law." While defending criminals whom he knew to be guilty and trying to show their innocence, he never committed a criminal act. And he might have kept free from crime, had it not been for the unrelenting hold which gambling took on him. The day came when the gambling-den had robbed him of everything he possessed—his books, his diamond stud, his ring, his watch, and his last decent suit of clothes. There was nothing more he could risk. Then it occurred to him that his mother had written him the deed and title to her little home, the house which she and his father had wrested from the small wages the father had earned while raising the boy and four other children. Driven by the devil of gambling, he staked that document, and lost.

When he awoke the following morning, it startled him that finally he had become a thief. That he had stolen from his own mother made the deed look so much the blacker. He knew well enough that she would never cite him into court; but there was no way of restoring the goods, and some day she must find him out. Silently the purpose crept upon him to put his few resources in order, to write his mother a letter of confession, to ask forgiveness, and to rid the earth of one more nuisance.

He scanned his notes and papers and pawn-tickets, feeling over his person. What was that old card doing in his vest pocket? Where did he get hold of it? On it the words were printed, "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." The words were not new to him, but that they should face him at so critical a moment, this impressed him deeply. The address on the reverse side brought to mind the incident of six years previous. It was the card he had received on his way to an evil resort.

The incident contained the elements of surprise and adventure that particular appeal to a gambler; for men of that type strongly believe in supernatural agencies. This strange find might present a clue that was worth following up; who could tell? Anyway, he decided to follow directions, to walk over to the Pacific Garden Mission, and to see what turn affairs might take.

His clothes, though no longer new, were much better than those of the other outcasts; but he knew that he was one of their kind. Looking about, he saw on the walls the words of his card, "For God so loved." There seemed to be something uncanny about it.

The mission workers came over to talk with him, but he gave them little satisfaction. There were too many dark and hidden labyrinths within and too little sense of sin in the presence of mercy.

Toward the close of the evening session a student at the Moody Institute happened in, who had spent some years in Minnesota. He had never met the gambler personally, but had frequented his old home town, so that he was able to get into closer touch with him. A room was placed at their disposal, and there the weary sinner told the story of his failure. When he had finished, my friend, who afterward told me, said, "Now tell the heavenly Father this same story just as you told it to me."

"Can't," said the gambler; "don't know how."

"Simply use the words you used when you talked to me, but be talking to your Father in heaven," rejoined the fisher of men.

"But that would be praying," objected the thief; "and I can't pray. You can pray for me if you want to."

Still the other insisted that the wayward child should tell the Father all about it, until at last the gambler argued that he had no right to call God his Father, that he had no right to talk to Him. It was a great point gained. "I know you have no right to," said my friend, "but our heavenly Father gives you the right. You start out with the words, Merciful Father, and then go on just as you talked to me."

At last the wretch was persuaded. Falling upon his knees, he told God the awful story of his downward course, then pleaded to be forgiven for the sake of Jesus. When he was through, he turned to the man next to him, half hoping, half in doubt, "Do you really believe He'll forgive me?" For answer he was directed once more to the card. "Maybe there's something in it," remarked the doubtful penitent, to which the believer replied: "Something in it? There's everything in it. And let me tell you here and now, there's nothing in anything else." The gambler knew the truth of it, and silently consented.

That same evening the winner of souls was due at a prayer meeting with four other men whom he had promised to bring. The lawyer went with them. There was time before the service to request of the pastor to let some special word fall for the gambler's benefit. The season of prayer was earnest; it helped the penitent to see more clearly the face of a loving Father. Before the meeting was over the wayward son had come back, and the Father in heaven had received him. There were no more doubts after that.

But the affair demanded an immediate straightening out. With faith plenty our friends dispatched a telegram to the lawyer's mother, assigning a certain hotel in the city where at an appointed hour she was to meet her son. Then, without consulting the culprit he went to the gambling-den that had robbed his protégé. From the police he gained the code for entering, and soon found himself face to face with the keeper. Soft words were not likely to have effect with a man of that type. It was made very clear to him that unless he gave up at once the deed to the poor widow's little home there would be worse things in store for him. It took some argument, but the Christian worker came out of that den with the documents in his pocket, and left the keeper feeling glad to be through with the affair.

Mother and son met at the appointed place. He made a clean breast of it, and asked for her forgiveness. The mother had heard rumors, but had not been willing to believe them. In due time their new friend handed back the papers to the wondering mother.

Today mother and son are again living in their little Minnesota town, where he has resumed his practice. There is small danger of his ever returning to the city. But should he go, he will seek different friends, and there will be a different story.

Who handed him the card on that fateful night eight years ago may never be known until the books are opened; but the Word did its silent work. As for the man who God used to bring home His truth, he is now preaching the gospel in the Dakotas, where he is bringing others still. Chicago, Ill.

Stricken Love Has a Sequel in a World's Work of Evangelism

(Leonard Woolsey Bacon.)

You may go to the old burying-ground of Northampton, Mass., and look upon the early grave of David Brainerd, side by side with that of the fair Jerusha Edwards, whom he loved, but did not live to wed. What hopes, what expectations for Christ's cause, went down into the grave with the wasted form of that young missionary, of whose work now remained but the dear memory, and a few score swarthy Indian converts! But that majestic old Puritan Saint, Jonathan Edwards, who had hoped to call him his son, gathered up the memorials of his life in a little book.

And the book took wings and flew beyond the sea, and alighted on the table of a Cambridge student—Henry Martyn. Poor Martyn! Why would he throw himself away, with all his scholarship, his genius, his opportunities! Such a wasted life it seemed! What had he accomplished when he turned homeward from "India's coral strand," broken in health, and dragged himself as far northward as that dreary khan at Tocat by the Black Sea, where he crouched under the piled-up saddles to cool his burning fever against the earth, and there died alone, among unbelievers, no Christian hand to tend his agony, no Christian voice to speak in his ear the promises of his Master whom, as it seemed to men, he had so vainly served. To what purpose was this waste? But out of that early grave of Brainerd, and that lonely grave of Martyn has sprung the noble army of modern missionaries.

But thou, O Lord my God, hearken; behold and see and have mercy and heal me, thou in whose presence I have become a problem to myself; and that is my infirmity.—Augustine.

Mr. Bryan Pays His Respects to Theory of Man's Evolution

(Christian Standard.)

In one of his addresses at the late Winona Bible conference, Mr. Bryan paid his respects to the theory of evolution. He said, in substance:

If the Bible is a man-made book, then man should be able to produce another book equally as good, or man has degenerated.

If man made this book, he made it in a time when there were no great colleges and universities, and no great accumulations of knowledge. It was made from a scanty storehouse, if man-made, yet it deals with all great subjects from creation to everlasting life.

Man has made marvelous development in the last nineteen centuries, but on the subject, "How to Live," he has made no progress beyond the Bible teaching. Man needs a hundred, or hundreds of books to train the mind, but this one book is sufficient to train the heart.

Man's first failure is in the realm of morals. He first breaks down there, and the breakdown is due to lack of the education of the heart. Morality is the test of a man's endurance. The fundamental idea in religion is God. If the Darwinian theory be true, Christianity is false. If man has triumphed by the "survival of the fittest," then substituting love in its place will lead to the degeneracy of men. The Darwinian theory of evolution puts God so far away that he is no consoling force in the life of a man. If God is not such a force in a man's life, the life will be a failure and is likely to be dangerous to society. Dr. Drummond's theory is that nothing in the mineral kingdom rises until some power from the vegetable kingdom reaches down and lifts it up. So, in the spiritual world, there must be the lifting power from a higher kingdom, reaching down and transforming that which is low into that which is higher. Jesus said: "If I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me."

Evolution does away with the lifting power of the gospel, and substitutes therefore a theory which puts God so far away that he has no conscious influence in the life of man. German rationalism, and, undoubtedly, the present world war itself, is the fruitage of the theory of evolution, which has undermined the gospel of the Prince of Peace, taken God out of the lives of men, and put the doctrine of the "survival of the fittest," or "might makes right," in its place.

Obedience.

As we enter the path of obedience we begin to know. "He that doeth the will of God shall know of the doctrine." Each step of faith brings its proof of reason to justify it. Each duty we do in obedience to command gives us the assurance that we are in the right path. Duty, submission, obeying the rules that God has laid down, that is the pathway of faith, and after faith knowledge. God does not reveal himself to the idle gaze of curiosity, or to the mind that thinks itself big enough to weigh him in its balance. Irreverence cannot see God. "The secret of the Lord is with them that fear him," and fear means the faith of obedience, the venture of trust. So the humble pathway of faith comes to reason, and reason goes back to strengthen faith for new journeys, and to kindle its eye with a new hope. What wonderful gifts of God in Christ for our salvation here, and for our unending growth in knowledge, and in love, in life everlasting.—Bishop Randolph.

"We live but one life, we pass but once through this world. We should live so that every step shall be a step onward and upward. We should strive to be victorious over every evil influence. We should seek to gather good and enrichment of character from every experience, making our progress ever from more to more. Whenever we go we should try to leave a blessing, something which will sweeten another life or start a new song or an impulse of cheer or helpfulness in another heart. Then our very memory when we are gone will be an abiding blessing."

ETERNITY.

A colored minister, in preaching on eternity, used this illustration of its immensity. He said: "If a sparrow should take a drop of water from the Atlantic ocean at Coney Island and hop a day until he reached the Pacific ocean at San Francisco, and when he got there, should let the drop fall into the Pacific, when this drop should turn around and hop a day all the way back to Coney Island, get another drop and do the same thing until he had carried the whole Atlantic over into the Pacific, it would then be only early morning in eternity."

SUCCESS.

(By ALVA LEE KELTON.)

He has made a success of life, if a few Pause to weep at his bier when the journey is through; If the smile on his face and the words that he spake Will be missed when he's gone, and if one heart shall ache Because he is not here; yes, if only one mourn, The world is better for his having been born.

He has made a success of life, if the end Finds him tenderly borne to the grave by a friend. If but one man shall say, "He was honest and true; His voice was a voice that I have oft listened to; I shall miss him!" and, weeping, shall turn from his door, He has made a success; for no man can do more.

Success, when you sum it all up, isn't gold, Nor is it in doing some deed that is bold; For the money we make and the houses we build Mean nothing the moment the voice has been stilled. But he has succeeded who, when he has gone, In the heart of another is still living on.

YOUR HEALTH AND HOW YOU CAN KEEP IT

Climate Often Lures Consumptive Into Unwise Move.

The consumptive who longs to go away to a favorite climate or what he thinks will prove a more favorable climate must consider the advantages and disadvantages. How much good the better climate will do, and what he foregoes in making the change, whether the gains will compensate for the loss.

First is expense. It costs considerable to go away from home and live as a consumptive must live. There is the question of railroad fare, living expenses and medical supervision. There is usually a far better chance of regaining health at home than going away without sufficient funds in search of the will of the wisp, a perfect climate.

Food also must be considered, for the consumptive needs greater attention to food than does the well individual. The food should be good, well prepared and appetizing. One should consider whether this will be obtainable away from home.

Work must also be considered for many expect to secure work to pay their expenses in the locality to which they go in search of health. One should know whether work can be obtained and whether it will be work under conditions favorable to recovery of health.

The possibility of proper medical supervision must be looked into for every consumptive needs at times competent medical advice and supervision. This is particularly so for a patient who has not had training as to how a consumptive should live and what he should avoid.

Absence of family and friends is another important point to be considered, for in leaving family and friends to go among strangers in a new locality one should realize the possible effects. This is particularly true for one who has never before been away from home. It is practically impossible for a consumptive who is homesick to regain health.

How to Guard Your Children Against Germs.

Germs of disease come chiefly from other people's mouths and hands. Therefore be careful to keep a young baby away from anyone who is not perfectly well. So-called colds, such as running nose, sore throat, bronchitis and all other such diseases, are easily communicated and may be serious for the baby.

Diphtheria, whooping cough and measles are very serious diseases for young children. The older the child the less the danger of fatal results.

Tuberculosis very often gets its start in infancy. Protect the baby from infection. Common ways of infecting a baby are by kissing, coughing or sneezing near the child, or allowing him to play with dirty toys.

Milk from tuberculosis cows frequently is the cause of tuberculosis in a baby. Enlarged glands in children are frequently caused by infection from the milk of tuberculous cows.

Children under one year of age are subject to diseases caused mainly by disordered digestion. Such ailments are first indicated by loss of appetite, headache, vomiting, and, often pain in the stomach.

At such times do not feed the child. Instead give it a dose of castor oil. To a child under two years give a teaspoonful; for children over two years of age, give two teaspoonfuls, increasing the dose for older children.

In giving castor oil the mouth should first be cooled by swallowing a little cool water. The spoon should be thoroughly wet so that the oil will slip off easily. The oil can be covered with a little orange juice to conceal the taste. After taking the oil, the child should lie down quietly for 20 minutes or half an hour.

If the castor oil does not act and the child does not appear better, send at once for a doctor.

Outdoor Sleeping and How to Keep Warm in Winter.

On winter nights don't close your windows because you are cold but learn to keep warm with it open.

First arrange your room so that you do not sleep in a direct draught. If that is impossible the following simple method may be employed:

Cut a heavy piece of cotton six inches longer than the width of the window frame and 18 inches wide. Tack it along its lower edge to the window sill and hook the upper corners to the window frame. The windows may then be opened wide, but the current of air will be directed upwards.

Equally important is the bed. A thick mattress and pad should be sufficient under the sleeper, but if the mattress is thin, place heavy wrapping paper under it. Flannel sheets may be used in preference to cotton. The lighter the top cover the better.

If down or lamb's wool are too expensive, a quilt made of two layers of flannel with an interlining of newspapers will prove an excellent covering over the blankets.

For the outdoor sleeper a Klondyke bed or sleeping bag is necessary in real cold weather.

The Klondyke bed is made by tucking the blankets under the mattress-pad at feet and sides and binding the whole securely by tucking the top covering 12 inches under the mattress at foot and sides.

For stormy weather a horse blanket or quilt with a canvas covering makes an excellent protection. The bed should be heated by hot water bottles before entering it and the covering must not be so tight that the feet are uncomfortable.

The best preparation for the cares of tomorrow is the faithful performance of the duties of today.

The pleasures of sin are costly at any price. A moment of such pleasures may cost a day of sorrow.

A Christian Mother's Outspoken Words of Love, Faith and Hope

(The Evangelical.)

I was in the company of a talented Christian lady when a friend said to her, "Why have you never written a book?"

"I am writing two," was the quiet reply. "Have been engaged on one for ten years, the other five." "You surprise me," cried the friend, "what profound works they must be!" "It doth not appear yet what they shall be," was her reply, "but when He makes up His jewels my great ambition is to find them there."

"Your children?" I said. "Yes, my two children; they are my life work."

I rejoiced to hear this Christian mother's outspoken words of love and faith, and said in my heart, if all mothers builded over against their own house in this manner what would there be for reformers to do?

I know another—"who being dead yet speaketh." These volumes which lie by my hand are old and worn so that you can hardly read the words "Cottage Bible," well do I remember a plain sweet face bending over these open volumes. She never held a pen other than for friendship's sake. Yet she gave the world the five living epistles. It was given her to come to the table of the Lord with every child.

Once her wayward boy, to all human appearance, lay dying in a foreign land, yet he lived to say to that mother, "I knew you were praying for me. I knew you would pray me home."

Years after that faithful mother had gone to her rest he came for a casual visit to the old home. It was the evening of the usual weekly prayer-meeting, and he stood up to say a word for Jesus, and closed by saying, "Whatever I am or ever hope to be, or if I ever enter heaven, I owe it all to my mother."

The effect was electrical. One mother instantly arose and said, "When I am gone will my children say this of me?"

Another fell on her knees and begged God's mercy on her children. Prayer followed prayer, and a mighty outpouring of God's spirit in that church, in which scores of the young were gathered in, was the result.

Death to Self is Life in Christ, as He Himself Tells Jesus answered them saying: "The hour is come that the Son of man should be glorified."

"Verily, verily, I say unto you, except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone, but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit. "He that loveth his life shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world shall keep it unto life eternal."

Do you see that grain of wheat, alone and fruitless? Within its narrow walls is a germ of life, instinctively yearning for a larger, nobler, fruitful life, yet cabined, repressed.

There is but one gateway to life and fruitfulness, viz:—

"Fall into the ground and die." "You cannot climb up some" other way. You cannot go around. There is no short cut.

Repelling though it may be, the law is inexorable. Dread it, shrink from it, try to shun it if you will, there is no escape. "Fall into the ground and die," you must.

If you love your life as a grain of wheat, you lose it. If you hate your present life, you will find the larger life and fruitfulness.

The application is plain: Death to the self life is the only gateway to life in Christ and fruitfulness. "If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be (and shall see me)." "If any man serve me, him will my Father honor."

THREE KINDS OF BOYS AND A STORY THAT SHOWS WHICH OF THEM KNOWS HOW TO BE HAPPY

JOHN M. OSKISON

In Mother's Magazine.

The happiest boy in my neighborhood is Sammy Jones. A prize for being the most discontented would have to be divided between Willie Smith and "Tubby" Trot. We were talking about boys—their characteristics and their trainings—when one of us turned out this:

A boy I like is Sammy Jones. He never cries, nor loudly moans: "Oh, mother, give me this and that—Some roller skates, a baseball bat—Just like the ones their mothers got For Willie Smith and 'Tubby' Trot."

Young Sammy takes a piece of string, six empty spoons, a busted spring, a board, three sticks, one wire nail, a hoop from off a broken pail, and mixes 'em with brains and zeal—First think you know, a pushmobile!

Mrs. Smith's husband is the most successful lawyer in town. She probably has more money to spend than any other woman in town—and she has spending it. One of her favorite extravaganzas is her son, Willie. He is nearly nine; he has a pony, an air rifle, ball-bearing, two-wheeled roller skates, a twelve-ounce, eight-dollar tennis racket and every book in which he has displayed an interest—however fleeting—is in his library.

Is Willie satisfied, grateful, or interested? He is not! He is carrying around a fretful air and dissatisfied face because his mother won't get him a track long enough to go round the back garden, and a train pulled by an electric engine—a train big enough for him to ride in, and which costs I don't know how many hundreds of dollars.

The Trotts have a nice house in a nice part of town. Mr. Trot is an honest and prosperous grocer. Mrs. Trot has to count the dollars she spends; and she thinks twice before spending five dollars for any sort of toy for Henry (alias "Tubby").

"Tubby's" real sorrow is that he can't have the same toys that Willie Smith has. Thus, he wants a bugle, "like Willie Smith got last Christmas," he thinks he wants to be bigger of his scout company, like Elmer Nixon. "Tubby" is only ten, but he thinks a scout ought to be fully trained when he joins at the age of twelve. The fact that Willie can hardly ride his pony, that he makes himself a nuisance by thoughtlessly shooting the air rifle, that he is a poor roller skater, and that he can't stay on a tennis court ten minutes at a time, makes no appeal to "Tubby." He is sorely discontented merely because he can't have what some other boy has.

Sammy Jones—Well, I have tried to picture him in the twelve lines of rhyme. It is true that Sammy's mother has less to spend than Mrs. Trot, yet Sammy is not the town's poorest boy by a long shot. Very early in his life, Sammy learned that his mother refused to accept as a reason for buying something for him the statement that some other boy had it. Mrs. Jones used to say this:

"What I want to know, Sammy, is whether or not you would like this thing. I know you'd like it today—but how about next week?"

Sammy, of course, couldn't tell about next week until it came. "Very well," his mother would say. "We'll just wait awhile—and while we're waiting maybe we can think of some way to get it."

In those intervals of waiting, as Sammy grew to the age of constructive curiosity, he began to plan and work for some of the things he wanted. I am sure that he was the first boy on the streets, in our town, to go hopping and pushing up the hills and then go coasting deliciously down on a pushmobile. It was homemade and subject to sudden and disastrous breakdowns, but it taught Sammy one great truth—if you want to be popular, get something different, and something into which you put yourself.

Mrs. Jones is quite willing to spend money on Sammy—indeed, she has a mother's pride and joy in doing so. But in one particular she has developed differently from Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Trot. Whereas they want Willie and Henry to have, she wants Sammy to be.

Do you see the difference? Willie and Henry, being dear and wonderful boys, deserve, and ought to have, the very best of everything. But Sammy, being equally dear and wonderful, must be the best. To arrive at excellence, in the opinion of Mrs. Jones, doesn't so much mean giving her boy things as it does teaching him what they mean, how to use them, and how to get them.

It is only a monkey-instant, Mrs. Jones says, which makes "Tubby" Trot want the same kind of roller skates that Willie's mother bought for Willie. Before she buys them for Sammy, she wants to know—and from Sammy, if possible—whether or not they are really the best skates a boy can have, how well they wear, and whether or not they will give Sammy more fun than anything else of equal cost. In buying the skates, will Sammy become merely the play satellite of Willie Smith? If so, is that really good for Sammy?

The whine and the note of bitter envy, which come into the child's voice as it cries, "Other children have it—why can't I?" does not belong there. The child is human, and therefore covetous of what is interesting and amusing. But the child is also generous. It is quite willing to admire a neighbor's fire engine and baby doll if the child next door will only come and play with its bridge-building materials or its tea set.

The fact is that the mothers too often are responsible for the child's envy of what other children possess. And the root of envy feeds in very shallow soil.

There is a distinction between envy and ambition. The first may drive us quite as hard as the second, but what a difference in the results! To come back to the three boys of Our Town, I think "Tubby" Trot spends as much time worrying over the problem of whether or not he can get things like Willie Smith's as Sammy Jones spends in building his devices and in earning money to help buy what he himself can't make. But it is anxious work and planning for "Tubby," whereas Sammy has the pure joy of anticipation, the stimulus which comes from knowing that you are helping to create a pleasure.

Broadly speaking, no family ever has money enough to satisfy the desires all its members. The children always can find other children who have more to spend, have better clothes and more elaborate toys, have an automobile in the family, or enjoy long trips during the summer. The boy or girl in high school always can find classmates who have more to spend on clothes, on parties, on football gear, on candy, in going to the theater. No young man or woman in college but will see some one else outstrip him, or her, in acquiring those things which money can buy—ample rooms, the materials for elaborate parties, generous contributions to the many college activities, the extra books recommended, the little week-end trips to country houses, and again clothes!

Out of college—or arrived at the age—the young man or woman marries and begins a life in which the spending competition seems to become the most strenuous of any period. Young wives demand a shelter—either owned or rented—in the best section of Our Town, where prices are high. And it isn't difficult to persuade the husband that if he expects to succeed he had better not advertise himself unable to pay what some other man is paying for a house or an office.

While the child is still in its most impressionable years, it can be made to understand, most quickly that the money problem of its family is not like that of any other. It may be difficult to explain with complete satisfaction to the naturally socialistic mind of the child why the Smiths have more to spend than the Trotts, and why the Trotts have more than the Joneses. It may seem unjust and illogical. But also it must seem illogical that Sammy Jones at nine is taller and stronger, can run faster and dive better, than any boy in Our Town under eleven.

It is a question of getting in tune with the practical world as soon as possible.—Mother's Magazine.

Mrs. Jones is quite willing to spend money on Sammy—indeed, she has a mother's pride and joy in doing so. But in one particular she has developed differently from Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Trot. Whereas they want Willie and Henry to have, she wants Sammy to be.

Married Sixty Years.

At the home of their daughter, Mrs. F. A. Opatz, 1153 Harmar street, Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Perry are celebrating the sixtieth anniversary of their marriage, Monday, Nov. 12. Mr. Perry is eighty-two years of age and Mrs. Perry is seventy-seven, but it would never be suspected to just see them and hear them talk. Indeed so active has Mr. Perry been all summer that he made and cultivated a garden successfully while Mrs. Perry knits, sews and crochets as if she were twenty years younger as figures go. The marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Perry, who are natives of Wayne county, Indiana, took place at the home of the bride, who was a daughter of Rev. John C. Vardeman, one of the most prominent ministers of the United Brethren faith of the state and at one time member of the state legislature. Mr. Perry was a school teacher in his early days and taught in Allen county, being the first teacher of the school of Lafayette township, and afterwards teaching in both Adams and Allen counties. After their marriage Mr. Perry and his bride lived on a farm but later in life Mr. Perry learned the brick and stone mason trade and followed that branch of work for many years. Recently Mr. and Mrs. Perry have divided their time with their sons and daughters of whom there are two each. One son passed away some years ago. The sons and daughters are Ballard Perry, of Indianapolis, Mrs. Millie East, of Indianapolis, Mrs. Opatz, all of this city. Eleven grandchildren and eight great grandchildren are numbered in the descendants of this pioneer couple. The grandchildren are Leyton B. Perry, Mrs. D. W. Hedges, Helen, Phyllis and Masters Glen and Paul Perry, all of Indianapolis, Miss Martha Perry, also of Indianapolis, Mrs. Amy Thomas, Oran Ppatz of this city and Bertie and Elsie Askerin, of Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. Perry are members of the U. B. church and have many friends among its congregation, aside from those of neighborhood acquaintance. Mr. and Mrs. Opatz are having a family dinner in honor of Grandpa and Grandma Perry today and the son from Indianapolis, is here to assist in celebrating the day. Mr. Perry enjoys the distinction of being the oldest Mr. Perry in the state so far as he knows.

Father Kroll. Miss May Collins, a cousin to the bride, and Mr. Harold Burnett, a cousin, were the attendants. The bride wore a blue serge tailored suit with purple crepe blouse and black velvet. The bride and groom left at once on a wedding trip to eastern points. Mr. and Mrs. Combs will make their home in Detroit, where Mr. Combs is employed by the Wells-Fargo Express company.

Farnan—Sincl.

Miss Esther Sincl, of 1130 East Craghton avenue, and Mr. William Farnan, of 23 Baker street, were married at St. Patrick's church on Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock by Rev. Charles Thiele. Miss Helen Farnan and Mr. Frank Farnan were the attendants. The wedding was very quiet, owing to the illness in the home of the bride. The bride has managed a grocery store at Clear Lake for her father for the past five years. Mr. Farnan is assistant manager of the Star Bowling alleys.

Price—Martin.

Miss Ruth Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin, of 833 Columbia avenue, and Mr. E. M. Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. There was no objection to the marriage except the youth of both. The groom is employed in the city forestry department.

The marriage of Miss Thelma Henschen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Henschen, of 514 Watkins street, and Mr. Paul King, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Mr. and Mrs. King will live with the bride's parents.

Rev. and Mrs. Stock Celebrate.

The fiftieth anniversary of their marriage was the occasion for Rev. and Mrs. S. F. Stock entertaining relatives and friends who surprised them at their home in the parish of St. Martin's Lutheran church on Wednesday evening of this week. As the time was also Rev. Stock's fifty-first anniversary as pastor of St. Martin's church, the congregation seized this opportunity to give a tangible expression of their affection for him, beginning with the planning of a surprise party. Next Sunday Rev. and Mrs. Stock will have a family party next Sunday. Thirteen children born to Pastor Stock and his wife are Mrs. Ernest Weber, residing in the country near her parents; Martin J. Paul and Rudolph Stock, all of this city; Otto Stock, of Oklahoma; Mrs. Henry C. G. Meyer, of Madison street, and Rev. Walter Stock, who is engaged in mission work in Canada.

FORT WAYNE YOUNG LADY WEDS MARION BUSINESS MAN

MR. GUY D. COON.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard E. Pressler, 1224 Wefel street, was the scene of a quiet but beautiful wedding on Sunday afternoon when the marriage of their daughter, Guyanna, to Guy D. Coon, of Marion, took place at 2:30 o'clock. The ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Manford C. Wright, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, in the presence of a few friends and relatives. Miss Ruth Sionon and Mr. Chester Polls were bridesmaid and groomsmen. As a member of the Duddy club of this city, the bride has gained the admiration and esteem of her many associates, while her activities as a member of Trinity M. E. church and its organization of young people has led to her making many other friends all of whom are interested in extending many kind wishes as well as congratulations to the bride and groom. Mr. Coon is employed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance company and is actively engaged in that business in his home city. As Mr. Coon has been connected with several retail and manufacturing concerns his recent letter he was in a barn-loft, seven miles from the line, waiting for the call to relieve another unit. Wilcox has seen several units in which are men who left the training camp at Allentown, Pa., before his unit departed for France. The writer depicts a thrilling encounter with a German sub, which went to the bottom, after being struck by a depth bomb. He states that while near their European destination, cruising about a mile from shore with convoy, one of the destroyers fired a shot. Five blasts of the transport whistle sounded the lifeboat alarm, and everyone formed in order to march to the boats. A terrific explosion, rocking the transport on which Mr. Wilcox was sailing, impressed everyone with the idea that the boat had been struck by a torpedo. The officer of the day appeared in a few seconds and stopped the procession to the lifeboats, stating that the charge was merely that of the depth bomb which had sunk the submarine. Immediately when the submarine attack began, the transports scattered in every direction, and the torpedo boat destroyers rushed in. Until the lifeboat alarm was sounded, Wilcox and several others of his unit witnessed the fight between the U-boat and the destroyers and cannot use graphic enough words to express the sensation experienced.

BARRED THEIR ARMS FOR VACCINATION

Every Wabash Employee Quickly Obeys the Safety First Order.

One of the busiest surgeons in the city yesterday was Dr. C. F. Kaadt, of the Wabash, who vaccinated every employee at the local shops and offices yesterday who had not already been vaccinated. A letter from company headquarters, copies of which were placed upon the bulletin boards at the shops, stated that as a safety first measure every man should be vaccinated as a means of preventing the spread of smallpox in the city. The employees seemed to be of the same opinion, for most every one barred his arm and submitted to the necessary operation. A few who were not at the works yesterday were attended to this morning.

DESPOUDENT WOMAN COMMITTS SUICIDE

Mrs. Sadie L. Sloman Ends Life After Suffering From Several Years' Illness.

Mrs. Sadie L. Sloman, aged 37, wife of Samuel Sloman, made good her threat to end her own life when she fired a bullet from a 38-caliber revolver into her breast. Ill health of the past few years was the cause. She had become very despondent and had frequently deplored her fate. The affair occurred Thursday afternoon shortly after 5 o'clock in the rooms above her husband's saloon at the corner of Harrison and Pearl streets. Shortly before the fatal shooting Mrs. Sloman called her husband from his place of business, but she did not tell him anything about her intended plans. On his way downstairs he heard the shot that caused her death. The revolver had been about the house for some time. Wednesday the deceased had told the doctor that she had nothing to live for and wanted to die. She had told her husband the same thing and had asked to have an auto funeral when she died.

Surviving besides the husband is a step-mother, Mrs. Henry Barnhart, of Butler. Mrs. Sloman was born on October 20, 1880.

KHAKI SWEATER YARN HAS ARRIVED

Mrs. A. L. Johns Resigns as Chairman of Surgical Supply Work.

Mrs. A. L. Johns, who has faithfully and conscientiously served the local Red Cross workshop for some time as chairman of the surgical supply department, has resigned from her duties. Mrs. Johns has always been one of the hardest workers of the chapter but was forced to lay down her work because of ill health. During the past two weeks Mrs. Johns has suffered from illness largely brought on by overwork in the interest of the Red Cross. Mrs. V. K. Noble was appointed to take Mrs. Johns' place. Mrs. Johns will remain as chairman of the instruction for women.

The khaki yarn which has been expected for a number of days has arrived and will be given out to those wishing to make sweaters for the Red Cross. The sweaters may be made at home but must be returned to the workshop for shipment.

Mrs. Allen Hamilton, Mrs. Fred Hoffman and Mrs. Robert Harding addressed a meeting of the ladies of the St. Patrick's church Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Harding spoke on general Red Cross work, Mrs. Hamilton on hospital garments and Mrs. Hoffman on the making of knitted garments.

INCREASE GRANTED TO CLERKS AND CARRIERS

Postoffice is Preparing for Annual Christmas Packages.

In preparation of the Christmas parcel rush the local postoffice has been authorized to engage an extra clerk. The new man will be placed on the pay roll on November 19. Although great numbers of Christmas parcels for soldiers are still being sent through the offices the rush has somewhat died down. Too great a care cannot be taken in sending parcels correctly, as was demonstrated last week. A small parcel directed to a local party arrived in the postoffice in a sealed condition. Of course, this meant that it traveled in the same class as a letter. As a result the receiver had to pay a large sum, over $4, a get his package. If the return address had been on the package the sender could have been notified, causing the saving of the additional expense.

Official notice has been received at the postoffice of the increasing of 10 per cent of the salaries of all $800 a year clerks and carriers. This increase will go into effect on July 1.

Y. W. C. A. WILL SOON START CAMPAIGN TO RAISE $15,000

Hostess House at Fort Reilly.

Next week will mark the opening of the campaign in this city by the Y. W. C. A. to raise $15,000 for making better quarters and conveniences for girls and women about army cantonments. The nation is at present engaged in raising $4,000,000 for this purpose. Indiana has pledged to raise $100,000 of this amount and $15,000 will be Allen county's quota. The plan is to build the hostess houses, as the quarters will be called, in every cantonment where the commanding officers desire it. The government has been continually calling for better quarters for the girls and women near the training camps.

The accompanying picture shows a hostess house in the course of construction at Fort Reilly and Camp Funston. The picture was taken by Mrs. Lyman Rawles, whose husband, a former Fort Wayne doctor, is stationed in the base hospital at Camp Funston. Similar houses are under construction at nearly all of the army camps and it is for these buildings that the Y. W. C. A. is waging this coming campaign.

SAYS THE BOYS ARE WELL FED

RUDOLPH ROEBEL.

Fort Wayne parents who have been worried over whether their sons in the army are getting enough to eat should read the following letter from Rudolph Roebel, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William F. Roebel, 2314 Euclid avenue, who says he is getting fat. Roebel is a member of Company F, 13th regiment of engineers, now stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss. He writes as follows:

"Had a dandy vacation trip to the Gulf Sunday and sure enjoyed myself. They do lots of oyster fishing there and oyster shells are piled up all over everything—even the roads are made of oyster shells and they are fine. 'I ate the cake you sent me and thought it the best I ever ate. I didn't know what you meant in the other letter; thought you had sent a cake that I didn't get, but you don't want to worry about a little thing like that and mother don't fret about me, because I'm getting bigger every day. I weigh 161 pounds now, so you see I have gained about twelve pounds. We are getting lots of drill now, but feel fine over it and like it, but the conveniences are not here, so we kick about that, but manage to get away with half a wash. Don't look just as neat as I would wish to, but it is the best a fellow can do here."

"Mr. Freese was here Saturday and he found us in a very discouraged mood. We had just got changed around and the old bunch got split up. We are all in the same company yet, but in different tents. We can't have the rough house we used to—sure had lots of fun, but will have more, too."

"Things are going along just about the same. No change as I can see, but expect to get some more clothes this week that will be alright. A pair of overalls. I think this engineers' division is one of the best in the bunch and best service in the army. Will get all kinds of construction work, which will be very interesting."

"Now people don't worry about sending me anything, because I can get anything I want here and it won't cost me much postage. Have been feeling fine ever since I left home and the weather is fine down here, regular summer."

NAVY DEPARTMENT TO CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

Neighboring Towns Will Be Visited in Order to Gain Enlistments.

The navy recruiting department is preparing to conduct an extensive enlistment campaign during the next three weeks. Practically every small town as well as all parts of Fort Wayne will be covered and decorated with attractive enlistment posters. Several Fort Wayne men among them, Charles Reuss, Frank Moses and Hale Rehner, have volunteered to use their machines, but the station desires the services of several more. Citizens would be performing a patriotic service if they would volunteer the use of their cars for this purpose. Enlistments have been increasing rapidly. Thirteen men have already filed their applications for the various branches of the service this week. The recent order extending the age limit has proven to be very desirable by the number of applicants who have been placed within the limit.

KILLED INSTANTLY BY TRAIN.

Sherman Hively Struck by Train at Larwill Wednesday.

Sherman Hively, a member of Foreman Daniel Bennett's section gang, on the Larwill district of the Pennsylvania, was killed instantly Wednesday afternoon at 2:35 o'clock at the U. O. tower, four miles west of Columbia City. When the train was approaching the section men stepped aside to allow it to pass and Mr. Bennett noticed a shovel lying on the tracks. Fearing lest the train would pick it up and hurl it against some of the men, Mr. Bennett called to them to "look out for the shovel" and Mr. Hively evidently understood him to say that he should get the tool and in the effort to do so, Hively got onto the tracks and was unable to get off in time to escape being struck. His skull was fractured at the base of the brain and death was instantaneous. Mr. Hively had been working on the railroad only six weeks. He was previously employed in the Ream elevators at Larwill. ITALIANS ENLIST IN THE U. S. ARMY

Four of Them, All Residing on Bass Street, to Fight for Uncle Sam.

Four Fort Wayne men from Italy have felt the call of this country and have enlisted in the army through the local station. They are Sam Ebo, Mattio Turco, Andrew Boig and Frank Igni, of 404 Bass street. The Italians will leave Monday for an engineer unit as unskilled laborers. There has been a misunderstanding about the right of aliens to enlist and Sergeant Arthur Turner, of the local station explains it as follows: "An alien, without his first papers, can enlist if he comes from a country allied with the United States, one from a neutral nation must have his first papers, but an alien from one of the central powers, our enemies, cannot enlist under any circumstances."

Five men were sent to the training camps Tuesday by the Fort Wayne recruiting station. Two went to the recruit section, two to the aviation section and one to the coast artillery. The local station secured thirty-six enlistments for the first ten days of November, making it the second city in Indiana from the point of enlistments. Indianapolis was first.

East of the Soguna, has been given up to the Austro-German advance. The extremist party which gained control of the Petrograd government last week claims in an official statement sent out by wireless from Petrograd today to have inflicted a complete defeat upon the forces of Premier Kerensky and General Korniloff, advancing on Petrograd. The engagement occurred near Tsarkoe-Selo, fifteen miles south of Petrograd.

The Kerensky forces are said to be retreating. The premier apparently is still with them. Measures are being taken for his capture, the Bolsheviks communicate declares.

North of Peltre the Austro-Germans have captured 14,000 Italians who apparently were cut off in their attempt to reach the new defense positions. The Italians, are prepared to give battle to the invaders and heavy fighting is not unexpected.

The Italian reverse has caused Premier Lloyd-George, of Great Britain, and Painleve, of France, both former ministers of war to declare for solidarity of the allied command and efforts on the battle fields of Europe.

CAMP SHELBY PREPARES FOR THANKSGIVING DAY

Hattiesburg, Miss., Nov. 13.—The Indiana soldiers at Camp Shelby are looking forward with eager pleasure to the coming of Thanksgiving and Christmas because they know, without being told, that the people back home will remember them. They expect good home cooking and delicacies that the government does not provide and which cannot be bought in Hattiesburg.

sia or in Russia, the British leader declared.

Other dispatches say that Maximilian rule in Petrograd apparently is weakening as Premier Kerensky at the head of loyal troops, advances from Gatchina, 30 miles southwest of the capital. Reports received in Finland says that the premier has been overthrown and that the Bolsheviks have been overthrown. There is no confirmation of these reports, which are at variance with latest advice from Petrograd itself.

The Bolsheviks are digging trenches and erecting barricades in preparation for a battle with the Kerensky forces. Fighting has occurred near Gatchina between the revolutionists and the Kerensky troops, but with what result is not known.

Premier Kerensky's advance toward Petrograd caused the military cadets there on Sunday to rise against the Bolsheviks. Although outnumbered, the cadets fought desperately for possession of the telephone exchange until they either killed, or captured. The sailors are reported to showing signs of dissatisfaction with Bolshevik rule and even the leaders, Lenin and Trotsky, have sought a place of safety on a cruiser in the River Neva.

The committee of public safety, formed in Petrograd from elements opposed to the extremists is gaining ground and a number of its members have been sent to Gatchina to attempt to arrange a compromise between Premier Kerensky and the Bolsheviks. In Moscow the conservative elements have gained the upper hand and have formed a government, which, however, is reported to include some Bolshevik members.

effort to effect a compromise with Premier Kerensky on an all socialist government. There are conflicting reports from Moscow and other large cities. The Bolshevik report officially that Moscow is still in their hands, although a telegram to the committee of public safety on Sunday said that the Kerensky adherents had driven the Bolsheviks into the Kremlin where they were besieged.

Among the reports heard is one indicating that Lenin and Trotsky are aboard the cruiser Aurora and are directing operations from that place of safety. The scenes on the streets today were similar to those of last Thursday when the people quietly transacted their business as though no bullets had disturbed them.

Incidents of Sunday's Fight.
At the corner of the Grand Morskai and the Gorokoval near the telephone exchange, during the long battle on Sunday in which the Bolsheviks regained possession of the exchange from the military cadets, incidents of the fighting could be seen from the office of the Associated Press nearby. There were intermittent fusillades from rifles and machine guns during the morning and the afternoon as the Bolsheviks, stationed 100 yards down the Morskai made spasmodic sorties toward the exchange. A curious crowd appeared around the corners, huddled buildings and crouched in doorways to escape bullets.

An armored car manned by military cadets and stationed in the square around the cathedral, leaved the streets there with a fusillade in reply to occasional firing from Bolsheviks in fantymen hiding behind the marble columns in front of the great cathedral.

Out of Fuel; Captured.
Some time later the fuel supply of the car became exhausted and the car was captured by Bolshevik sailors, who killed two of the occupants by firing through the port holes. They then broke in the steel door and dragged the third occupant, who was wounded, to the street. He was killed by the sailors while a crowd of spectators within the hotel Astoria cried out in protest. The bodies lay in the street for half an hour until hospital nurses and French officers gained permission to remove them.

At one moment machine gun bullets were whistling through the streets, the next the firing ceased and the people doffed their hats as a funeral cortege with four white horses drawing a white canopied hearse and black garbed mourners following on foot crossed the Morskai directly in the line of fire. Bullets splattered against the facades of the buildings and one military cadet fell in a crumpled heap across the street from the Associated Press office. Another fell with a shot through the head as he was warning the onlookers to seek safer quarters.

Ammunition Exhausted; Surrender.
The military cadets within the telephone exchange surrendered shortly after dusk when the ammunition became exhausted. The city then became quiet except for occasional spasmodic firing.

Bolshevik forces reinforced by sailors from the battleship Petropavlovsk and other warships and from Helsingfors, patrolled the city today. The heaviest guard, backed by artillery, was stationed at the telephone exchange to prevent a surprise attack at recapture. Two other clashes between the military cadets and the Bolsheviks occurred Sunday at the Fontanka bridge, where a military cadet car was captured and the inmates killed and at Vladimirovsky, the military cadets' school, which was captured only after a brave defense. The military cadets, who correspond to the West Point cadets in America, are the only military forces in Petrograd loyal to Premier Kerensky.

BREAD RULES ARE ISSUED

to any retailer for any unsold bread or other bakery products, "or exchange any of them for other bread or bakery products which he has sold."

Regulations of Weight.
Bread must be made and sold only in the specified weights or multiples of sixteen ounce units which must not run over sixteen ounces and twenty-four ounce units, which must not run over twenty-five and a half ounces in both cases net weights, unwrapped, twelve hours after baking. Each unit of two or multiple loaves must conform to these weight requirements.

Rolls must be in units weighing from one to three ounces, but no rolls manufactured or offered for sale shall weigh, unwrapped, after baking, less than one ounce or more than three ounces. These standards are to be determined by averaging weights of twenty-five loaves or five dozen rolls of each unit.

Use of Sugar.
In weighing dough on the base of 196 pounds of any flour, meal or mixture, bakers must not use more than three pounds of can or beet sugar or in lieu of them three and one-half pounds of corn sugar, nor more than six pounds of fresh milk from which butter fats have been extracted; nor use any shortening except not exceeding two pounds of compounds containing not more than 15 per cent of animal fats; or, instead, not more than two pounds of vegetable fats. Where sweetened condensed milk is used, its added sugar contents shall be deducted from the net sugar allowed. Sugar or fats are not to be added to the dough during the baking process or to the bread or rolls when baked.

To Be Home Yourself.
Food Administrator Hoover recommended to all wholesale bakers today to establish as their wholesale prices those at which they will offer their products for sale in lots of twenty-five pounds or more, unwrapped for cash at the bakery door, subject to fair additional charges for wrapping and delivering when the bakers perform those services. Licensees are asked to report these wholesale prices to the federal food administrator in their state. Some wholesale bakers already are retailing bread at their plants directly to consumers.

Believing frequent deliveries enhance prices, Mr. Hoover urged all bakers to reduce deliveries to once a day over each route, and to this end, to consolidate deliveries or zone their territories.

Ole Dad Henderson our lokäl wether profet who perdickeed what the wethers a goin to be hit or miss (mostly miss) when he got up last Thursday morning and seen snow on the ground tuk his 2-foot rule and went outside his house to measure the depth of same for comparison with the depth of the 1st snows of former yrs. Jest as Dad stepd outen the back kitchin door into the snow with his 2-foot rule in one hand and his cane in tother his foot slipd and he come down with a dull sikkening thud dogblame neer stabbin hisself in the vitals with his 2-foot rule. After Dad got on his feet and express hisself in langwidge befitting the occasion he measurd the depth of the snow and made it out 6 inches, but Lem Brown says only about 3 inches fell being as Dad measurd betwix his house and woodshed where the snow had drifted.

Be that as it may to wake up and behold this 1st snow on the ground was a good eal of a surprise to everybuddy in Bingville altho they knowd it would come sooner or later, but they vassent expectting it to sneek down on em in the dark, as it were.

Some grate pote of the past whose name has excaped us for the moment has wrote a pome entitled, "Bootfool Snow." We cant jest repeat the lines of this pome being as they aint sufficiently famulyer to us, but from whot we can recollect this pote goes on to tell whot a lovely thing snow is becuz its so pure and white et cettery too numerus to mentchion.

All we have to say in this conuckshion is that the pote who wrote that pome couldnt of been as mutch akustomd to snow eight munths in the yr like Bingville folks is, or he wouldnt talk so mutch about snow being so turrible bootfool. If he had to waller around in snow three or four ft deep all winter long like we haft to do here in Bingville he mite write things about snow and he mite call it things but he wouldnt call it bootfool. In our eddytoriul opinyun enuff snow is a genteel sufficiency but when its three or four ft deep its altogether sooper-floos.

However well haft to make the best of the snow whitch has fell and the best of what further snow falls in the fuchure. Snow is somethink whitch we cant pervent. If we could we would.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION ISSUED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Washington, Nov. 8.—President Wilson has issued his 1917 Thanksgiving proclamation calling upon the nation, even in the midst of the sorrow and great peril of a world shaken by war, to thank God for the blessings that are better than mere peace of mind and prosperity of enterprise.

The proclamation fixing Thursday, November 29, as Thanksgiving day, follows:

By the President of the United States of America.

A PROCLAMATION.

It has long been the honored custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us as a nation. That custom we can follow now even in the midst of the tragedy of a world shaken by war and immeasurable disaster, in the midst of sorrow and great peril, because even amidst the darkness that has gathered about us we can see the great blessings God has bestowed upon us, blessings that are better than mere peace of mind and prosperity of enterprise.

Fighting for Mankind.

We have been given the opportunity to serve mankind as we once served ourselves in the great day of our declaration of independence by taking up arms against a tyranny that threatened to master and debase men everywhere and joining with other free peoples in demanding for all the nations of the world what we then demanded and obtained for ourselves. In this day of the revelation of our duty not only to defend our own rights as a nation, but to defend also the rights of freedom throughout the world, there has been vouchsafed us in full and inspiring measure the resolution and spirit of united action.

We have been brought to one mind and purpose. A new vigor of common counsel and common action has been revealed. We should especially thank God that in such circumstances, in the midst of the greatest enterprise the spirits of men have entered upon, we have, if we but observe a reasonable and practical economy, abundance with which to supply the needs of those associated with us, as well as our own.

National Spirit.

A new light shines about us. The great duties of a new day awaken a new and greater national spirit in us. We shall never again be divided or wonder what stuff we are made of.

And while we render thanks for these things, let us pray Almighty God that in all humbleness of spirit we may look always to Him for guidance, that we may be kept constant in the spirit, and purpose of service; that by His grace our minds may be directed, and our hands strengthened, and that in His good time liberty and peace and the comradeship of a common justice may be vouchsafed all the nations of the earth.

Asks Prayer on Thanksgiving Day.

Wherefore I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the 29th day of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease upon that day from their ordinary occupations and in their several homes and places of worship to render thanks to God, the great ruler of nations.

Done in the District of Columbia this 7th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand, nine hundred and seventeen, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-second.

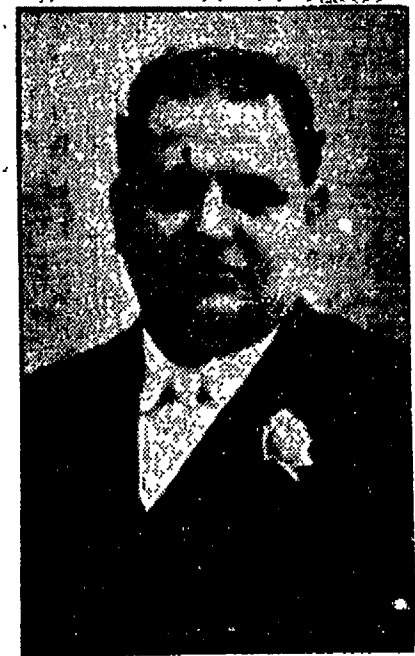

By the President: WOODROW WILSON.

ROBERT LANSING, Secretary of State.

HENRY J. NICTER TOPPLES OVER DEAD Had Just Left the House When He is Fatally Stricken.

Henry J. Nicter, residing at 1208 Erie street, dropped dead at the corner of Washington and University streets at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

rushed to his side and removed him to a house nearby. Dr. Morse Harrod was summoned, but Nicter was dead before the physician arrived. An investigation was later made by Coroner J. E. McArdle, who found that death had been due to a paralytic affection.

Mr. Nicter had had a slight stroke of paralysis about one month ago, but had apparently recovered and had again resumed his work. He was forty-one years old and was well known. He was a member of the Cathedral congregation, the Holy Name society and C. B. L. of I.

The deceased is survived by the widow and the following children: Helen, Gabriella, Modesta and Katharine. Two brothers, Albert and Edmund and one sister, Rosina, also survive.

Nicter was born in Fort Wayne in 1876, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Otto Nicter. For ten years he was employed by Henry Schone in the undertaking business, and later took employment with the Old Fort Knitting mills, where he worked until a year ago, when he was compelled to resign because of declining health. Some month later his health improved to such an extent that he accepted a position with the Nussbaum Electrical company, in whose employ he was at the time of his death.

EDGERTON TO HAVE COAL

Coal Administrator Beadell Makes Agreement for Four Hundred Tons. FUEL ALSO ORDERED FOR HUNTERTOWN Situation in Fort Wayne is Improved as Result of Moderate Weather.

Through the efforts of Henry Beadell, coal administrator for Allen county, Edgerton, which has been out of coal for several days, is soon to be supplied. Through an agreement reached with the Edgerton Tile company, 400 tons of coal in that company's possession will be supplied to all needing the fuel, not only in Edgerton but in all of the surrounding towns as well, at $6.50 per ton. Judge J. W. Eggegan in circuit court Thursday afternoon made an order authorizing the coal administrator to take over the coal and dispose of it in accordance with the agreement made with the tile company. This coal will go on sale Saturday morning and all of it will no doubt be disposed of within a few hours.

Mr. Beadell was called to Huntertown, Wednesday, to investigate conditions there. He found the town entirely out of fuel and immediately sent an order to the state coal administrator at Indianapolis, urging that official to forward coal to Huntertown at once. Mr. Beadell reports that the moderate weather has helped the coal situation in Allen county very materially. He is putting forth every effort to supply Fort Wayne dealers that they may be prepared for the cold weather which is not far distant.

MAY WILL SPEND THE HOLIDAYS VISITING Long Police Record Lands May Walter a Heavy Sentence.

The unsavory case of May Boittt Hayes and F. Truchet was given an airing in police court, Thursday morning. The couple were arrested in the rooms of May Walter at 128 East Columbia street, Wednesday morning. Both May and Truchet pleaded guilty. May who has an endless police record, was given $50 and cost and thirty months in the correctional department at Indianapolis, while Truchet drew $15 and costs with a promise of the maximum sentence next time. May Walter put up the poor unsuspecting "wider lady" plea and was let go with a warning.

Police Notes.

William Gibbs and Henry Little, drunks, drew the lucky numbers and were let go, while their more unfortunate brethren, Charles Clegg and Frank Darcey were given $8 and costs. William Poists, who has lost his grip, was given a chance to recuperate at the penal farm. Poists is in a bad condition because of his excessive drinking, and was on the verge of having the jimmies when found Wednesday evening.

Three Auto Accidents.

Wilbur Speaker reported to the police Wednesday evening that a lad by the name of King ran in front of his machine at the corner of Packard and Broadway earlier in the afternoon. The boy was knocked to the ground but not seriously injured.

Felix and August Poisson, stock dealers, reported to the police that while on their way home, east of town, a machine driven by G. Emrick, of Huntertown, ran into their wagon, breaking it and throwing them to the road. Felix Poisson was injured about the face and chest while his brother sustained cuts and bruises to his face and side. None of the injuries were serious.

Harry Baum, 2708 Hanna street, reported that while driving between Bower avenue and Oliver streets, a lad by the name of Nagel ran in front of his car and was thrown to the pavement. The lad crawled from underneath the machine and refused all help saying that he was not hurt. Baum offered to take him home, but he insisted on going to school.

Marine Escapes.

Ernest Marins, the automobile and tire thief, arrested by Detectives Rundell and Junk, Monday, has escaped from the custody of the Delaware county sheriff. The local police department gave the man to the Delaware sheriff, Thursday, with the warning to keep him handcuffed. Upon arriving at Muncie the man pleaded to have the cuffs removed and the sheriff granted his request. As a result the man is at large.

FIRST OF NEW STREET CARS HAS ARRIVED

Ten of Them Will be Put in Service Within Ten Days or Two Weeks.

The first of the new city cars arrived in Fort Wayne Wednesday and is now being put in shape for service, it being intended that these new cars will be operated on the Broadway-South Wayne line. There has been considerable delay in getting delivery of these cars on account of the car builders, as well as the truck builders having their plants filled to capacity with equipment for the government.

These cars were built by the St. Louis Car company, of St. Louis, Mo., and are equipped with Baldwin trucks. The St. Louis Car company has orders for more than $2,000,000 worth of equipment to be furnished to the government and therefore the question of turning out street cars has become somewhat a secondary matter with them. There will be a total of ten new cars received, which should reach the city within the next week or ten days. These are the first double-truck cars to be used in service on the local lines. These cars are somewhat the same design, at least in appearance, as the cars now operated on the South Wayne-Broadway and Pontiac-Lakeside lines, except that they are considerably larger, having a seating capacity of 52.

They have rear entrance and exit and also a front exit. This will materially assist in the prompt unloading of passengers. The cars are made to operate in either direction, so it will not be necessary to turn them on a "Y" as at present. The cars are equipped with the same destination signs as now used, except being double-end cars, they have "destination" signs on both ends.

In addition to these, a new and important feature has been added—that of route sign. This is a large sign on the right-hand side of the dash, which is fitted with a roller to carry numerals. These signs are 12 inches square, the numbers being 10 inches high. These numbers will be illuminated at night so they can be seen from a greater distance than the destination signs. Route number will be on the cars, which will be used on the new cars and all of the present cars in service will be equipped with this same feature as soon as the change can be made. This will assist passengers materially in identifying the particular car they wish to take, especially on Calhoun street, where several different lines are operated. The cars are equipped with four 25 h. p. motors, have air brakes and air sanders.

Another important feature is the life-guard or fender. This is somewhat different from the fenders that have been used on the local lines for a number of years, in that the fender is directly in front of the wheels and is put in operation or dropped down into the track by an object coming in contact with a trip, which is directly in front of the car. In case a person or object falls in front of the car, the person or object trips the life-guard, dropping it down in front of the wheels, which prevents the person or object coming in contact with the wheels until such time as the car can be brought to a stop. The cars are equipped with electric heaters and these heaters are equipped with a thermostat, which will regulate the heat of the car at all times. The thermostat used for this purpose is similar to that used in residences and offices to control furnaces. This will insure uniform heat at all times, depending on the weather conditions. The thermostat is so set that the temperature in the car at no time is less than 58 degrees. The cars are 42 feet in length and complete with motors and trucks 34,500 pounds. On account of being equipped with 30 inch wheels, it will permit of a very low and comfortable step for boarding and alighting. The entrance and exits are equipped with doors which are operated by the motorman and conductor.

The placing of these cars in service within the next week or ten days, will very materially improve the service on all lines, in that additional cars will be available for the lines now being operated and the service on all lines will be materially increased, particularly during the peak period.

The cars are equipped with brass sash, which increases materially size of the window openings. These sash are the invention of A. W. Reddon, superintendent of motive power, who is also the designer of the car.

HIGH SCHOOLERS BUSY REHEARSING FOR PLAY

For the first time in the history of the school, the high school senior play is to be given in the Majestic theater instead of the high school auditorium. This move has been found to be necessary because of the great number of people who have already engaged tickets for the affair. The title of the play, "Who's Crazy," is not very enlightening, but sufficient to say the farce comedy of the highest type which it portrays is exactly suited to the talent of high school seniors.

The entire cast under the direction of Mr. Franklin is sparing no effort to make this play a great success. Rehearsals are being held daily and the players will soon be ready for the final dress rehearsal to be held on the evening of November 27. The play will be given two evenings, November 28 and 30.

AUBURN MAN DIES SITTING IN CHAIR

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 9.—Isaac Workman, 68 years old, a well known resident of this city, died suddenly while sitting in his chair at his home here this morning. He was apparently in good health and but a few moments before he had been conversing with members of his family. The coroner was called and pronounced death due to cerebral apoplexy.

Why Some Ballplayers Wear Out Quicker Than Others

Honus
WAGNER

BY J. B. SHERIDAN.

MEN are made variously. How is it that some boys wear out in baseball within a few years, while others go on until it seems that they must get weary of the crowds and the shouting and the dust of the base paths, the throws and the training and straining and would just naturally quit?

How is it that two young chaps come up together, one lasts a year or two, the other keeps on playing until he meets his sons and the sons of his pals coming up?

There is Bobby Wallace, for instance. This is Wallace's twenty-fourth season in the major leagues. He began with Cleveland in the fall of 1894. Where are the boys who came up with Wallace?

Well, his great rivals, Fred Clarke and Jimmie Collins, have long since quit playing, and almost have been forgotten. Clarke quit active play about 1907. Then he managed Pittsburgh for several years, then retired, weary of the game, and able to make more money out of it than in it.

Collins, who was Wallace's direct rival as the greatest third baseman in the game, was done about 1906. He quit then, and though he managed a team or two since, he has almost been forgotten in baseball. Yet he was the greatest third baseman that ever wore spikes.

These stars came into the big league at the same time as Wallace, yet they are gone and almost forgotten.

Grew Old in Service.

Wallace has had a great career in baseball. Only one man, A. C. Anson, has played longer than Wallace in the major leagues. Anson did twenty-seven seasons, but had he not been his own manager he would not have done so many. The old man could hit to the end, but for the last ten years of his major league career Anson was so slow and stiff that it is doubtful if any manager, other than himself, would have employed him.

Jack O'Connor did twenty-two years in the majors and was useful to the end. Jake Beckley began somewhere about the time O'Connor did, 1886, and played nineteen years in the majors, then some in the minors. Beckley, like Wallace, was an iron man. Quite a fellow, Jake, who restrained his appetite that he might play ball. Jake loved to eat and drink, but he would not let himself indulge.

O'Connor was really a wonderful man. He always restrained his diet during the playing season, but gave it full rein during the off season. O'Connor had some appetites, too. Usually he put on 20 pounds of extra weight every winter and regularly took it off every spring. O'Connor must have taken off 500 pounds of flesh in the twenty-two years of his baseball playing. He ate and drank like Gargantua during the winter, but denied himself like a monk in the spring, summer and fall.

Lajoie, who did his twenty years in the majors, was like Wallace and Beckley, an iron man. "Larry" came from Breton peasant stock. The Bretons live on the southwest coast of France, and are the remnant of the great Celtic race which peopled the continent of Europe before the Teutons came from the north and the Romans from the south to drive them out. The Bretons lived off the rocks and fishing grounds of Brittany, beaten by Atlantic spray long before the dawn of history. No wonder, then, that Lajoie is a hardy man. "Larry," like Wallace, needed no conditioning in his youth. He threw a couple, hit a couple and was ready for the fray.

Young Another Wonder.

Cy Young was another physical wonder, as his twenty-two years of first-class pitching in the major leagues will attest. Yet Young was not hard of flesh, like Wallace, Beckley or Lajoie. He was rather soft and inclined to obesity in later life. He began his major league career with Cleveland in 1890 and ended with the same club in 1912. He put in some ten years with the Boston Americans and two years in St. Louis.

Young and O'Connor were battery mates for many years, for they lived much alike. Old Cy endured twenty-two years, pitching all the time, which is the most remarkable record of endurance in baseball. Pitching takes more out of a man than playing the infield or outfield, and it does demand a good arm. Cy always had the good arm. It never went sore on him. He never did have a good head. But he did have a grand constitution.

Cy never cared much for beer, the beverage of the old-time ballplayer, but he did not mind a little "red eye" now and then. In fact, the old boys say that the farmer could pack more whisky about him than any man they had ever known. O'Connor, who enjoys a joke on himself, tells a good story of how he showed Young the sights of Boston.

Cy, it seems, had just joined Cleveland, was fresh from the farm and had not yet seen Boston. So his battery mate, O'Connor, undertook to show him the town.

Of course, it is understood that "seeing the town," in those days meant not seeing Boston Common, Bunker Hill Monument, the Washington oak, etc., but making the acquaintances of as many bartenders as you possibly could.

"I drank beer while Cy drank whisky, drink for drink, with me," says O'Connor, "but the last thing I remembered that night was that Cy put me to bed."

"I got up the next morning looking for sedlitz powder and something cooling. I got the powder and I went into the breakfast room to get a grapefruit. Then I saw Young behind a huge plate of beefsteak and onions. I turned and ran for the fresh air. The very sight of beefsteak made me seasick. Cy ate the entire steak, all the onions, a lot of bread and butter, stuck a strong cigar in his mouth and joined me on the sidewalk."

An Early Quitter.

"What made you quit so early last night, Jack?" he drawled. "I was just gittin' goin' good, when you said 'Let's go home, I'm sleepy.'"

"I never undertook to show that 'rube' another town."

Young had a splendid constitution and he was a most conscientious trainer. Each January 1 for twenty-two years saw him at Hot Springs, Ark. O'Connor and Beckley were always at Hot Springs, too. These three men never missed a season at the Arkansas resort, while they were playing ball. Maybe the waters of the "Famed Fountain" of youth had a deal to do with the tremendous longevity as players of Young, O'Connor and Beckley.

The first constituent of an iron man is, naturally, iron. You must have a man, and he must have a hard flesh, steel teeth, good teeth and good digestion. All iron men have large, strong teeth. This means good mastication, and good mastication means a good stomach. A good, sound stomach means a strong constitution and long life.

Anson always took a season at Hot

Spring. It is pretty well established that the Arkansas resort is the location of Ponce de Leon's famous "Fountain of Youth." It may or may not be a coincidence, but the fact remains that Young, O'Connor, Beckley, Anson, Clarke, Wallace and Wagner, men who played from seventeen to twenty-two years of major league baseball, have all been frequenters or habitués of Hot Springs. In fact, every iron man of baseball, except Lajoie, has been a yearly visitant to Hot Springs.

The first constituent of an iron man is, naturally, iron. You must have a man, and he must have a hard flesh, steel teeth, good teeth and good digestion. All iron men have large, strong teeth. This means good mastication, and good mastication means a good stomach. A good, sound stomach means a strong constitution and long life.

Anson's Great Physique.

Given your iron man, he must take care of himself. Yet, to be frank about it, most of the iron men have not taken care of themselves. Wallace did. It was natural to him. Anson did, too, though "Cap" kept late hours all his life. He never drank and he always ate within reason. Anson had a great physique. A rubber in the baths of Hot Springs once said to me that he had rubbed men for thirty-five years and that Anson was the handsomest man he had ever laid hands upon.

"He was perfectly white and hard as marble," said the rubber. "Mr. Anson was the finest flesh I ever touched."

But many of the iron men "hit it up" pretty gayly at times. O'Connor was a perfect example of behavior from January 1 to October, but Jack loved to make up for lost time during October, November and December. In so much as he usually put on 20 pounds in that time, one may easily imagine that he did make up a lot of time.

O'Connor was a real iron man. He came of iron people. At 90, his father is still at work, a watchman in the Federal Building at St. Louis, capable and alert as a man of 40. Old Man O'Connor has never failed to walk to boiler shop before he played ball.

Wagner's folks were all iron workers, too. Wallace's people also toiled in the iron mills, though they were hardly enough when they came from the hills of Scotland.

So, you see, iron must be bred in your bone if you are to be an iron man. The fact is, that only the sons of hard-toiling men amount to much in baseball. The bone must be hard, the muscle must be closely attached to the bone and strong for a boy to become a good ballplayer. There are exceptions to this. Cobb comes of a family in which no member did hard work prior to the civil war, but Cobb's father and mother had to do hard work after the war. To this fact the Georgian, no doubt, owes his pre-eminence.

Baseball is never a favorite pastime with the sons of the well-to-do. As a matter of fact, baseball calls for more hard muscle and more application of mind than the sons of the well-to-do can give it. A boy must be strong to put power behind his blow. He must be strong to throw and run, and he must be strong to stand up for hours under the hot sun.

The Pampered Youths.

The young college men mostly are sons of well-to-do parents and they break down early in their day in base-when the man is about 40. A man should slow up some, too, but there have been men who have been very fast at 40. Absolute speed is not essential in baseball. A man's legs should be good to carry him to until he is 45, by which time his eye will be so weakened that he cannot hit very well. But many men use their legs so hard, run so badly, strain themselves so in making quick starts, that they ruin their legs early in life. Others hurt their arms in making unnecessarily quick throws or throwing too much and too hard.

Field of Silence in Midst of Noise

Knowledge spreads in a thousand ways, and in a hundred different fields of learning the war is changing our ideas. Very strangely the tale of Antwerp has contributed to our new knowledge. The sounds of the bombardment reached out to an astonishing distance in some parts, then skipped some other parts, and were then heard for miles beyond these strange zones of silence. The terrific uproar of the guns was heard, generally, for more than fifty miles. Then came a zone of silence extending for nearly forty miles in all directions. After that the sounds of the firing and from work every day, and his home is five miles from his employment. He trips that five miles twice a day and then patrols his beat in the Post Office. He shifts watches every two weeks and takes his work, night or day, as it comes. The nonagenarian is a close reader of newspapers and a fine judge of political events. O'Connor's mother lived to be almost 90. So this chief of the iron men of baseball comes of iron stock.

Wallace, too, is bred of hardy, long-lived, enduring folk. His father is a lively man at 75. Anson's folks were all tremendously strong and long-lived. You see, a man must be tough fiber to be an iron man of baseball.

Cy Young Came from Farm.

Anson's legs were the first thing to give way on him. "Cap" always was a heavy, large-boned man and not very fast of foot. He could murder the ball so long as he could stand at the plate. Cy Young went a good many years longer than he would have gone had he been obliged to use his legs. As it was, all Cy used was his arm, and that was good. Like Anson, Cy came of farming folk and during the winter worked a lot on his farm in Tuscarawas County, Ohio. Cy lived a wiser life in winter than his friend, O'Connor, who spent the off season among the breweries of St. Louis.

Beckley was bred to go the route. His people were boiler makers about Hannibal. Jake himself worked in the ball. Jimmie Collins, who was Wallace's great rival in the late 90s, broke, dislocating a knee and went out in 1906. Collins lived well and had become heavy and soft before the knee gave way. Scores and scores of the young men come up, make good, then fall out of condition and pass out. There was Arthur Devlin, who was with New York in 1903-06. Devlin was one of the three great third basemen of his time. He was a star, but endured only a few years. Bad digestion stopped him when he was at the height of his fame, and when he should have been good for many more years.

Bill Dineen came into the game seven years after Young, was Cy's teammate for four years then dropped out, while Cyano went on for five more years. Dineen ate too well, and what ballplayers call the "old uric acid" got him in the arm. Yet Dineen was one of the finest physical specimens that ever played ball.

Some big fellows look strong but prove to be soft and unenduring. Jack Chesbro was one of these. Chesbro had three great years as a pitcher, then broke down. Jack was a large, soft-boned boy, with bad ankles and could not stick the route.

Some men hold out in arm, legs and bone, but lose the keenness of vision essential to good batting. Willie Keeler, who did his twenty years in the majors, was one of these. Keeler's legs were good to the end and his arm worked all right, but his eyes went back on him and he had to quit.

The eye is really the first thing that should go back on a man. It is in the nature of things for the eyes to fail were audible over a hundred miles from Antwerp.

The result of the Antwerp bombardment has led scientists to believe that sound waves do not travel upward and onward indefinitely into space, to be always lost there, but rise for forty or fifty miles and are then thrown back again or deflected toward the earth, according to the density and dampness of the atmosphere. Now, the quality of the atmosphere differs in different localities. The air overlying one area may not be damp enough to throw back the sound, which would pass on without interruption, and so produce a zone of silence; while farther afield the air would cause the sound to echo back again.

This is very interesting. Professor Tyndall long ago discovered that on one day a trumpet blown in one place could be heard at a greater distance than a cannon fired in another place. What was the meaning of the mystery? Just what our learned men have now been learning afresh.

But Tyndall discovered that there exist, high up in the upper atmosphere, what he called acoustic clouds, invisible, yet of great importance, clouds of a density different from the surrounding air. He called them acoustic because they have the property of echoing back sound to the earth. A trumpet blast, its waves caught and returned to the earth by such clouds, would have its notes distributed over a wider area than the booming of a cannon whose roar penetrated into air with no acoustic clouds.

It would help a lot if we could get out an injunction against the people who insist on acting as if our time were theirs.

HOPE TO AVERT PARALYSIS OF RAILWAYS

PRESIDENT WILSON AND BROTHERHOOD CHIEFS WILL MEET

Conference at White House Expected to Prevent Great Tie-Up That Has Been Threatened.

ARBITRATION LIKELY TO BE REMEDY

Washington, Nov. 14.—Aroused by the plans of the railway men's brotherhoods to demand wage increases, President Wilson has set the machinery of the federal government in motion to avert, if possible, the threat of a paralysis of the country's transportation systems so vital to the war.

At a conference with the heads of the "big four" brotherhoods at the White House on November 22, President Wilson appeal to the labor leaders to defer any struggle until after the country has passed through the period where its transportation systems are so vital to the conduct of the war.

With the announcement of this conference it was disclosed that President Wilson, while entertaining every hope for a complete agreement, does not intend to permit the country transportation systems to be tied up by a strike at this critical time in the nation's history, even if it becomes necessary for the government to operate the roads.

GERMAN HEAD OF ARADIO CONCERN IS UNDER ARREST

Elmira, N. Y., Nov. 14.—Mystery attaches to the arrest here of Ernest Mignon, a German reservist, who is the head of the Mignon wireless corporation, which makes wireless apparatus and does a big business. Secret service men, after arresting Mignon, took several places of apparatus and sealed them. Mignon at one time was a member of the crew on Emperor William's yacht. He had a wireless station here until it was dismantled at the beginning of the war. Life has been openly sympathizing with the Germans, according to federal agents, but just what led to his arrest is not disclosed.

AMERICANS OUT OF TRENCHES IN FIGHTING SPIRIT

With American Troops in France, Tuesday, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—The third series of American battalions is now occupying the first line and the second American detachment to enter the trenches have returned to their billets.

The relief was accomplished on a brilliant starlight night without the knowledge of the Germans. Included among the returning troops is the company which bore the brunt of the recent raid on the American trenches.

At retreat this evening this company lined up in a little muddy street in a village nestled under a hill some miles from the front.

Their clothes were caked with mud and the roofs and fences near by were hung with wet blankets and equipment. Openings here and there in the

FIVE CLASSES OF THE DRAFT

War Department Announces Order in Which Men Will Be Called.

MARRIED MEN AS A CLASS NOT EXEMPT

But Only Men of First Class to Be Called Save in Gravest Emergency.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The five classes into which nine million men registered for military duty—and those who are registered hereafter—divided in the order in which they will be called for service were officially announced today in the provost marshal general's questionnaire which every registered man must fill out and file. The order shows some change from the tentative draft published some time ago.

Contrary to some published reports, it does not exempt married men as a class, but it does place married men with dependent wives and children far down on the list of liabilities.

In fact, the questionnaire indicates that only men of the first class will be

COAL FAMINE IS IMMINENT

Fuel Administrator Beadell Returns from Conference at Indianapolis.

WARNING ISSUED TO MEET CRISIS

Serious Shortage is Certain in Every Part of the State.

Henry Beadell, county fuel administrator, has returned from Indianapolis, where, together with fuel administrators from eighty-two Indiana counties, he was in conference with Francis Woolson, state administrator. He is urging coal conservation in much stronger terms than he did before attending the meeting.

"Before the winter is over there undoubtedly will be a serious shortage of coal in every locality in the state," Mr. Beadell stated Wednesday morning.

"Even with Indiana mines producing a maximum of coal, it will not be sufficient to meet the demands."

Mr. Beadell explained that northeastern counties of the state have never before drawn from Indiana coal mines, but have secured their coal from West Virginia, Pennsylvania and other states. This year, however, these counties for the first time will have to depend upon the Indiana fields. Last year the Indiana mines produced 20,000,000 tons of coal and this year 5,000,000 more than last year will be mined. One-third of the Indiana output goes outside of the state, and one-third to the railroads.

Four Points Outstanding.

Mr. Beadell returned from the meeting at Indianapolis with four outstanding facts that were brought to his attention:

1. There will be a serious shortage of coal before the approaching winter is over.
2. That he will be expected to use his

BULGARIA WILL HAVE NO PEACE SLAVS PROPOSE

Amsterdam, Nov. 14.—Aroused apparently by the Maximalist peace offer for the Mif of Sofia, organ of the Bulgarian national party, says that the Bulgarians cannot permit themselves to be troubled by the declarations of Russian illusionists or the Dutch-Scandinavian committee. It adds:

"Bulgarians are completely unanimous that Bulgaria's future happily demands the possession of Dobruja to the mouth of the Danube river."

YOUNGSTERS OF ALSACE ARE ALL TALKING FRENCH

American Training Camp in France, Tuesday, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—Emile Hovelacque, who is a member of the French mission to the United States, today visited the training centers and the headquarters of the American army. He was returning from a visit to Alsace-Lorraine, where he had inspected the schools.

He said that the children there are all speaking French now and that those who had been studying it for the last two or three years speak French as though they had been born in Paris. M. Hovelacque said that classes had been organized for older pupils and that many grown persons were studying French.

FARMERS MUST SUPPORT WAR

President of the National Grange Says Conservation is Necessary.

CIVILIZATION IS IN PERIL HE DECLARES

Urges Great Organization to Go on Record for War to Finish.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 14.—Oliver Wilson, of Peoria, Ill., master of the national grange, patrons of husbandry, in an address before the annual meeting of the national grange in this city today declared that the present world war "represents the most frightful price humanity has ever paid for an ideal."

But only by paying such a price, he said, "shall a real and lasting world's peace be attained and the opportunities of freedom and liberty be guaranteed to every people."

"The history of the grange," he said, "from its very inception is a continuous and unbroken record of devotion to the principles of peace, to the championship of justice, fairness and fraternity, and a repeated avowal of its faith in arbitration and a means of settling all differences between individuals and between nations."

Farmers Should Be Consecrated.

"It is our opinion that the national grange could here and now declare to the world its unequalled consecration to the great world task now facing

EACH OFFICER PASSED TO GET HIS COMMISSION

Washington, Nov. 14.—Secretary Baker's decision to grant commissions to all qualifying student officers in reserve training camps today dispelled the fears of thousands of candidates who had faced the prospect of returning to civilian life after devoting three arduous months to intensive training. It had been announced recently that a probable plethora of officer material would make it necessary to withhold commissions from a large percentage of the men at present series of camps.

THRILLERS OF BATTLE

Italian Armored Cars Do Wonderful Bit in Protecting Retreat.

HELD THE BRIDGES FOR REAR GUARDS

March of Invaders Halted by Heroic Work of the Tank Crews.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Tuesday, Nov. 13.—(By The Associated Press.)—A section of Italian armored motor cars, each of which mounts three quick firers in the turret, is just back from one of the most thrilling experiences of the war. The duty to which these cars were assigned was to hold the bridges from the Tagliamento to the Piave rivers until the cavalry rear guards had passed across, and then burn the bridges behind them. The commander and a number of his men were seen by the correspondent at their camp where they recounted their experiences as though they were every day occurrences.

WILL TEACH FOOD SAVING

That is the Purpose of a City Demonstrator, Miss Cowan Explains.

MANY DO NOT KNOW HOW TO CONSERVE

Entire Salary for Such an Agent, Except $50, is Paid by Uncle Sam.

Many people have signed the Hoover food conservation pledges with the very best of intentions, who, as a matter of fact, do not know how to intelligently follow them up. In other words, many folks do not know how to save food try as hard as they may, and many do not know what foods it is most essential to save.

It was to meet just this sort of a situation that the federal government has appropriated a large sum of money for home demonstrators.

Miss Elizabeth Cowan, state urban home demonstrator, has come to this city in an effort to interest the women of Fort Wayne in such a representative in Fort Wayne, whose duties will be in many ways similar to those of Miss Mabel Erwin, county emergency home demonstration agent, except that she will confine her efforts entirely to the city.

Miss Cowan has taken the matter up with a number of prominent women of the city and has met with much encouragement. Such an agent is now operating in Indianapolis with wonderful success and has demonstrated her value in many ways during the short time she has been engaged in the work there.

The government pays the salary of the agent with the exception of $50. Each city must maintain headquarters for her in a convenient place and give her a desk and telephone. Each city also must cover the cost of a demonstration.

HOLLAND MAKES PLANS TO KEEP READY TO FIGHT

Amsterdam, Nov. 14.—A supplementary estimate increased the extraordinary war credit for 1917 by 160,000,000 florins has been subscribed to the second chamber of the Dutch parliament. It includes nearly 3,000,000 florins for air service, 29,000,000 for artillery and 19,000,000 "for the improvement of our positions on the same principle as on the war fronts where operations long have assumed the form of a war of positions and zones at a considerable depth prepared for defense."

KERENSKY PUTS DOWN THE REDS IN THE CAPITAL

Reports From Two Sources Declare the Provisional Government Regains Control of Russia.

PREMIER KERENSKY ENTERS PETROGRAD

London, Nov. 14.—The arrival of Premier Kerensky in Petrograd, accompanied by troops, is reported by the Russian legation at Stockholm, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen. M. Kerensky is said to have defeated the Bolsheviki.

Stockholm, Nov. 14.—Premier Kerensky has entered Petrograd, according to a dispatch received from the correspondent of the Swedish News Agency at Haparanda, on the Russian border.

The majority of Maximalist troops have joined the premier, the correspondent adds.

GIVES SOME DETAIL

London, Nov. 14.—The Finnish Telegram Bureau says the whole of Russia except a small part of Petrograd is now in the hands of the provisional government.

Premier Kerensky is now in Petrograd and has taken virtually the entire city, the announcement of the Finnish Telegram Bureau says.

According to these advices, which were received in a cablegram filed at

ALLIES SHOULD TAKE A LESSON FROM THEIR FOE

London, Nov. 14.—In commending Premier Lloyd George's Paris speech the Manchester Guardian today cites the success of the central powers with inferior forces and smaller resources as largely due to "unity of control through the military dominance of Germany and the enormous advantage which comes from the power thus obtained of swift and decisive action."

The newspaper asserts that by the allies the war to this day has never been envisaged, planned for and conducted as a whole. In order to neutralize the advantage obtained by the central powers it says: "It is obvious we must produce among ourselves some approach, at least, to the unity of control which they from the first possessed and possess increasingly."

Paris, Nov. 14.—"The artillery was very active last night on the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front)," says today's official communication.

"French detachments made a number of successful raids, particularly southeast of St. Quentin, east of Spignieu and at Chaume wood, and brought back ten prisoners."

"Elsewhere the night was calm."

RUSS ANARCHISTS HAVE NOT PUT OUT ANY PEACE OFFERS

Amsterdam, Nov. 14.—Austrian newspapers print a statement from the official Vienna agency pointing out that neither Vienna nor Berlin has received an actual peace armistice proposal from the Russian government and as long as the new rulers of Russia do not submit proposals the central powers dare do nothing in the matter, according to a dispatch from Vienna. Should the Maximalists retain the upper hand in Russia and come forward with a peace offer the Austro-Hungarian government would, that statement said, establish accord with its allies and fix a common attitude.

"The workmen and soldiers' program," the statement continues, "is capable of forming a point of departure for serious peace discussions with Russia. A just peace without annexations and without indemnities is also the goal of the Austro-Hungarian government, but what we understand by annexation and what everyone has understood about it up to the present does not correspond with the interpretation of the present Russian government. On this point counter proposals would have to be made on our part."

PEACEFUL SOLUTION

EXPECTED TODAY

Joe Tinker, of Columbus Team, Announces He is Opposed to New League

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—A peaceful solution of the difficulties which have threatened the disruption of the American Association appeared to be imminent before today's session of the National Association of professional baseball league convened.

The resolution prepared by President A. R. Tearney of the Three I league has been amended so as not to include teams above class B. This in itself will operate to make it practically impossible for those interested which have been backing the proposal for the formation of a new league, by taking Louisville, Indianapolis and Toledo from the American Association and other clubs from the international league to get their project before the association. The resolution will provide that no change be made in the territory of any league unless the majority of club owners approve.

Joe Tinker of the Columbus American association club, who had been represented as being "on the fence" in regard to the project for a new league, has announced himself flatly as being opposed to the proposal. Tinker declared last night he would not be a party to any move which would result in wrecking the American association or in depreciating the investments of any of the club owners now in the organization. This leaves the club owners in the league divided five to three against any change.

In this connection President Hickey of the association said last night the investment in the league totaled in the neighborhood of two million dollars adding that it was to him "incredible that any one could desire to take action which would result in wiping or seriously depreciating property of such magnitude."

The association magnated will hold another league meeting today and in the face of the situation resulting from the changes made in Tearney's resolution it appeared probable the warring factions would necessarily be compelled to find some solution of their difficulties that would leave the organization intact.

On Deathbed, Queen Lil Forgives U. S.

EX-QUEEN LILIUOKALANI ON HAWAII

Former Queen Liliuokalani, of Hawaii, on her deathbed in Honolulu, faced her end without hatred in her heart, having forgiven America, which she had so much cause both to love and to hate. She sealed her forgiveness by subscribing liberally to the Liberator. America gave her a husband—the married John Dominis, son of an American captain in a schoolgirl romance—and later, according to her view, took away her throne.

News of Our Neighbors

Report Causes Much Excitement, Although Somewhat Exaggerated.

Warsaw, Ind., Nov. 14.—Huffman's lake, near Atwood, six miles west of Warsaw, has turned to blood. This report was widely circulated in this vicinity Monday evening and caused no little excitement among persons inclined to be superstitious. The story came from people of high standing who live in the neighborhood of Huffman's lake and who declared they saw the change in the color of the water as it was dipped from the lake in bottles. Fish, they said, are dying by the thousands.

While the superstitious people of the community were trying in some way to link up the phenomenon with certain bible prophecies and were pointing out that surely the end of the world was drawing near, level-headed people laughed at the reports and attributed them to some fertile imagination.

However, the reports were so persistent that an investigation finally was made and the story was found to be true in part. At a number of places in the lake—mostly places away from shore where the water is deep—the water has turned dark brown, almost the color of chocolate. In other places the water is as clear as crystal. Samples of the water have been brought to Warsaw and will be analyzed in an effort to solve the mystery.

KRAUSS CASE UP AGAIN.

Woman Who Killed Stepldaughter Will Try to Gain Freedom.

Hartford City, Ind., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Rae Krauss, of this city, who in 1904 pleaded guilty to the charge of murdering her stepdaughter, Crystal Krauss, by administering poison to her, and was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Indiana Woman's prison at Indianapolis, will try again to gain her freedom. The case has been set for hearing before the pardon board December 11.

About two years ago an unsuccessful effort was made to get the sentence of Mrs. Krauss suspended, petitions being circulated in this city and county for signatures.

The crime to which the woman pleaded guilty was an especially atrocious one. The victim was a widely known young woman of this city. The stepmother said she was prompted to do the deed because she was jealous of the love of her husband for his daughter. Opinion in this city is divided on the question of freedom for Mrs. Krauss.

ATTEMPT TO WRECK PLANT.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 14.—An effort was made Monday night to wreck the municipal electric light and power plant when a large wrench was thrown into the governors of the main pump. The pump was put out of commission until repairs could be made. The attempt is believed to have been inspired by German spies.

PIONEER DIES.

Mrs. Mary Siepk Passes Away at Age of 105.

Avilla, Ind., Nov. 14.—Mrs. Mary Siepk, one of the oldest women in Indiana, died at her home here. If she had lived until December 7 she would have been 105 years old.

The deceased had been in splendid health up to about a week ago. She was born December 7, 1812, and with her husband, now deceased, came to America thirty-five years ago, settling in Pennsylvania. She is survived by six children—four daughters and two sons—all living in Pennsylvania, except her daughter, Mrs. Walt; forty-seven grandchildren, seven great grandchildren and a number of great great grandchildren. Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at the St. Mary's Catholic church, in charge of Father John Bathe.

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Avilla Party Has Close Call When Car Goes in Ditch.

Lisbon, Ind., Nov. 14.—An auto party of five, including A. C. Sheets and family, of Avilla, figured in an exciting automobile accident, and had a most miraculous escape from being killed yesterday afternoon, when the automobile in which they were riding went into a ditch just north of Lisbon. The car turned completely over, according to reports received here, but none of the occupants was seriously injured.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheets was at the wheel and was endeavoring to pass a rig when the accident happened. The auto driver turned on too far, with the result that the front wheel of the machine skidded and the car toppled into the ditch. The machine, it is said, was wrecked quite badly.

Wife to Blame if Husband Drinks, Says Druggist Brown, of Cleveland, Who Tells Wife What To Do

A New Treatment Given Without the Consent or Knowledge of the Drinker. Cleveland, O.—No wife has a right to blame her husband because he drinks, says Druggist Brown, of Cleveland. It is her fault if she lets him drink and bring unhappiness and poverty to her home, and she has no right to complain. A woman can stop a drinking husband in a few weeks for half what he would spend on liquor, so why waste sympathy on a wife who refuses to do it. Druggist Brown also says the right time to stop the drink habit is at its beginning unless you want drink to lead to the fine sensibilities of the husband you love. Begin with the first drop of liquor on his breath, but do not despair if he has come from bad to worse until he is rum-soaked through and through. Druggist Brown knows the cure of strong drink because he himself has been a victim. He was rescued from the brink of a drunkard's grave by a loving sister who, after ten years' time revealed the secret to him. She saved him from drink—rescued him from his own depraved self, by giving him a secret remedy, the formula of an old German chemist. To disclose his debt to her and to help other victims out of the mire and mire he has made the formula public. Any druggist can put it in the hands of any suffering wife, mother, sister or daughter. Just ask the druggist for prepared Tescum powders and drop a powder twice a day in tea, coffee, milk or any other drink. Soon liquor does not taste the same, the craving for it disappears, and in one more drinker is saved and knows not when or why he lost his taste for drink.

One woman who used this prescription on her husband says: "It is going on the fourth week since he has touched a drop of anything in the form of liquor or used tobacco of any kind. He seems already like a different man. Tescum has gained a wonderful mastery in me. I regard it as a Godsend. Just think, I have never seen my husband sober for more than 48 hours in years and now it is going on one month since he had his last drink."

Another one gratefully writes: "I have used Tescum powders on my husband and find it one of the greatest cures in this world. He hasn't taken a drink for almost five weeks, and says he never will. My home does not seem like the same place and life seems worth living. I hope thousands gain what I have. This has been a good new year for me without drink in my home."

NOTE—Tescum, referred to above, should be used only when it is desirable to destroy all taste for alcoholic drinks of every kind. The wife who approves of drinking in moderation and believes her husband safe should give it only when the case is most in time, that the danger line is near. You take no risk with Tescum as it is sold in this city under a steel-bound monetary guarantee by the Druggist or Druggist. They guarantee it to do the work or refund the money.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1917.

TO KEEP AUSTRIA.

The political character of the German drives in Russia and Italy has been estimated in the main as Germany's design to set new foundations for peace proposals by putting those nations out of the war. That may be a true enough estimate, so far as it goes, but it seems to us that the objective relates to something more critical in the German situation than a mere desire to establish a fresh basis for proposals to her enemies.

Germany is striving to keep Austria in the war. To do this it had become necessary to deliver a smashing blow at the Italian menace. Italy's armies had driven through to within striking distance of Trieste. Another heavy smash by Cadorna doubtless would have brought the Austrian support under his big guns and at his mercy. It would have opened the way to an invasion of Austria and threatened Vienna. This development would have had a decisive effect, no doubt, in bringing the people of the Austro-Hungarian empire already heartily sick of the war and long since ready to approve any kind of peace that could be obtained—to give up. The invasion of Italy had removed the immediate danger that Austria would be put out of the war and brought to terms.

The other political aspects of the German drive into Italy and of the demonstrations against Russia are of critical importance, to be sure, as furnishing new ground for peace proposals, besides having high military importance as relating to the situation on the western front, where the pounding of the British and French has been costly to Germany. If Russia can be kept out or even delayed in the rehabilitation of her armies and the resumption of an offensive next spring, the gain to Germany will be great, while the pressing back of the Italians and the carrying of the war to their own soil was a rational military no less than political maneuver. The Italian invasion appears, however, to be working out in a fashion not calculated upon. It has given Italy a fresh political solidarity of which that country was in dire need and has awakened all the allies to a sudden and powerful understanding of their need of a thoroughly co-ordinated and supremely directed scheme of operations.

Out of Italy's present travail there will come that which will vastly increase the task of Germany, both in the field of politics and the theaters of war. Austria may be saved to the central alliance for a time, but the danger to her position is not removed. The coming of spring will be likely to witness a recurrence of the menace from the other direction.

NOTHING TOO PREPOSTEROUS.

Mr. Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president, has just issued a statement denying that he has been arrested as a spy and confined in Fort Leavenworth. It would seem that attention so serious to rumors so grotesque is a complete absurdity, but it is the truth that for some days such reports concerning Mr. Tumulty have been persistently spread from mouth to ear about the country. They have been heard in this city and, as Mr. Tumulty's statement shows, have had a singularly extensive currency in the land.

These preposterous stories are a part of the enemy propaganda that has given itself diligent employment since the entrance of America in the war. Just what expectation of gain has been rested upon the fabrication and spread of what is so palpably false and so easily disproved is hard to make out. Mr. Tumulty suggests that it is part of a general purpose to sow among the people a distrust of high officers of the government and that doubtless is as reasonable a supposition as any, though it is as futile an undertaking as can well be imagined. German propaganda has been responsible for a surprising variety of lies designed to breed public disquietude, to weaken public confidence in the government and to bring various war activities under suspicion, but the Tumulty story is perhaps the most absurd of them all. Nothing appears to be too preposterous for the enemy propagandists to undertake along that line.

All over the country there have been stories current in hundreds of communities purposed to bring the Red Cross work into disrepute. One that has persisted for a long time in Fort Wayne with occasional variation as to the identity of persons concerned and in some of its minor detail serves as an instance. The falsehood goes about to the effect that a lady who had made a sweater for use of men in the navy has discovered another woman attached to Red Cross headquarters to be wearing the sweater and fully identifies it by certain marks she had knitted into the garment. This tale has had half a dozen applications to as many different persons in this city alone. The same stock lie is reported from many communities in Indiana and from multiplied parts of the country.

The loyal people of America must be prepared to hear these things and many others during the progress of the war. There is no way of completely putting a stop to the circulation of such falsehoods. The government is preparing to strangle certain enemy activities of a more serious kind such as sabotage and arson in industries engaged in work directly connected with preparation for the war. But there can be no effectual legal measures taken against insidious falsehoods, of the sort that have sought an aspersions of Secretary Tumulty, that seek to foment suspicions that the Red Cross is engaged in dishonorable practices, that American warships and transports have met with disaster at sea, that the mortality of the soldiers in the trenches is vastly more than the records of any of the allied nations show to be the fact, that attempt to obstruct the food campaign, that this or the other—no matter what, if it be calculated to discourage or alarm—is the truth.

The best thing that loyal people can do when they hear these things is to demand of him who tells them to give support to his false and treasonable tale. Make him name the person from whom he had the lie. Follow it up until it can be pursued no further. That kind of propaganda can be circumvented without any appeal to authority or resort to law. Exposure will do a great deal. Persons who engage to practice secret work against the government by the energies of lying tongues are the persons who will not care to be shown in their communities to have been employed in that or any other service of Kaiser Wilhelm in this country.

CANNOT BE OVERDONE.

Reports come that the success of the campaign to collect $35,000,000 for the Y. M. C. A. war camp fund is beyond expectation. This is gratifying, but it should be no surprise. If there be anything to make powerful appeal to the generosity of the American people it should be an enterprise of this sort. The physical, moral and spiritual welfare of the boys in the armies is sought through the Y. M. C. A. and kindred organizations and efforts. Surely no one will now or hereafter care to display any niggardliness in doing what he can to promote work of that character among the soldiers.

If the Y. M. C. A. fund should greatly exceed the goal set, it will be an excellent thing. What is now collected above the needs that can be seen will answer to meet needs not yet in view, but sure to come as the conflict develops new and greater necessities along the lines the campaign now in progress is designed to meet. The people of America have only begun to give for the war. They have only begun to give for the Y. M. C. A. and other activities of like character. They have only begun to give for the Red Cross work. They have only begun to give to these and many other ennobled and ennobling philanthropies, benevolences and charities that relate to and grow out of the war.

This is true because the war has only begun. What now is necessary will continue to be the necessities of the government, the armies and the nation. That the insuperable importance of the Y. M. C. A. work in the army camps at home and abroad and on the firing line is coming to be thoroughly appreciated by the people and commanding their ready and generous support is at once a comfort and a great encouragement that the work will not be allowed in any degree to fail.

The American Federation of Labor has directed that all strikes affecting the government's preparations for war be called off. That is the spirit that counts. Wages can be settled with more deliberation. Getting to fight will wait on nothing.

Great Moments in History.

When your wife insists that there is a burglar in the house.
When you can't find anybody altruistic enough to go on your note.

When you know that the next man you meet is going to ask you home to dinner for the purpose of telling you exactly what is going on in Belgium.

When your daughter insists on playing the "Moonlight Sonata" for you because she thinks it will help your headache.

When your implacable enemy mistakes you for somebody else and says, "How-to-do!"

When your cat, for whom you have previously felt the highest respect and esteem, presents you with six of the finest kittens you ever saw.

When you learn that somebody is going to subscribe for Harriet Monroe's "Poetry" for you for Christmas—under the mistaken idea that you are fond of verse.

When somebody tells you about Brathwaite's fool "Anthology" and quotes that lovely poem by Orlikk Johns beginning:

"In the very early morning when the light was low,
She got all ready and she went like snow."

Sad Necessity.

Off in the chilly night
Ere slumber's chains have bound me,
I am obliged to have a light,
For I've stepped on a tack, confound me!

HOW TO RELIEVE THE PENNY SHORTAGE

WHAT SHALL UNCLE SAM DO WITH HIS CAPTIVES? WHAT THE GERMANS DID

By MILTON BRONNER.

When the American army has taken enough German prisoners to make their treatment a real problem, the powers that he will have to take into consideration what Germany has done to British, French and Russian prisoners, and is likely to do to our men. Prisoners taken by Germany, soldiers or civilians, are now sent to one of three detention places:

- 1—Great prison camps.
- 2—Reprisal camps.
- 3—Workyards.

There are between 150 and 200 of the large prison camps. In the early days of the war these were places of horror. The men were given little food and less covering, while the sanitary conditions were impossible. There was so much protest by neutrals that these conditions in the past year have been changed.

The prison sheds are now fairly spacious and measures for cleanliness and disinfection have been taken. The prisoners are no longer treated with brutality and the work is not excessive.

The food is still insufficient, but the men are allowed to receive parcels from their own countries and do not die of hunger any more. These camps are, therefore, the parade camps to which neutral representatives are allowed access—the only ones in fact open to foreign inspectors.

The reprisal camps were started by the Germans to bring pressure upon the allies. The Germans, for instance, claimed German soldiers captured by the French were sent to Morocco and ill-used. Hence their invention of these reprisal camps, located chiefly in Poland and Russia.

While visitors are not allowed, the prisoners are encouraged to write home, and their letters are not censored. The Germans are anxious the French at home shall know how their compatriots are suffering from the hard work, the inferior and insufficient food and the severe discipline. To be sure that conditions will be adequately pictured, the Germans make a point of sending intellectuals to these camps, men who in civil life have been students, lawyers, office employees.

But the workyards are the worst prisons of all. There are about 100, 000 scattered all over Germany. No foreigner is ever allowed to visit them. Prisoners are not allowed to tell their families where they are.

The workyards mean forced exploitation of soldier prisoners at cheap rates. They are sent to the coal mines, iron, salt and potash mines, to the factories, even including war factories, and to the marshes where they are to dig pits and lignite beds. They are also used in draining land and in making earth banks.

The hours of labor are long, the food is totally insufficient, the beds are made of shavings or a little straw, and punishment is frequent and severe. Accidents are frequent because the prisoners are unaccustomed to the work. The sick list and the death rate are high, because many of the men are not used to that kind of hard labor.

At Krupp's factory at Rheinhausen, 500 Frenchmen were at work. The minimum sick list was 30 to 45 per day. And this is made up of men really sick. Malingering is not tolerated.

Men are given a certain task, and if they do not accomplish it, they are sent to their beds at night without even the scanty meal allowed their fellows. In this factory about 200 men have been discharged on account of accidents and illness.

There were 650 prisoners at a coal mine at Ewald. The average number of sick men was 40 and at least 10 per cent. were injured in accidents. Fifty Frenchmen were sent to the lignite mine at Attendorf. They were required to make 25 trucks of lignite a day. If they did not do so they received no soup when they came from the mine. Forty per cent. of the prisoners had to be discharged on account of disease and weakness. In the iron pyrites mine of Sachtleben in Silesia, out of 822 men 365 had to be discharged because of anemia, diseases of respiratory organs and accidents.

Americans who read this will contrast this treatment of prisoners with what we are doing for our interned Germans, sent to ideally healthy balmy spots in the south, allowed perfect liberty within the camp, and fed far better food than anyone in Germany is getting.

BUSINESS CHIEFS TO REPLACE LAWYERS AS NATION'S WAR HEADS

By L. HARPER LEECH.

War is today the leading American industry—the one industry to which all others are subordinated.

The appointment of Benedict Crowell, of Cleveland, to be assistant secretary of war marks the beginning of a governmental reorganization which will put industrial organizers in most of the important administrative posts.

This means eventually a large part of the lawyer, political and professional classes will be placed under the direct command of men who got their training in shaping the industrial forces of the nation.

Although these things have absorbed nine-tenths of the activities and thoughts of the people, they have been only slightly represented in the government—administered in America and Britain by the lawyer class, the special guardians and sponsors of the older individualism which dominated America when it was a nation of small farmers and traders.

The war has forced the government to conform more nearly to the actual conditions of national life. Until now this has been accomplished by building up a secondary governmental machine composed of the committees of the council of national defense, managed by the nation's leading business and industrial experts who acted as the advisers of the political and professional military officials.

When the war began Crowell was one of the first big business men to offer his services to the government and was closely associated with the first activities of the Council of National Defense, especially in handling steel purchases.

Bascom Little, another member of his firm, also came to the aid of the nation and both were associated in the work of the munitions board. Later on, Crowell was commissioned a major of engineers to take charge of the Washington office of the Panama Canal administration.

As assistant secretary of war Crowell will act as secretary in the absence of Secretary Baker. His major duties will be to co-ordinate and direct the vast construction and industrial enterprises in which the war department is now engaged here and in France, but he will have a wide range of minor duties on the side—the inheritances of the position from the piping times of peace.

He will be directly in charge of all matters relating to rivers and harbors, bridges, lands and leases belonging to the war department, inspection of government property, recruiting, discharges from the army, courts martial, military prisoners and prisoners, pardons of the national guard, rifle practice, claims, national cemeteries and military parks; purchases in the open market, medals of honor and boards of survey.

Of course he does not attend to all these things personally.

Crowell has resigned his position as major, as the curious American law requires that the heads of the war department must be civilians.

(Omaha Bee.)

Whatever the skeptical may think, those who have come closest into touch with war's red destruction have been profoundly impressed by the effect of prayer. It does relieve and reassure the mind, it cleanses and encourages the soul and strengthens the individual to his task. Men go to battle calmer and braver because they feel at peace with their Maker and the same psychology should apply to the nation that sends them. Making allowance for the cynical philosophy that would deny the efficacy of prayer or the concern of the Almighty in the petty politics of mankind, the spectacle of a nation on its knees, humbly acknowledging its debt to God, must be an inspiration. None need to apologize for praying and no loss can possibly attend a general supplication for favor in the sight of God.

A SAVING OF COAL.

(Springfield Republican.)

The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway announced that by using electrical power on its Rocky Mountain division it is saving this 200,000 tons of coal, and that a greater saving will be possible when the electrification of other divisions is completed. The St. Paul road's good fortune is due to its being able to generate electricity from water-power. But in New England there is an abundance of water-power going to waste. One mill in a Worcester county town is converting a water privilege into an electrical power plant for the transmission of only 100 horse-power daily, to be applied to a portion of the mill's machinery. If the high price and scarcity of coal continue, probably many plants throughout New England will be zealous to effect economies of this kind.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

T. E. Ellison has returned from Portland, Maine.

The next thing of great importance in our city is the Christian Endeavor convention. It promises to be the largest convention ever held in Indiana.

A. R. Schnitzer, one of the leading democrats of New Haven, was in the city today arranging for a grand democratic jollification meeting tonight at that pleasant village. The Hendricks and Jeffersonian clubs, of this city, have been invited to participate in the exercises, and the latter club has promised to be out in full numbers.

On Saturday evening about six o'clock the water was turned into the new city waterworks reservoir, on the corner of Lafayette and Taber streets. The event was significant. It has taken years of labor and thousands of dollars to complete the task of building the reservoir. Although the work of beautifying the surroundings is not completed, the main object of the undertakings, that of preparing a great storage place for a supply of water for city purposes, is completed. With this object in view work was first started as far back as 1830. The original contract was let to Messrs. Langhor & Bates, who, after laboring at a disadvantage upon its construction by the city were allowed to throw up the contract. The reservoir was to fulfill the two-fold purpose of an extra water supply for use by the city in case of an emergency and (to use a technical phrase) for a head to pump against the pressure requirements of the city supply rendering, it difficult to operate the machinery at the pumping station. The total cost of the reservoir, including the land, will be $64,000, of which amount about $14,000 has been expended this summer. Should an accident occur at the pump house the city can always rely upon a 2,500,000 gallon supply of pure water from the same source of supply now in use and having a pressure of forty-five pounds.

Instead of nasty, harsh pills, salts, cathartics or dangerous calomel, why don't you keep Cascarets handy in your home? Cascarets act on the liver and thirty feet of bowels so gently you don't realize you have taken a cathartic, but they act thoroughly and can be dependent upon when a good liver and bowel cleansing is necessary—they move the bile and poison from the bowels without gripping and sweeten the stomach. You eat one or two at night like candy and you wake up feeling fine, the headachy, biliousness, bad health, coated tongue, sour stomach, constipation, or bad cold disappears.
Mothers should give cross, sick, feverish or bilious children a whole Cas-

Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 14.—At a late hour Tuesday afternoon the officers of the Whitley County Y. M. C. A. reported that $3,600 had been reported to the office in the Commercial club rooms, and that it appeared that every township will raise its quota, and more besides. Work in Richland township did not begin until Tuesday, following a series of booster addresses made Monday evening at the Larwill M. E. church. It is believed the county's quota will have been raised by Wednesday evening.
The county was scoured with a fine-comb effect, and no person was missed.
Those refusing to give were made to sign cards, stating their objections.
There were very few refusals, and there were many generous donations, exceeding the expected sum. No township had been completely checked up
Tuesday afternoon.

turning downstairs missed her footing and fell the length of the stairs. She

The "Merode" Union Suit is a specialty of which we are particularly proud. New styles have been designed for the women who wear the pretty fashions of today, yet want to be cosily warm and properly protected from cold.

different to the smallest household details whereby savings may be made or comfort enhanced.

Here are some little economies of one reader:

I wanted a new carpet for the kitchen, but could not afford to buy one. I found some old Brussels carpet, which I sewed together and tacked on the floor wrong side up. I then gave it two coats of paint and I had a most satisfactory floor covering, as it was very easy to keep clean and very comfortable to stand on.

I always keep a large size soap shaker in the kitchen. If I need to flavor soup with celery tops or bay leaves or the scraps of meat or chicken bones I put them into the soap shaker, fasten the top securely and leave it in whatever I wish to flavor and it can be removed in a moment.

Salt and flour bags are used as receptacles for lettuce and radishes, which, after being prepared for the table, are put in the bags and put directly on the ice to crispen.

CHENILLE APPLIED ON SCARF.

Among the new scarfs ushered in by the cold weather are some models of Italian silk, self-striped.

They are cut long and about ten inches wide, and made a double thickness of the silk.

One scarf of bright green is embroidered at the ends in a conventional design in self-colored heavy silk floss that stands out. Green silk fringe finishes the edge.

MRS. WILSON'S STATIONERY.

Mrs. Wilson, wife of our president, has a penchant for nice stationery. She never has bizarre and the so-called ultra-fashionable paper, but that which is rich and simple and always in keeping with the most exacting good taste. The stationery she uses for her general correspondence is the very elegant-looking Scotch gray, with a neat, small engraving across the top in green which says: "The White House, Washington, D. C." The Scotch gray is not expensive, but it seems to be popular among the society women.

Ingenious Ways of Saving Practiced

The desirability as well as the necessity for practicing economy in the home is having an effect more far-reaching than anything that has happened to the American women since the days of the civil war. It is sharpening their ingenuity, acquainting them with many of the practicalities of life from which they had separated themselves, and giving them an education that will be effective after the war is over.

The reproach of other nations that the American women were careless spendthrifts, with no regard for domestic interests and no idea of helping to save or even make the husband's income meet expenses, has been and is being disproved. Thousands and thousands of women are devoting themselves to making a flint income meet the increased demands at higher prices that war conditions have brought. They make budgets as carefully as a man in business, or in public office, and they are not in-

Allies Switch Winter Offensive to Run Germans from Italy.

GIVES A CHANCE TO FIGHT IN THE OPEN

British and French Think They Excel Teutons at That Game.

Special Dispatch from Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The plans of the allies, it was learned here today, contemplate not only protecting Italy from invasion, but transferring the scene of offensive operations from the French front to the plains of Friuli for the next six months at least.

This decision, it seems, was reached with great reluctance by the allied staff officers because it violates one of the cardinal principles of classical strategy—"Never permit yourself to be swerved from your principal line of attack by the actions of the enemy."

But now that the decision has been made, it is welcomed by French and British officers, and the Italians are overjoyed. Since the Germans dug themselves in after the battle of the Marne, just three years ago, there has been no open field fighting in the west. Now there will be in Italy just the style of open fighting in which the French and British are certain that they excel and can inflict the heaviest losses. That is why they are glad to see the offensive shift to Italy. The troops also welcome the release from the cold, monotony and endless hammering of the trenches. The change is expected to put new life in the veterans.

No American troops will be sent to Italy, according to present plans, but the United States is looked to as a source of supplies and munitions. General Pershing, it is felt, will have his hands full getting his rapidly increasing forces into the trenches and preparing them for the spring drive on the French front.

The decision to do more than simply protect Italy from further invasion was influenced by several considerations. First was the danger to France if Germany should sweep across the plains of north Italy. This danger is remote, as France is protected by the Alps which east of Nice extend to the seacoast. Nevertheless, Napoleon once demonstrated that these mountains are not impassable and France has no desire even to have a threat of invasion from the south.

The greatest factor, however, is the desire of all the allies to end the war quickly. On the French front the process of wearing down Germany's manpower is necessarily slowed down at least 50 per cent. during the winter, while in the Italian plains, 300 miles south, a vigorous offensive can be maintained throughout the year.

A third consideration of great weight is that by an offensive in Italy Germany's advantage of being on the inside of the circle and having the shorter line of communications is nullified. In fact, owing to the bad condition of the Austrian railways, the French and British will have superior lines of communications.

This shift of the offensive to the Italian front for the winter must not be taken as even a serious modification of the plans for the spring drive on the French front, in which Uncle Sam's soldiers will have their first real test. So far as it is concerned, the important effect is that the United States will be called on to play a much greater part as regards both munitions and men.

Only about 1 per cent. of the area of Ireland contains marketable timber.

Annual Fall Sale of Rugs Opens Wed. Morning

AND CONTINUING FOR TEN DAYS

Read the following extract from the Co-operative Trade Review, one of the leading journals for Carpet Dealers, November 1st issue:

Ample justification for material increases in the prices of all descriptions of floor coverings can be found in the serious shortage of labor and the steadily advancing cost of every raw material required by the manufacturers. Another factor to be considered in the price situation is the marked reduction in the production of carpets and rugs due to so much of the mill machinery being now devoted to the weaving of cotton duck and blankets for the government. It is now said that the need of duck for army and navy use is so great that it may be necessary to conscript mill hands in order to run the looms both night and day.

The situation on the Rug market is very unsettled. Many mills have discontinued making rugs and are filling government orders.

Others are working about one-half the time due to the difficulty of procuring labor.

Do You Neglect Your Machinery?

The machinery of the body needs to be well oiled, kept in good condition just as the automobile, steam engine or bicycle. Why should the human neglect his own machinery more than that of his horse or his engine? Yet most people do neglect themselves. To clean the system at least once a week is to practice preventive measures. You will escape many ills and clear up the coated tongue, the sallow complexion, the dull headache, the lazy liver, if you will take a pleasant laxative made up of the May-apple, juice of the leaves of aloes, root of jalap, and called Pleasant Pellets. You can obtain at almost any drug store in this country these vegetable pellets in vials for 25c—simply ask for Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They have the Dr. R. V. Pierce stamp upon them.

South Bend, Ind.—"As a purgative and cure for sluggish liver I think Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are just fine. It is quite a few years since I had occasion to need them, but I feel sure that it is on their account that my liver is in such good condition today. I would advise any one troubled with constipation and sluggish liver to give the 'Pleasant Pellets' a trial."—Mrs. Emma CHANDLER, 725 E. Washington Blvd.

MOTHERS, ATTENTION!

Peru, Ind.—"Always during the expectant period and afterward I would have poor circulation and numb spells, both of which were cured by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I took about three bottles of it and these spells left me and never returned and I got along nicely."—Mrs. STILLA BEND, 300 E. Washington Ave., Peru, Ind.

Kickley, of Fort Wayne, spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. George Foulke.

Mr. and Mrs. Edith and Herman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Todd were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Butler.

Mrs. Moon is spending the week in Woodburn, the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Yaggy.

Mrs. P. O. Stuchell Tells How She Cured Her Son of a Cold.

"When my son, Ellis, was sick with a cold last winter I gave him Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It helped him at once and quickly broke up his cold," writes Mrs. P. O. Stuchell, Homer City, Pa. This remedy has been in use for many years. Its good qualities have been fully proven by many thousands of people. It is pleasant and safe to take.—Advertisement.

Hospital records show that every time you cut a corn you invite lock-jaw or blood poison, which is needless, says a Cincinnati authority, who tells you that a quarter ounce of a drug called freezone can be obtained at little cost from the drug store but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You simply apply a few drops of freezone on a tender, aching corn and soreness is instantly relieved. Shortly the entire corn can be lifted out, root and all, without pain.

This drug is sticky but dries at once and is claimed to just shrivel up any corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin.

If your wife wears high heels she will be glad to know of this.

Hurrah! How's This

Cincinnati authority says corns dry up and lift out with fingers.

Men's (A. E. Smith)	41	3,100.00

On tomorrow's total the $2,000 subscription of the S. F. Bowser company will be assigned as a prize to the club reporting the largest number of pledges secured.

Chairman Yarnelle and Campaign Director Little each expressed satisfaction with the progress of the campaign, but urged upon the teams the necessity of driving hard and of insisting that the giving be in as large amounts as possible in order that Allen county be certain of reaching its quota. An instance of the hearty manner in which the public is responding comes from the Pennsylvania shops, where the men have already made a voluntary subscription of $450, with J. A. Foster in charge of the work.

Telegrams to local committee heads are to the effect that up to last night Indiana had raised $172,000 of the $1,000,000 allotted to this state. Adams county has raised $3,800 of its $5,000; Huntington county reports $1,370 of its $12,000, while in Whitley county $3,270 out of $8,000 has been raised.

The High School Workers.

The organization of the boys at the Fort Wayne high school to line up the lads on the ten-dollar-subscription plan includes sub-committees in the various branches. The freshmen and sophomores, however, have joined forces. The line-up for the drive in the school is as follows:

Seniors—John Stockberger, James King, Joe Underhill, DeWitt May, Louis Hermann.

Sophomores and Freshmen—Howard Bash, William White, William Carahan, Fred Getty, Arthur Berghoff, Ed Thomas, Louis Sterling, James Bitter, Edward Deister.

The boys are enthusiastic over the plan as presented to them from the national headquarters, and many are already entering upon the scheme with eagerness. The plan makes it necessary that the boys actually earn the money for this special purpose. Business men and others are urged to open a way whereby the lads may carry out their plan by affording means of service of sufficient worth to entitle the boy to his just recompense.

Y. W. C. A. ACTIVE AT GENERAL ELECTRIC

G. E. Company Co-Operates
With Local Workers in Forming Elex Club.

The Y. W. C. A., which has organized clubs for women among the various industrial plants of the city, has formed the Elex club at the General Electric works. The company is co-operating in the work and they will furnish clubrooms at the factory. This club has a membership of 150 members and meets twice a month on Tuesday night. At each of these meetings educational classes are held in sewing, basketry and classes in making Christmas presents. This educational work is part of the club work and nearly all of the girls in the club are enrolled in the educational classes. The equipment used is furnished by the Vocational school, which is co-operating with the Y. W. C. A.

At the last meeting, Tuesday night, sixty girls were present and classes were taught in cooking and sewing. These meetings are held right after work as a light luncheon is furnished to the club members by the association for 10 cents. A social hour follows the class period and the amusement is generally furnished with a bunco party. A class in accounting is held in connection with the E. T. club of the works. A number of the girls in the Elex club are also enrolled in the gym classes held at the works by the Y. W. C. A.

The girls of the Federation of Y. W. C. A. clubs will hold a skating party Friday night at the Washington rink.

FEDERATION MEN IN PATRIOTIC SPIRIT

Delegates at Buffalo Acclaim Message from the President.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 14.—The telegrams to and from President Wilson in regard to the calling off of the strikes at plants being constructed for government use in connection with the war were read by President Samuel Gompers to the delegates at today's session of the American Federation of Labor. President Wilson's message expressing appreciation for the patriotic action of the federation was greeted with cheers. The situation at Newark was reported to be satisfactory.

Hugh Crane, a member of the war industries board, and President John Donlin, of the building-trades department, have gone to Washington to confer with government officials on a final settlement of the grievances of the men who have been on strike.

The morning session lasted less than an hour, none of the committees being ready to report. Union made "smokes for soldiers" claimed the attention of the delegates during the greater part of the time. A. C. McAndrew, president of the Tobacco Workers' International union of Louisville, urged formal recognition of union labor in the matter of smoking tobacco, cigars and cigarettes destined for use of union men now in federal service. "Thousands of men," he said, "have been taken out of civil life within the last few months, many of whom now find it difficult, if not impossible, to secure tobacco such as they have been accustomed to using. On behalf of the tobacco workers I appeal to the delegates here to interest themselves in behalf of union made goods."

WEATHER IDEAL FOR PLOWING CONTEST

The Twenty-Seventh Annual Event is Held at State Farm Wednesday.

Hundreds of people from all parts of the county were in attendance Wednesday at the twenty-seventh annual plowing contest being held at the state farm, four miles northeast of the city on the St. Joe road, under the auspices of the Allen County Plowing association.

In the plowing contest the following score was used by Prof. W. C. Latta, department of agriculture, Purdue university, who is acting as judge:

Start, 15; furrow, 50; ends, 10; finish, 20. One operator to each plow; all lands started must be finished; depth of furrow must be six inches or more. There were four classes as follows:

Class A, sod plow; class B, general purpose plow; class C, riding plow, and class D, boys' class. Six ribbons were awarded in each class; also ribbons for best team plowman. There was also a corn and potato contest.

The officers of the association are: C. G. Vandoren, president; A. J. Hutchins, secretary and treasurer; committee on arrangements, George Myers, J. H. Thrash, George Gillie, Ernest Gallmeier; committee on field, Joseph Toakel, Chas. Meyers, John A. Gillie and A. Blume. Thirteen tractors took part in the contest.

PLAN TO TAKE TWO BILLIONS

Treasury After Vast Sum of Small Savings in the Country.

THRIFT STAMPS TO HAVE THEIR PLACE

Will Be Sold in Every Bank, Postoffice and Store in Land.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Treasury officials went to work today on plans for the newly announced campaign to gather for war purposes two billion dollars of small savings within a year beginning December 3, through a system of selling thrift stamps, war-saving stamps and war-saving certificates.

In virtually every bank, postoffice, railroad station, school and retail store in the country, these stamps will be placed on sale, for the double purpose of encouraging the saving habit and obtaining money in small sums not available through sale of liberty bonds.

Frank A. Vanderlip, New York banker, who is directing the war savings movement, announced today that directors of the campaign and advisory committee have been appointed for every state and their work will be supervised by six federal directors, each of whom is to have charge of two federal reserve districts.

By this means, the work of harvesting the savings will be decentralized, yet the movement will be given persistent direction throughout the year.

Indiana is placed in district number 3. J. D. Oliver, of South Bend, has been named state director of the campaign. Other state directors are: Michigan, Frank W. Hubbard, of Detroit; Ohio, H. P. Wolf, Columbus; Kentucky, Robert E. Brown, of Louisville, and Illinois, Martin A. Ryerson, of Chicago. The general director for district No. 3 is H. B. Riley, a Chicago banker.

FIRST CLASS
HAS 2,000,000

That Number of Men Subject to Military Duty in Front Line.

DRAFT WILL BE PUT ON MEN LATELY 21
That Would Add 600,000
New Registrants by Next March.

Washington, Nov. 14.—Best available estimates indicate the first of the five classes into which all draft registrants are to be divided will contain more than two million men, subject for duty with the colors before any man in any other class will be called up.

It is regarded as practically certain that congress will take up the question of extending the draft law to cover men who have attained the age of 21 since it was enacted. Should that be done and provision made for the registration thereof, after of every man as he reached the age, it is probable that perhaps 600,000 would be added to class I automatically by next March. In that event no present plans for the army would reach the men in class 2.

New regulations to be published shortly probably will set out a way in which this can be done. New regulations governing passports for registered men become effective Nov. 20. After that date the nearest local board may issue passport permits without reference to district boards as is now required. Passports are not necessary to enter Canada.

PLAN FOR THIRD BIG LEAGUE HAS BEEN PUT AWAY

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—There will be no formation of a new league to include the Louisville, Indianapolis and Toledo clubs of the American association and certain clubs of the International league. This was definitely decided today when the National Association of Baseball Leagues voted down an amended resolution offered by Edward Barrow, president of the International league. The vote was 11 to 2.

MARAUDER AT EDISON HOME.

West Orange, N. J., Nov. 14.—The home of Thomas A. Edison was entered by an intruder last night through a third story window, which he reached by climbing to the roof of an extension to the house. The man was frightened away by the screams of a maid. The police who are investigating say they do not think the man had any motive other than robbery.

SMALLPOX IS FOUND IN RUDISILL SCHOOL

Will Be Closed for Short Time Until All Are Vaccinated.

The number of cases of smallpox found among the pupils of the Rudisill school has necessitated the closing of that institution for a short time. All of the teachers will be vaccinated and the remainder of the pupils who have been unable to show their certificates. New cases reported Wednesday are John Penquoit, 609 Lawton place; Kathryn Monn, 509 State street; Clem C. Hiser, 315 Fourth street; James Howard, 1038 Swinney; Albert Jones, 319 Elizabeth; Olive Braun, 302 Wildwood; Burnell Vachon, 1651 Third; Frank Reed, 2014 Hanna; Charles Cordes, 15 Edna street.

The vaccination in factories is rapidly being carried on. The Wabash has practically completed its work and the General Electric works is busily engaged in inoculating the majority of its employees. The Perfected Biscuit company is the only large concern that has vaccinated its entire force. Dr. Drayer is kept busy every morning to 11 o'clock at the health office vaccinating both children and grown people.

PARK EFFICIENCY.

Former City Forester Getz Says
Something to Successor.

Editor of The Sentinel:

Permit me to call attention to a portion of your city hall item headed, "Improving Parks," in your Monday evening edition:

"The leaves in all of the parks are being raked. A new system of raking will make this annual job shorter and enable the men to leave the ground in a cleaner condition."

It seems to me that City Forester Jaenicke is securing publicity and grandstanding at the expense of the public press and myself. This is not the first instance. I attributed the former interviews to over-enthusiasm and overlooked them, but these slams must now stop. I profited by four years' study at Purdue university and by over five years' practical experience with park boards, and was always alert for labor-saving devices, new equipment and efficient economy. Last year, while I was park superintendent, the leaves had been raked clean while in a dry condition by this time, and I will venture the total cost was considerably less than the present cost, judging from what I saw this morning.

On Edgewater park strip, in front of my home, the grass was permitted to grow without attention for the last two months, reaching an average height of about ten inches, then the leaves fell, literally covering this area, and were permitted to remain there through the rain and snow, making a soggy mess. Then, yesterday morning four men started in early with ordinary hand rakes, under the supervision of a $75.00 a month foreman. The raking was extremely difficult, and their combined effort for one day's work resulted in clearing a trip about a block long and averaging 75 to 100 feet wide.

I will agree with Jaenicke that this is a new system, but one which is not to his credit. The public is entitled to honest statements and efficient service. Talk and bluff are cheap. Results and accomplishments that were approved by visiting reputable landscape men, experienced park superintendents, the Fort Wayne park board, and the public, are my record, of which I am justly proud.

A copy of this statement is being sent to the board of park commissioners, and Mr. Jaenicke, himself.

Call Annexation Meeting.

Jacob Agne, chairman of the sub-committee of the committee of the whole, has called a meeting for 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon to act on important matters of annexation. Considerable work of this sort is being undertaken at this time, the city limits being continually enlarged and changed. An important addition to the city is section B of Southwood park, Higman and Schaff's addition. Another section that will soon be taken in will be the Wildwood park addition west of the city, near the "Boot Jack."

The general public is invited, and especial attention will be given automobile parties. A program will be rendered and many other features of entertainment have been arranged for.

MAY LOOK TO CLEMENCEAU

Successor Sought
FOR M. PAINLEVE

The Ministerial Crisis in France is of Much Gravity.

Paris, Nov. 14.—The Painleve ministry goes without many regrets, after having dodged out its existence for two months. Its fall had been discounted for the past two weeks but the abrupt manner of its passing came as a surprise. The falling of the public and the press is voiced fairly but bluntly by Gustave Herve in La Victoire. He says:

"The consistent enemy of ministerial crises in war time, this is the first occasion upon which this journal has rejoiced at the fall of a cabinet. I admit that I experienced the same anxiety that passengers on a liner feel when they see the captain has lost his head during a storm."

Situation Is Grave.

In view of the present situation at home and abroad the ministerial crisis is regarded as of exceptional gravity. All the morning newspapers agree that a real leader, but they say also President Poincare will find it a most difficult task to hit upon such a man. According to traditions the president in choosing the new administration should be guided by the composition of the vote which overthrew the cabinet, but Premier Painleve was defeated by a coalition of the extreme right and the extreme left so it is manifestly impossible to follow precedent in this instance and attempt to draw a ministry from such elements.

The name most frequently mentioned is that of former Premier Clemenceau. It will be the logical step on the part of President Poincare to offer him the premiership inasmuch as he originated the campaign against Bolshevism in parliament and it was on that issue that M. Painleve fell.

SEPARATED IN 1908;
NOW SUES FOR DIVORCE

Bessie Furnam Says Husband Knocked Her Down, Seriously Hurting Her.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farnam separated in March, 1908, and have not lived together since that time. Mrs. Farnam is just now filing suit for divorce. They were married in 1902.

Mrs. Farnam alleges in her complaint that her husband frequently struck her and on one occasion knocked her down, injuring her so severely that she had to be taken to the hospital for treatment. They have two children and because of her husband's failure to provide for them she has been compelled to take them to the orphan's home. In addition to a divorce she is asking for $10 a week for the children's support.

The deceased leaves his entire estate to his wife, Elizabeth Headkin Moylman, who is directed to use it for the benefit of herself and daughter, Margaret Cornelia Moylman. The will was written on November 15, 1915, and was witnessed by John S. Morris and William P. Breen.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
DOES NOT WANT HIM

Instructor in the School Resigns Before He Can Be Put Out.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 14.—"Indiana university has no place for such a man," declared President William L. Bryan, of Indiana university, today in commenting on the resignation yesterday of W. E. Zuehl, formerly instructor in the department of economics, whose pro-German utterances in a signed article in a Hopkinson (Iowa) newspaper were being investigated by the university authorities and the county council of defense.

"We do not know much about Mr. Zuehl," continued Dr. Bryan. "He came to us at the last moment before the opening of the university last September to fill a temporary vacancy. In his published letter he professes loyalty to the United States and the cause for which we are fighting, but without going into all details, make statements and implications about our soldiers of the present war which are untrue and intolerable. This university has no place for such a man."

Zuehl said before coming to Bloomington he had applied for admission to the United States army but had been refused because of defective vision.

NO JURY FOR DAN SHAY.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—Ten men had been tentatively selected for the jury in the trial of Dan Shay, formerly manager of the Milwaukee American association baseball club, charged with second degree murder when the hearing was recessed at noon today. It was believed the jury would be completed this afternoon in time to begin the opening statements of the case before adjournment today. Shay is alleged to have shot a negro waiter in a hotel cafe here last May.

ANTI-UNIONISM HURTS CAUSE

Complaint Made by Labor Leaders to Indiana Defense Council.

DISCRIMINATION BY THREE BIG FIRMS

Indianapolis Concerns Are Holding Up Their War Contracts.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—Charges that three large Indianapolis manufacturers having contracts with the federal government are discriminating against members of trades unions while their contracts are delayed of fulfillment were made to the Indiana state council of defense today by Louis C. Schwartz, of the International Association of Machinists, and F. J. Dillon, of the Patternmakers' association. The men asked the state council to investigate and take action that will serve to relieve the situation.

Schwartz and Dillon insisted they were not asking that the council assist an effort to "unionize" the plants in question, but that they be assisted in preventing discrimination which they declared inimical to the cause of the government in prosecuting the war with Germany. They presented a form of contract which they said all applicants at one industry were required to sign which they said "required a man to waive all his rights as a citizen before he could get work."

Committee to Inquire.

A committee consisting of A. W. Brady, W. C. Irwin and Evans Woolen was appointed by the council to consider the matter of the supervising of all solicitations of funds for war purposes. Many abuses have been reported and the committee will consider the propriety of some sort of censorship for this activity. George B. Lindsey, of Marion, asked the council to demand a retraction of a news article which he said "cast aspersions on the loyalty of the people of Marion. The article was represented as an explanation of the result of the recent election in Marion. The council referred the matter to its committee on politics.

Movies That Hurt.

The council received a letter from Congressman W. E. Cox, of the Third Indiana district, asking that it co-operate in the suppression of moving pictures that tend to discourage enlistments and other forms of patriotic activity. Congressman Cox informed the council that he would ask the co-operation of the council of national defense in the matter and it was referred to the policy committee. A statement of the purpose of the speakers' bureau to conduct educational work of patriotic nature over the state on a large scale was presented to the council by Prof. J. J. Pettijohn, of Indiana university, and referred to the finance and policy committees. The plan involves a large expenditure of funds, includes the services of about 300 speakers and the joint activity of the state university, state normal school, national league to enforce peace and national security league.

the jury in the trial of Dan Shay, formerly manager of the Milwaukee American association baseball club, charged with second degree murder when the hearing was recessed at noon today. It was believed the jury would be completed this afternoon in time to begin the opening statements of the case before adjournment today. Shay is alleged to have shot a negro waiter in a hotel cafe here last May.

BORROWS 50 TONS OF CANDYMAKERS' SUGAR

Marion County Food Boss
Authorized to Tide Over Shortage.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 14.—Stanley Wyckoff, Marion county food administrator, received authority from federal food administration at Washington to carry out his plan to "borrow" 100,000 pounds of sugar from confectioners and other large consumers here and distribute it among the retailers to tide over the local sugar shortage. This amount is to be returned to the large consumers as soon as the new crop arrives. The plan to repay the sugar out of the new crop had to be approved by the national administrator before it could be carried out. Mr. Wyckoff plans to begin the distribution to the retailers in 100 and 200 pound lots tomorrow. The office of the county food administrator was swamped today with calls from grocers for allotments of the sugar.

Reports were received here today that Muncie dealers are entirely without sugar and that the city is settling down to a molasses sweet diet until the new crop arrives.

DO NOT LIKE NEWLANDS LAW.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 14.—W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, when asked what position the trainmen would take in reference to agreeing to arbitration of all questions of controversy during the war, declined to discuss the subject until after the meeting with President Wilson, but did indicate strongly that his organization was unqualifiedly opposed to the plan of arbitration provided for in the Newlands law.

FRENCH ARE AMAZED AT FOOTBALL GAME

After Spending Three Years
in Trenches He Says
Sport is Too Rough.

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 14.—There was a "practice" football game at Camp Grant the other day, a husky bunch of national army artillerymen lining up against the picked divisional team which is to represent this cantonment in the contest with Camp Custer in Chicago three weeks hence. The divisional team was made up entirely of officers and composed of players whose names are written large in college football annals. The opposing eleven was a hard driving aggregation of enlisted men from the 33rd artillery but all official bars were down and it was a fierce scrimmage.

English and French officers, fresh from the western front, were in the crowd which watched the "practice." Many of them never before had seen an American gridiron battle and expressed their amazement over the fierce attacks and defense in no uncertain terms.

"Some game!" remarked an American major to Sergeant Major W. Barlett of the British army whose special is the laynet.

"Jove!" returned the visitor earnestly, "you know, I don't like it. It's all too rough! Fancy a game where they take 'em off in stretchers and no one seems to notice it!"

"Let's see," remarked the American officer, "you wear the 'Meritorious Service' on the field, do you not?"

"You have served three years in front line trenches and dodged bombs and cleaned dug-outs of Hun occupants, have you not?"

"Several scratches," replied the Englishman still wincing the scrimmage. "I say, look there! Stepping all over that man's face! Extraordinary! You know, I have read about thousands of people going to see Harvard and Yale break each other's legs and this is like it. It's altogether too bally rough, you know!"

The American officer watched the distinguished "non-com" depart for his quarters. "Three years on the trenches," he murmured again, "dodging bombs, spearing the Hun on bayonets. Getting 'scratches,' and it's too rough for him!"

Men of the hospital corps had some real work to perform. One artilleryman was carried away because of a sprained ankle and another was given "first aid" for a deep scalp wound.

After the first line-up when the artillerymen plowed through the officers for a clean ten-yard gain, both teams settled down. Guided by Lieutenant Jack Eddy, former Princeton quarterback, the division representatives soon struck their stride, exhibiting individual flashes of football genius that bewildered their opponents and brought the ball in a steady march to the artillery goal.

Three touchdowns were scored by the officers before "To the Colors" was played at retreat, brought the two teams suddenly from a tangle of arms and legs to salute the division flag as it was lowered from headquarters flag pole.

Lieutenants Schabinger, former of University of Illinois star; Chaffield-Taylor, Yale; Berger, Wisconsin and Chicago; and Shiverick, Cornell, showed up well in the hard practice fight while Captain Whiting, Chicago, played a masterly line game.

HIGHEST SCORE BY HIGH SCHOOL TEAM.
Anderson, Ind., Nov. 14.—The Anderson high school basketball team defeated the Alexandria team by 102 to 19 here last night. The score is said to be the highest ever made by a high school team in an Indiana game.

FEAR OF BLACK EYE ON WEDDING DAY CAUSED PETE HERMAN TO WED BEFORE FIGHTING FRANKIE BURNS

PETE HERMAN AND HIS BRIDE

New Orleans, La., Nov. 14.—An American flag and a pretty girl were the combination that helped Pete Herman in his victorious fight with Frankie Burns for the bantamweight championship of the world.

The pretty girl was his bride of a day waiting at his home for his return, and the American flag was given to him by soldiers of Jackson barracks at New Orleans just before he began the twenty-round fight that resulted in his retaining the championship.

The bride was Miss Anna Le Blanc, twenty-one years old, daughter of Mrs. Albert Le Blanc of this city. She and Herman, whose real name is Gulotta, also twenty-one, were childhood playmates long before Pete every thought of prize fights and championships that earned him $300 a round, of $6,000 for a twenty-round bout.

That $6,000 check was a wedding present for Mrs. Gulotta.

The gloves Herman wore in the fight with Burns and the American flag he was given by admiring fighters of Uncle Sam are hanging side by side in the Gulotta home. Herman and his sweetheart were married at St. Augustine's church the day before the big fight because, Herman explained, "he was liable to have a black-eye or something that wouldn't look good at a wedding the day after the fight."

Friends of Herman in the historic French market section here won more than $20,000 on the fight, covering all the money Burns' backers offered at two to one and eight to five.

Herman, despite his romance, has an exemption claim pending before the army draft board. Several months ago he was given until November 15 to report to Camp Pike, Ark. In order that he could have the fight with Burns. Friends are endeavoring to win him a lieutenantcy as boxing instructor and believe they will succeed.

NEBRASKA IS PICKED AS VALLEY CHAMPIONS

With Kansas Second, Although Tie With Ames is Possible.

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 14.—With the gridiron race in the Missouri Valley conference entering the last laps two eleven—Kansas and Nebraska—stand out prominently as the possible holders of the conference title at the season's close on Thanksgiving day. Nebraska, with only two games within the circuit, has slightly the advantage over the Lawrence eleven. Kansas, however, has passed the danger line with a victory over the Kansas Aggies, the strongest early season contender, and the Ames Aggies just at the time the Iowa were showing a real flash of form.

In all probability the meeting between the Cornhuskers and the Jayhawkers at Lawrence next Saturday (Nov. 17) will be the conference championship contest. The Nebraska team will have the advantage of experience gained from struggles with Michigan and Notre Dame, two widely differing eleven and among the strongest in the country. Because Kansas has played only teams within the conference there is no basis for a comparison of the strength of the two eleven upon the scores against the same opponents.

Followers of the Valley conference, after viewing as "luck" the Kansas 7 to 0 victory over Ames by means of a long forward pass, were forced to give the strength of the Lawrence eleven more consideration after their victory over the Kansas Aggies by a similar tally. Kansas again showed its ability to fight its way into the lead in its 13 to 6 win from Oklahoma on Nov. 3. All scoring in this game was confined up to the second period, the Lawrence aggregation seemingly being content to win without wasting energy on superfluous scores.

The real hard luck tale of the Valley is that of the Missouri eleven. Starting the season with a veteran backfield, which was last year one of the fastest in the conference, the Columbia representatives have met with defeat after defeat just when a victory seemed most imminent. Beginning with a 6 to 7 loss to the Kansas Aggies, the Tigers have broken before the rushes of Ames, Oklahoma and Nebraska.

The Missouri eleven has had a hospital list unequalled by any team in the Valley. The veteran backfield was crippled in the Ames game and after the Oklahoma game, Bass, a tackle and Schroeder, an end, were both out for the remainder of the season with injured shoulders. The Tigers are pointing toward Thanksgiving with the hope of being strong enough to defeat Kansas. Greenwood, center of the team, has been called to an aviation camp, leaving that position weak.

Drake, the smallest of the conference schools, also has a tale of woe. With a coach unable to assist the team because of illness the eleven, made up of green material, has fought the season out experiencing several defeats, but always showing up for the next game. Howard Drew, of track renown, has come out for the team in an effort to help bolster up the waning strength.

In the Grinnell game, his play helped the Des Moines team despite the fact that they were forced to accept the short end of the final score. Because of his speed, Drew may be able before the end of the season to develop into a creditable back. His track experience stood him in good stead in the Grinnell game as he saved several scores by running down his opponents.

Washington, after being held to a tie by one of the St. Louis high school teams, rallied and defeated the Missouri Miners and also took Drake into camp. The St. Louis school will play its one big game of the year on the seventeenth with Missouri and if it wins this contest the season to Washington will be a success. With Missouri represented by its weakest team in several years, there is a possibility of Washington's gaining its expectations.

The probable rating of the conference teams at the end of the season, as picked by critics, will look something like this:

Nebraska, valley champions.
Kansas with possible tie with Ames for second place.
Kansas Aggies, Missouri, Washington and Drake.

WESTERN CONFERENCE TITLE STILL IN DOUBT

Four Undeclared Elevens
Will All Be in Action
Next Saturday.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Followers of Western Conference football elevens, little the wiser as to the outcome of the 1917 championship struggle as a result of the Nov. 10 games, will be confronted with plenty of "dope" by the time next Saturday's (Nov. 17) contests are decided. The four undeclared conference elevens—Ohio State, Illinois, Chicago and Michigan—will all be in action that day and the meeting of the first two at Columbus will have a direct bearing on the title. Chicago must defeat Minnesota on the latter's home gridiron to remain in the race and Michigan, meeting the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia, is relied upon to keep middle west football on the plane gained by its victory over Cornell and Notre Dame's defeat of the army.

The schedule makers could hardly have hit upon a more fitting climax to Ohio State's season if they had deliberately planned the outcome of the 1917 games in advance. When the Buckeyes line up against the Illini they will be starting their final game of the conference season and facing the one team that has the clearest right to dispute the championship with them. Each team has defeated Wisconsin and each has thus far met every defeat, but always showing up for the next game. Howard Drew, of track renown, has come out for the team in an effort to help bolster up the waning strength.

In the Grinnell game, his play helped the Des Moines team despite the fact that they were forced to accept the short end of the final score. Because of his speed, Drew may be able before the end of the season to develop into a creditable back. His track experience stood him in good stead in the Grinnell game as he saved several scores by running down his opponents.

Washington, after being held to a tie by one of the St. Louis high school teams, rallied and defeated the Missouri Miners and also took Drake into camp. The St. Louis school will play its one big game of the year on the seventeenth with Missouri and if it wins this contest the season to Washington will be a success. With Missouri represented by its weakest team in several years, there is a possibility of Washington's gaining its expectations.

The probable rating of the conference teams at the end of the season, as picked by critics, will look something like this:

Nebraska, valley champions.
Kansas with possible tie with Ames for second place.
Kansas Aggies, Missouri, Washington and Drake.

Chicago's surprise team, which unsuccessfully stood its first acid test of the season in the Illinois game, probably will have all kinds of trouble keeping its record intact at Minneapolis. Although Minnesota was defeated by Wisconsin, its followers blame overconfidence for that result and look for better results Saturday. The teams will have had two weeks of uninterrupted practice to prepare for this game and each is expected to be in top form. Chicago will be without the services of Cochrane, a green but sturdy tackle who was hurt in the Illinois game, and just how A. Alonzo Stagg will realize his limited material to plug that vacancy probably will not be revealed until a few hours before the game.

These two teams are expected to exhibit a different brand of football from that shown at Columbus. They rely largely upon smashing drives through the line for their gains and punt or throw forward passes only in emergency. At least that is their record thus far. It would not surprise some followers of the game, however, if the two veteran mentors of the elevens—Stagg and Dr. Harry Williams—introduced unexpected tactics.

The other inter-conference contest of Saturday will bring Iowa and Northwestern together at Evanston. The teams will be struggling for the highest possible berth in the second division of the "Big Ten," with the chances favoring Northwestern.

Indiana and Purdue will be engaged with DePauw and Wabash, respectively, in an effort to clarify the football situation in the Hoosier state. DePauw defeated Wabash and lost to Purdue by only one point and seems to have one of the strongest college teams in the middle west. The eleven will do its part, however, if it holds Indiana to a two touchdown margin.

Notre Dame, with its place in middle western football fixed, will entertain the Michigan Aggies at South Bend. In past years this meeting has been productive of close struggles, but the Wolverine farmers have done little this year and Harper's eleven is expected to win as easily as it chooses to do.

A game with a distinct southern flavor will occur at Lexington, Ky., where Kentucky State will have the Alabama eleven as guest. While Kentucky has not attracted much attention in this section, the result will be watched as showing something of the caliber of game developed south of the Mason and Dixie line.

COLUMBUS PANHANDLES TO PLAY HERE SUNDAY

Considered One of Strongest Independent Teams in the Country.

The Friars have another hard game scheduled for Sunday when they meet the fast Columbus Panhandles, one of the really strong independent football teams of the country.

Manager Joe Carr writes that five Nesser brothers are still with the Panhandles. Gaulke, one of the Panhandles' halfbacks, is considered the best in Ohio professional ranks.

Manager Carr writes as follows: "We have lost three games this season, but no other teams in the country have been found that give the teams that beat us even a fair game. Canton, Massillon and Youngstown have the greatest professional teams this year that have ever been gathered together and my team is the only one to date that has been able to make any kind of a showing against them."

"Notwithstanding this we have withdrawn every other attraction that has appeared in the cities in which we have played, and you may rest assured that we will do the same thing in your city next Sunday."

"I believe that right at the present time I have the strongest team that I have ever had and every player on the team is determined to get over for the two victories that your club have over us in the past two seasons, for we feel that we were simply outplayed in both of these games and I think that your boys will agree with me on that."

VOGUE DIES RESULT OF BLOOD POISONING

Owners of Horse Had Recently Refused an Offer of $8,000.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 14.—Vogue, which died of blood poisoning at Latonia, the result of being kicked at the post, was a consistent winner for Gallagher Bros. and one of the stars of their racing stable. They had recently refused an offer of $8,000 for the mare and as she was uninsured she was a total loss. Her greatest exploit at recent meetings was the defeat in a handicap at Louisville at odds of 10 to 1 of such horses as Bradley's Choice, Pan Zareta and Louisa.

It now seems unlikely that Cudgel will so soon meet Omar Khayyam in the Bowie cup because of the uncertainty of transportation. J. W. Schorr, it seems, has about decided to retire the Broomstick colt for the season.

Louis Tauber, it is said, will train the colt with the special aim of taking the Kentucky handicap at Douglas park next spring. This is the biggest event to which a four-year-old is eligible.

The Kentucky handicap promises to bring together one of the greatest fields which ever has faced the barrier in that event. Chief among the horses expected to go to the post are Hourless, Omar Khayyam and Cudgel. Omar Khayyam beat Cudgel several times this season, but before the latter had reached top form Omar also won twice from Hourless while the latter beat him once.

AMERICA TO OBTAIN VAST NEW TONNAGE

European Neutral Nations and Japan to Furnish Ships for Food.

Washington, Nov. 14.—The United States is about to add several hundred thousand tons of shipping to the stream of ships carrying American troops and supplies to the aid of the allies. Negotiations with the northern European neutral nations and with Japan for tonnage have reached a final stage. The vessels obtained either will go directly into trans-Atlantic or will relieve American ships for this service.

The European neutrals, it is learned, finally have agreed to turn over to the United States and the allies ships in exchange for foodstuffs that only American can supply. The quantities of food to be furnished will be determined later, but the neutrals have the assurance of the American government that they will be given enough to meet their necessary requirements.

Japan will sell outright to the United States a large amount of tonnage now in the Pacific in exchange for the steel ship plates the Japanese are anxious to obtain to complete their merchant ship building program. Only the matter of price the Japanese are to receive for their tonnage remains to be agreed on, and that, it was said tonight, will be worked out immediately.

Negotiations with the Swedish mission were wound up several days ago and all the mission's members, except Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, the chairman, have left Washington to sail for home.

The amount of tonnage the United States is obtaining has not been made known, but there are in American ports now more than 400,000 tons of neutral ships which will be put into some American service. Many of the ships will ply between American ports and South America, vessel releasing an American or British flag for service through the war zone.

Lemons Beautify!

Strain lemon juice well before mixing and massage face, neck, arms, hands.

Here is told how to prepare an inexpensive lemon lotion which can be used to bring back to any skin the sweet freshness of which it has been robbed by trying atmospheric conditions. Windchafe, roughness, tan and redness are washed off and those tell-tale lines of care or age are softened away.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quart pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost of one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold cream. Care should be taken to strain the lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoother and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quart pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands, and see for yourself. Advertisement.

Kite fishing is one of the latest sports taken up by fishermen on the Pacific coast. According to Popular Science, a fine corbina "hole" has been discovered at Seal Beach, off the pier, just far enough to be out of reach of the best casters. Instead of employing boats the fishermen find it greater sport to use kites, which carry the lines out to the desired spot.

PASTORAL CONFERENCE HELD IN NEW HAVEN
Ministers of Missouri Lutheran Synod of Northern Indiana Meet.

New Haven, Ind., Nov. 14.—The Northern Indiana Pastoral Conference, comprising the pastors of the Lutheran Missouri synod of northern Indiana and northwestern Ohio, convened here Tuesday morning for a three days' session. It was called to order by the president, Rev. H. Jungkuntz, of Columbus City, Ind. After a brief devotional service the secretary, Rev. H. E. Kohlmeier, of this place called the roll. Of the ninety members of the conference, seventy were found to be present.

After organization the chairman informed the conference what papers would be presented and made mention of such other business as would claim the attention of the meeting. The first half of the morning session was devoted to an exegetical paper by Rev. W. George, of Woodburn, Ind. The essayist's paper showed deep study and received favorable comment from various members of the conference. In the second part of the forenoon session Rev. C. W. Baer, of Valparaiso, spoke very interestingly on "Church Publicity." Rev. Baer's talk was well received, and the first part of the afternoon session was given over to its further discussion. All the remarks evoked in the course of the discussion emphasized the great importance of advertising the gospel and of using every proper means of bringing the greatest possible number of people under the influence of the church and its message.

Rev. Ph. Wambganse, of Fort Wayne, forcibly presented the claims of the Fort Wayne Lutheran hospital. Rev. Aug. Lange informed the conference of the fact that by request of the national government the hospital had enlarged the capacity of its school for nurses and that compliance with this request had necessitated a considerable expense. He asked the brethren to solicit the aid of their congregations in helping the hospital association to defray the expense caused by this necessary improvement.

President M. Luecke, of Concordia college, gave the conference the surprising but most encouraging information that the institution could boast of an increased enrollment despite the war. He bespoke for the college the further good will of the congregations whose midst it is located. Rev. P. Schmidt, of Lafayette, presented a plan which has the purpose of increasing the funds of the synodical treasury. This plan, whose essential feature is that of making a special annual drive for this fund on Easter Sunday and the week following, was enthusiastically supported by Rev. J. W. Miller and others, and the conference unanimously concluded to submit this plan to the president of the synod after a committee, to be appointed by the chair, had worked out the necessary details. It is expected that the adoption of this plan will give the synodical treasury an annual increase of several hundred thousand dollars.

The conference service was held Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock. Rev. F. W. Hosmann, of Huntington, delivered the confessional address and Rev. A. W. Hinz preached the sermon. All the pastors present partook of holy communion. Teacher H. L. Bode, of the local parish school, presided at the organ.

Today's session promises to be one of interest and a number of pastors who were absent Tuesday were expected to be present.

MAY FORM CASUALTY COMPANY.

A movement to form a casualty company in the Fort Wayne Builders' association will be discussed at a special meeting Wednesday evening in the hall at 1010 Calhoun street. Such a company was proposed at a get-together meeting Tuesday evening in the same hall, following addresses by O. C. Holt, of the Chicago exchange, Lee J. Nide, E. H. Puckett and others of this city. At the close of the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and a luncheon was served to the 150 members present.

FINAL PLANS MADE FOR Y. M. C. A. DRIVE

Vigilance Committee Named at Garrett to Prevent Disloyalty.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Garrett, Ind., Nov. 14.—At the meeting held in the city hall Monday evening for the purpose of making the final plans for the big Y. M. C. A. drive thirty-five men were present. It was one of the most enthusiastic meetings held here for some time and each man was not only ready but anxious to get busy with his share of the work. The list of names were given out quickly and every man was interested in getting things arranged systematically so that it will take but a short time to make the canvass. Many important things were discussed and among them was "what shall be done with the men who are talking against the Y. M. C. A. and the government." This was thoroughly discussed and finally settled. Heretofore "standing on the corner didn't mean any harm" but watch your step now, for, whenever a crowd is soon talking to man that is known as a "knocker" there will be someone near to hear what is said and he will be waited upon by the Garrett vigilance committee. Several of these so-called men have been going about the streets and whenever possible would get several men together and air their views of the important questions of the day. Quite a number of names have already been given of men who have been playing traitor to the flag under whose protection they seem to enjoy living. From now on they will be watched closely and if it continues they will learn what patriotic citizens can do. The vigilance committee consists of Attorney Howard W. Mount, Carl Heinzelinger, Dr. John Thomson, Dr. H. W. Stephenson and Charles Adlington.

Patriotic Meeting.

The patriotic meeting held in the city hall Tuesday evening at which a special representative of Daniel M. Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio system presided, was attended by one of the biggest crowds that has been present at any of the meetings in the last month. The assembly room was packed and people were crowded into the hall and stairway. The program consisted of a patriotic talk illustrated with moving pictures, which gave one an idea of what the horrors of war really are. Mr. Wood tried to impress the people of how we can help to win the war here in our own homes and many good points were brought out. The pictures were shown at the noon hour at the boiler shops of the Baltimore and Ohio, in this city, and many of the employees were present to enjoy them.

Joint Meeting.

The I-Yo-Ki-Hi and Hiawatha Camp Fire girls held a joint meeting at the city library Tuesday evening. The former camp are spending their spare time knitting for the soldiers and are buying their yarns from their own treasury. The Hiawatha girls will begin this week to make "baby kits." These will contain a complete outfit for the newborn babe and will be sent to France, where such articles are so badly needed. These two camps donated $5 to the Y. M. C. A. fund. They have secured rooms in the city hall and will furnish them this week and will then do their sewing at their own headquarters. The Pocahontas Camp Fire shipped their Christmas gifts to the Garrett boys in France Monday. These girls are knitting for the soldier boys also and have already shipped a number of completed articles to the boys who are younger girls, are busy snipping and making pillows for the soldiers. A part of the camp fire law is to "Give Service" and every camp fire girl in Garrett is endeavoring to live up to this.

Liberty Gardens Are Best Ever

Liberty Garden, the latest suburban addition of the Rastetter Real Estate agency, has numerous distinctive features that make it stand out among others as unquestionably the best of its kind. It lays just south of the city limits and only two miles from the city car line on the Bluffton paved road and at the intersection of the Lower Huntington road. The location cannot be surpassed.

Every person who has seen the soil instantly says that he never saw better quality of sand loam. Farmers who live in the vicinity all say the soil is exceptionally fine.

The nearness of the city gas, paved road, new school, church, interurban (2 stops) close by, graveled streets, the city growing in this direction very rapidly means that values in the near future will be very greatly increased. These advantages alone assures anyone that Liberty Gardens are absolutely safe for an investment as well as a beautiful community to live in.
